Rebuffs Their Lawyer When He Tries to Consult Him About His Defense.

EXPECT FOUR NEW ARRESTS

Other Labor Leaders Implicated in Dynamite Outrages, Assert Los Angeles Authorities—Plan an Early Trial.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 28.—The authorities here to-night hint that one of the most prominent labor leaders on the Pacific coast, another not quite so well known, and two Easterners will be arrested within forty-eight hours in connection with the dynamiting of The Los Angeles Times building in which twenty-one persons were killed on Oct. 1.

For several days now rumor has been connecting the names of a man well known in labor circles here and in San Francisco with the events leading to the destruction of The Times building, but the authorities and the operatives of the Burns detective agency have refused to divulge anything or indeed to mention his name. To-day their attitude changed and they intimated that the reporters gathered here from all sections of the United States might look for developments soon.

Probably the most important development to-day was Ortie McManigle's open repudiation of John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and his brother, James B. McNamara, now in cells here awaiting trial for complicity in the Los Angeles dynamite outrages, and his refusal to consult with the lawyers employed to defend the prisoners.

When Job Harriman of Los Angeles, who has been acting with Judge Hilton of Denver for the accused men, went to see McManigle this morning he cursed the attorney and declared that he did not want a lawyer and would rest his case "in the hands of the District Attorney, who knows all."

This statement swept away the last hope of the labor leaders outside that McManigle's confession was a story manufactured by the newspapers out of whole cloth. Mr. Harriman asserted that, no matter what comes, he will have nothing to do with McManigle's case.

"I will handle no informer's matters for him," he said. "The other attorneys can do what they want."

McManigle's attitude is regarded as positive proof that he intends to turn State's evidence against the McNamaras when the trial is called. Because of this the case is assuming more and more the aspects of the case of Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone at Boise City, with McManigle in the position of Harry Orchard, the chief witness against the men accused of murdering Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho.

Another development to-day was the visit by John H. Baker, a clerk for the Du Pont Powder Company at Giant, Cal., to the jail to see James B. McNamara. It was Baker who sold the dynamite to the three men who are believed to have blown up The Times building and who helped them to carry it to the launch in which it was transported from the Giant works. Baker spent some time in the jail, but whether he saw McNamara and identified him as "J. B. Bryce" none of the detectives or jailers would state.

Prosecutor Fredericks said to-day that he expected to bring the prisoners to trial soon.

Sheriff Hamell warned the reporters to-night to be on their guard.

"I can't tell you boys what is going to break," he said, "or when it will burst, but watch the jail to-night. Things break quick when they begin to go, you know."

Although he was urged to give something more definite, he refused to say another word, other than to confirm the report of McManigle's confession to the District Attorney yesterday. His statement, however, is taken to be a hint that the arrests of other suspects will be made to-night, or that they have already been taken into custody.

District Attorney Fredericks scouts the idea that any trouble will come from the labor mass meeting called for next Monday, and gave out a statement to the public this afternoon, in substance as follows:

"These terrible crimes demonstrate as nothing else can the necessity of strong government, which can only be maintained by a fearless, persistent, and determined enforcement of law.

"With strife between capital and labor, with the public sentiment created by the mistakes or the achievements of either, this office has no concern, but we are determined that, no matter how heated the controversy, it must be carried on within the law.

"We have no quarrel with organized labor. We seek the men who perpetrated this crime. No others will be sought or need fear. The evidence must be conclusive and convincing. It will be laid before a jury. If any organization supports or defends men under these circumstances, then that organization must indorse their acts and abide by the consequences in the great verdict of public sentiment.

"Let organized labor and all others suspend judgment and await a fair trial under American laws, in American courts, before a jury of American citizens.

"My instructions to my assistants when they left for the East to examine the evidence collected in this case there, was to observe strictly the formalities of the law in every act. This appears to have been done in every detail. Requisitions were made and honored by the proper officials at every step.

"The issue is here, not in Indiana. Here we have buried our dead. Here will be held a public trial, on the scene where the crime was committed. Here the law will demonstrate its supremacy in the punishment of the guilty."

The San Francisco Building Trades Council last night pledged itself to raise $100,000 for the defense of John J. McNamara, now in custody at Los Angeles on a charge of murder in connection with the blowing up of The Los Angeles Times Building, "and other union men similarly attacked."

WILL NOT SIGN INDICTMENTS.

Indianapolis Prosecutor Denies Responsibility for Dynamite Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 28.—"No indictments will be returned against anybody in the dynamiting case or in the accompanying kidnapping case, on the evidence already obtained by the Grand Jury, because I will not sign such indictments if they are returned," said Frank P. Baker, Prosecuting Attorney, to-night.

Mr. Baker explained his attitude on the ground that he had not sanctioned any of the work done prior to yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Baker took no personal part in the inquiry before the Grand Jury to-day, but at his request Deputy Prosecutor James E. Deery called Judge James A. Collins,

ROBS ROCKEFELLER'S AGENT.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 28.—Miss Elsie W. Throne, an accountant in the offices of J. G. W. Cowles, personal estate agent for John D. Rockefeller, was held up to-day by a robber, who bound her hand and foot, tied her in a chair with a gag in her mouth, and kept a revolver pointed at her while he rifled the cash drawer of the safe and escaped with $100.

This was at 3 o'clock, on the seventh floor of the Park Building, windows of which overlook the busiest corner of Public Square, where five policemen of the traffic squad stood on duty and where hundreds of persons were passing all the time. At no moment was the hall outside the Cowles offices empty, and more than twenty persons were at work in nearby offices within easy call, while the robber was tying Miss Throne in her chair and rifling the safe.

Miss Throne was at her typewriter, copying papers. As the man entered she recognized him as one who had called earlier as she was leaving for luncheon to inquire for Mr. Cowles.

"Is Mr. Cowles in?" he asked again.

"He has gone for the day," said Miss Throne.

There was a little further conversation, in which the visitor said he was seeking a loan. Then Miss Throne looked up into the muzzle of a revolver in the man's hands.

"Don't scream," he said, "or I'll have to shoot you."

Miss Throne was frightened, but level-headed.

"I won't scream," she said.

Then he compelled her to assist him as he bound and gagged her.

Miss Throne is a graduate of the University of Chicago and was formerly a school teacher.

HOLD A CLUB OVER HARMON.

Garber Democrats in Ohio to Use New Law to Force Him to Come to Terms.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, April 28.—In the passage of the Edwards bill by the Ohio Legislature the enemies of Gov. Judson Harmon within the Democratic Party assert that they have taken the means whereby they can either make him come to terms with them or refuse to give him a solid delegation to the Democratic National Convention for President in 1912. This machine is known in Ohio as the Garber-Hanley-Finley-O'Dwyer faction in the Democratic Party.

The Edwards bill abolishes State boards of review and appoints Deputy State Tax Collectors in each county. Three men are named to form a commission to appoint these officials—the Governor, Secretary of State, and State Auditor Fullington. Secretary of State Graves wants to be Governor and is aligned with the machine. Auditor Fullington is a Republican. Therefore this commission—or, rather, these two Commissioners—may name anybody they choose. It is planned to fill all the offices with men belonging to the Garber faction of the party. Lewis Bernard, former Democratic boss of Hamilton County, will return to power here through his association with the machine.

This new alignment of the party in Ohio expects not only to control the Governor's delegation to the convention, but to be also in power to nominate the man who will run for office to succeed him as Governor.

PUT OFF THE SENATE FLOOR.

Labor Leader Ejected at Springfield, Ill., on Request of Member.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 28.—J. L. Ford of Clinton, Ill., Secretary of the Order of Railway Conductors, was removed from the Senate chamber by the Sergeant-at-Arms on order of Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby to-day. Ford's ejection followed a sensational passage at arms between Senators Walter I. Manny of Mount Sterling and Senator James A. Henson of Decatur.

Senator Manny declared that Ford had sent a large number of untrue letters into his district, stating that Senator Manny was opposing employers' liability legislation.

"Never by any word or act during this session have I opposed such legislation," said Senator Manny.

"I ask the members to refuse this man, who in so treating me has cast a slur upon the whole Senate, the privileges of this floor."

Senator Henson opposed the removal of Ford in a bitter speech, during which he declared that such action would be an open insult to organized labor.

In retaliation for the removal of Ford, Senator Henson demanded that the floor be cleared of all spectators. Within a few moments more than a hundred persons were excluded from seats along the rail. Lieut. Gov. Oglesby then announced that hereafter no spectators would be allowed on the floor of the Senate without the permission of the presiding officer.

COX'S CASE UP TO-DAY.

Cincinnati Boss's Lawyers Will Argue to Quash the Indictment.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, April 28.—The case of the State of Ohio vs. George B. Cox, Republican leader of Hamilton County, charged with perjury, will be resumed to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, according to a statement made this afternoon to Prosecutor Hunt over the long-distance telephone by Judge William L. Dickson, who is at French Lick Springs, Ind.

Attorneys for Cox will argue the motion to quash the indictment. This motion was made a few days ago. Cox's lawyers contend that the case should never be brought to trial. They charge that Judge Gorman and Prosecutor Hunt did not draw the indicting Grand Jury in the correct way.

At the Court House to-day the trial of County Clerk Peter W. Durr, charged with contempt of court, was begun. Durr is said to have taken certain witnesses who were subpoenaed before the last Grand Jury into his office at the Court House and to have instructed them as to how they should answer certain questions which were to be asked of them. Former Court Bailiff William C. Hayden, who was dismissed from office for his actions in conjunction with Durr, was one of the witnesses summoned.

Tory Ousts Liberal in Cheltenham.

LONDON, April 28.—At a bye-election held to-day at Cheltenham for the seat won in the last election by Richard Mathias, (Liberal,) who was unseated for alleged illegal practices on the part of his agents during the campaign, J. T. Agg-Gardner, (Conservative,) was returned by a majority of four. Mr. Agg-Gardner represented the district in 1892 and 1900.

Notice to Readers.

Owing to the largely increased circulation of The Times and the temporary embarrassment due to its having reached the limit of press facilities in its present building, newsdealers outside the City of New York are compelled to limit their supplies of The New York Times to the actual daily sale, as the privilege has been discontinued of returning a limited number of unsold copies. Readers who are served by newsdealers should at once place their order for regular delivery if they wish to be assured of not missing a copy.—Adv.

WORK'S MILLIONS TO GRANDCHILDREN

But Will Directs That Sons of Burke Roche Must Become American Citizens.

ALLOWANCE FOR DAUGHTER

To be Fixed by Executors—Not a Cent for Two Men She Married—Fifteen Codicils Filed.

Frank Work's will was filed for probate yesterday. Rumors of a probable contest of the will were circulated as soon as its provisions became known, but no statement on this point was made with authority. The value of the estate, which is many millions, was not announced. Mrs. Frances Ellen Burke Roche Batonyi receives no definite legacy, but is restricted to such allowance as the executors may make.

It was also reported yesterday that a friendly arrangement would be made under which the will would be ignored, and Mrs. Burke-Roche and her sister, Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, divide the entire estate.

To the will, which was made June 5, 1901, were attached fifteen codicils. A summary of the provisions and the codicils shows these main points:

Maurice Edmund Burke Roche and Frank George Burke Roche, grandsons of the testator and sons of his daughter, Mrs. Frances Ellen Work Burke Roche Batonyi, must become American citizens, take the name of Work, and keep a permanent legal residence in the United States to share in the estate.

Cynthia Burke Roche Burden, daughter of Mrs. Burke Roche Batonyi, is forbidden to marry a foreigner or to visit Great Britain during the life of her father, James Jeffry Burke Roche, under penalty of losing her share in the estate. She has complied with one of the conditions by marrying an American.

In the event that his grandchildren comply with his wishes, the will directs that they shall share equally in the residue of his estate for life, their portions going to their children on their deaths.

The executors of the will are Peter Cooper Hewitt, Francis B. Clark, and Frank Sturgis.

Mrs. Frances Ellen Work Burke Roche Batonyi must depend on the executors for any share in the estate. The will directs that in case she separates from Aurel Batonyi she shall have "suitable provision" made for her by the executors. She has complied with this condition.

Any payments to J. J. Burke Roche and to Aurel Batonyi, the husbands of his daughter, are forbidden by the will, which also prohibits any employment being given to Batonyi.

Mrs. Lucy Cooper Hewitt, daughter of Mr. Work and wife of Peter Cooper Hewitt, is given $80,000 a year and the use of Elm Court, Newport, R. I., for life.

Mr. Work's nieces, Ellen and Mary Merrick, each receive $1,300 a year for life and the joint use of the premises on Jefferson Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

James Henry Work, nephew of the testator, receives $1,000 a year for life.

The following bequests are made to servants: Catherine Walsh, $1,000; Michael Murphy, $1,000; William Hunt, $1,000 for "faithful services to my son George in his last illness"; Stephen Davenport, $500, and Mary Donohue, $500.

Mr. Work's favorite horse, Edward, the will directs, shall be "suitably cared for during his life and not worked."

The will and its various codicils trace the matrimonial history of Mrs. Frances Ellen Work Burke Roche Batonyi. The will gave her $70,000 a year if she should have nothing further to do with Burke Roche. The fifth codicil forbade her to patronize the horse show. The sixth codicil cut her income to $12,000 a year in case she should have anything further to do with Burke Roche. The tenth codicil increased her allowance to $80,000 a year. The twelfth codicil provided that should she marry Batonyi she should forfeit all interest in his estate, and the thirteenth codicil made after her marriage to Batonyi revoked all her interest in his property after his death. The fourteenth codicil made the provision that in case she should separate from Batonyi, as she has done, some allowance should be made her.

As a condition of the bequests to Mrs. Burke Roche, which were later revoked in the thirteenth codicil, the will provided that she should not "in any manner contribute to the living expenses of James J. Burke Roche, or make or cause any payments of money to him or for his benefit directly or indirectly," and that her children should not "in the lifetime of said Burke Roche reside in or visit the Kingdom of Great Britain or Ireland or any part thereof, and shall not live with or under the control as to their persons or property of said Burke Roche." The executors were required to protect his grandchildren from their father's influence. Mr. Work further declared:

"It is not my intention that said Burke Roche shall in any contingency secure any portion of or interest in my estate, and all provisions of my will shall read as though he were expressly excepted from a share therein by representation or otherwise. I make these provisions in the interest of and for the protection of my daughter Frances Ellen and her children, and in consequence of the conviction at which I have arrived that he is not worthy of confidence and not a fit man to care for the interests of my daughter and grandchildren, and that life with him or under his control is not calculated to promote their happiness."

The second codicil of the will forbids the marriage of his granddaughter Cynthia, who married Arthur Scott Burden, to a foreigner, in these words:

"I hereby expressly will and provide that in the event of said Cynthia's contracting a marriage with any foreigner or any one not a citizen of the United States that thereupon all her interest in my estate shall cease, and the property which otherwise would have been held in trust for her and such interest in my estate as otherwise might have vested in her shall be divided among and go to my children or such of them as shall have observed and complied with the conditions imposed in my will."

The fifth codicil of the will "earnestly desires and requests that Frances Ellen Burke Roche shall cease to exhibit horses or other animals in public shows or exhibitions or to train or prepare such animals for such purposes" and provides that she "must not marry or have dealings with any one interested in inducing her to make or prepare such exhibitions."

"Aurel Batonyi," the eighth codicil provides, "shall not be employed as Superintendent or in any other way be connected with or domiciled at my Newport property. If my daughter, Frances Ellen, shall at any time fail fully to comply with my wishes as expressed in the fifth codicil, and in particular if my daughter shall have any dealings, transactions, or relations in business or by contract of marriage or otherwise with Aurel Batonyi her entire interest in my estate shall be reduced to $12,000 a year."

The provisions of the eleventh codicil prohibiting his daughter and grandchildren from visiting England and Ireland are thus explained by Mr. Work:

"I made these provisions for the protection of my daughter and grandchildren in the belief that they can find enough to interest, instruct, and amuse them and all the varieties of climate at any time necessary or desirable for purposes of health in the United States."

The twelfth codicil provided "That my daughter Frances Ellen shall have no dealing or connection of any kind with Aurel Batonyi, and in the event she shall marry said Batonyi, she shall forfeit all interest of every kind in my estate."

The thirteenth codicil, immediately following her marriage to Batonyi, reads: "I hereby revoke all provisions in my will conferring any interest in my property on my daughter, Frances Ellen."

The fourteenth codicil adds: "I direct that my executors shall at all times keep a careful watch over my daughter, Frances Ellen, and should she separate from Mr. Batonyi and be in need, I authorize and empower and direct them to make suitable provision for her support and to set aside a sum sufficient in their judgment for that purpose."

MRS. DE FESTETICS ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Arrested Here on New Jersey Charge Made by Her Husband, Cousin of Count de Festetics.

SHE'S A SCIENCE HEALER

Trouble Started Over Her Refusal to Call Physicians for Sick Son—Father Kidnapped Him.

All yesterday afternoon a grocery boy tried to deliver a package of groceries marked "rush" to the apartment of Mrs. Elsie H. de Festetics, wife of Gyula de Festetics, at 214 West Eighty-second Street, but no one answered the bell. In vain he appealed to the janitress who could only venture the conviction that something must be wrong, because she never knew both Mrs. de Festetics and her twenty-eight-year-old daughter Elsie to be out of the house at the same time.

It was not until night, however, that the janitress and the curious neighbors found out that the elder woman had been quietly whisked away by detectives, and that the daughter had accompanied her to Police Headquarters. Then questions of information were hurled from every window and doorway.

"Did they arrest her for practicing Christian Science?" most of them wanted to know. "Was it about that kidnapped son of her's who died last year?" asked others.

The arrest happened about noon. Detectives Frank Bennett of Jersey City and Frank Allen of the New York Detective Bureau were admitted to the apartment of the Christian Science practitioner, representing themselves as agents of a title guarantee company. According to Allen Mrs. de Festetics was giving treatment to a woman patient for eye trouble at the time. Bennet had a warrant, issued on April 25 by Judge Robert Carey of the Court of Sessions, Jersey City, charging Mrs. de Festetics with perjury. She telephoned to her attorney, John H. Tillison of 1 Madison Avenue, who is also active in the Christian Science Church, and who persuaded her to accompany the detectives to Police Headquarters.

The prisoner was arraigned in the Tombs Court and held without bail as a fugitive, from justice. From there she was taken before Justice Davis in the Supreme Court, who fixed bail at $2,500 to await the arrival of extradition papers from the Governor of New Jersey. Late in the afternoon bail was furnished.

The perjury charge is based on an affidavit made by Mrs. de Festetics in the Court of Chancery in New Jersey, having to do with the intended removal of the body of her son Arthur from a receiving vault in Hillside Cemetery, Plainfield, N. J., to Rye, N. Y. In this affidavit, it is alleged, Mrs. de Festetics said that the charge of kidnapping his own son, which she preferred against de Festetics about four years ago, had been dismissed by a Magistrate, when, as a matter of fact, it is alleged the case had already been entered in the Supreme Court of New Jersey. The husband is the complainant in the perjury charge. He was arrested three times on her charges, once for kidnapping the son, once for assault, and once for non-support.

The marital troubles of the de Festetics began when the son was 10 years old. He became very ill about that time, and the mother, according to the charges of the father, would not call physicians, but practiced Christian Science for the boy's cure instead. He took his child away to Kingston, N. Y., and later to Perth Amboy, N. J. The court ordered the return of the child, but the father refused to comply, and since that time has not set foot in New York State. He is at present engaged in the manufacture of art objects in Plainfield, N. J. He is a cousin of the Count Rudolphe Festetics de Toine of Austria, and is sometimes called Count himself.

Eugene Coxe of the Committee on Publication, when asked concerning Mrs. de Festetics, said that her name did not appear in the list of authorized Christian Science practitioners published in The Christian Science Journal.

A TARIFF PLEA IN VERSE.

Far's Near, Black's White, Cheap's Dear as McKinlay Made It Known.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Representative Kent of California, an insurgent Republican, who succeeded Duncan McKinlay, a standpatter, in the House, made a hit in the House to-day with a speech on the general tariff question, arraigning "a revenue tariff upon necessities" in the debate on the farmers free list bill.

"I am a Republican, or what used to be a Republican," Mr. Kent observed, "because I believe in the protection of infant industries that stand some chance of becoming self-sustaining. But many industries, having outgrown the cradle, have not been required to hustle for their livelihood, but have been carried bodily to a ward in the hospital where our standpat friends advocate keeping them during all eternity, to be doctored, nursed, and nourished at the public expense."

Mr. Kent read a "poem produced by a laureate of my district," concerning the tariff speeches of Mr. Kent's opponent at the primaries. It ran:

Duncan makes it clear to me
That what I lose I gain, you see;
And on such things as clothes and shoes
I seem to gain but really lose.
Thus if I buy my socks too low,
They'll still be higher—he says so—
And shoes I though were high last Fall
Were really low shoes after all.
If I pay less for shoes
Or hats, the maker has to lose.
And if he loses, then you see,
He charges up the loss to me.
Now, when I have to pay him more,
He reckons profits to his store,
And Duncan finds a share for me
In all of this prosperity.
The speeches shed a radiant light
Upon the theme and make it bright;
I merely read them o'er and o'er
To find more's less and less is more.
In buying a hat or coat or vest,
Dear's cheap, and cheap is dear at best.
High's low, low's high, far's near, near's far,
White's black, black's white—and there you are.

Mr. Kent said that a protective tariff was an attempt to "tax ourselves rich."

WOMAN MURDERED IN LAKEWOOD WOODS

FOUND BY HER NEPHEW

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 28.—Lying face down on the ground, with her head smashed in, apparently by a heavy club, Mrs. Charles N. Turner, a highly respected and well-known resident of Lakewood, was found shortly after noon to-day by her nephew, Arnold Turner, who was riding by on horseback. One suspect was arrested and let go because the authorities were satisfied of his innocence, and to-night they are looking for another man, whom they believe they can connect with the murder.

Mrs. Turner disappeared Wednesday afternoon, but it was not until this morning that the authorities were notified, and within three or four hours after the body was found. Mrs. Turner had left home to deliver sewing which she had been doing. One woman says that she saw Mrs. Turner about 3 o'clock Monday walking toward her home in company of another woman, whom she did not know. The body was found off the beaten track. The club with which the deed is supposed to have been committed was found about fifteen feet from the body. The hat was still on the woman's head.

Prosecutor T. J. R. Brown was on the spot within a very few minutes after young Turner had found his aunt, arriving at the same moment as Coroner E. J. Westhall. The Coroner's examination showed that there was an open wound in the back of the head, and at the upper end of the left ear a scalp wound two inches deep, exposing the bone. Mrs. Turner also had been struck a blow in the face which had flattened her nose. The whole frontal region of the skull was fractured. Her necktie had been torn off and her waist torn from the neck band to the waistline and the corset cover ripped. There was no evidence of an assault.

Prosecutor Brown learned from Mr. Turner that, though his wife left home on Wednesday, nothing was thought of her prolonged absence, as she often went into town to visit her sister, Mrs. Earl Vincent.

The Turners have three children, and after their father had gone to work yesterday morning they became anxious and went next door to the home of Lincoln Turner, his brother, and told him that they could not understand why their mother did not come home. He went to Georgian Court, where the husband of the murdered woman worked, and they both started a search, which did not end until midnight last night. This morning the help of the authorities was asked, and at noon the body was found by her nephew.

After getting these facts, Brown started out in his automobile. He got a description of a colored man, who is well known here and who was said to have stopped near the scene of the crime shortly after Mrs. Turner had passed there in the afternoon. After getting a drink of water, the colored man took the same path Mrs. Turner had taken.

Soon after the body had been found this man was seen at the station platform with a dress-suit case in hand. He started up the tracks toward Farmingdale, eight miles away, and the Prosecutor went after him. Constable William T. Mason telephoned to John Ackerman, the local Marshal, to be on the lookout, and Ackerman picked up a colored man who somewhat answered the description.

In the meantime Under Sheriff A. W. Brown had arrived from Toms River in his automobile, and, taking Constable Richard Riley with him, started for Farmingdale, where they picked up the suspect, who gave the name of Jesse Flower and insisted that he was not the man wanted. He was brought back to Lakewood, and quickly proved that he had not been here Wednesday and was let go.

Mrs. Turner was about 40, and had a large number of friends in town. She was a daughter of the late William Parmentier, one of the pioneer residents, and a sister of Charles J. Parmentier, Treasurer of the Lakewood Trust Company. Her home life was declared by all to-day to have been happy, and no one can suggest any reason for the murder.

What the authorities and her family cannot understand is why she was so deep into the woods that she could not be found without a search. The Coroner's jury adjourned for a week without throwing any light on the tragedy.

WILSON IN A POLICE PATROL.

Takes a Ride in Baltimore as the Guest of Capt. Cole.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson had his first ride in a police automobile patrol to-day as the guest of Capt. Cole of the Southern Police District.

"It's not so bad," said the Governor, "but I reckon I would feel different about it were I a prisoner."

The news that Gov. Wilson was in town spread rapidly. He was on his way to Norfolk to deliver an address to-morrow before the Pewter and Platter Club. It was while waiting for the steamer Baltimore to sail that Capt. Cole picked up the Governor. The Captain thanked Gov. Wilson for the appointment of his nephew, Clarence Cole, formerly of Baltimore, as a Judge at Atlantic City. Many citizens saluted the Governor from the sidewalk.

In answer to the rapid fire questions of reporters Gov. Wilson said he found the Governorship of New Jersey more interesting than the Presidency of Princeton, but he evaded a direct answer when asked if he was a candidate for President, declaring that he had enough on hand just now as Governor. He said he would start next week for the Pacific Coast, and that he might meet W. J. Bryan in the West, though he had no engagement with him.

CRITICISES MONROE DOCTRINE

Temps Editor Says It Fails as a Basis of Pan-Americanism.

PARIS, April 28.—Under the auspices of the Franco-American Committee, André Tardieu, foreign editor of the Temps, lectured to-night on the Monroe Doctrine and Pan-Americanism at the School of Political Sciences. His auditors were diplomats, men in politics, and persons distinguished in other walks of life.

M. Tardieu cited messages of President Roosevelt to show that the Monroe doctrine had not entered into the domain of international law. He embraced the history of the doctrine, to show how, from the ideal of a few, it had become a National principle, and examined the question of Pan-Americanism, saying that the Monroe doctrine, as the basis of Pan-Americanism, had not fulfilled its expectations.

CANTON REBELS HARD HIT.

Suffered 300 Casualties in Battle with Troops—Situation in Hand.

HONGKONG, China, April 28.—The first steamer to arrive from the scene of the revolutionary rioting at Canton last night brought 100 refugees, mostly women, here this evening.

These witnesses say that the fighting was severe while it lasted, and that over 300 casualties were reported among the revolutionaries after their battle with the troops.

The latter finally got control of the situation, and measures to prevent another outbreak were taken.

WELLS FARGO SURPLUS.

Has $3,600,00 Cash After Paying One Dividend of 310 Per Cent.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 28.—In evidence before the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission at the express rate hearing at the Capitol to-day it was shown that the Wells Fargo Express Company, after increasing its stock from $5,000,000 to $24,000,000 and paying large dividends, had a cash surplus of $3,600,000.

For sixteen years dividends of 10 per cent. annually were paid on $8,000,000. In 1909, with an enormous surplus in its treasury, a dividend of 310 per cent. was declared, according to the evidence, 100 per cent. payable in cash to stockholders.

HOLD PAIR AS AUTO THIEVES.

Young New Yorker and a Long Branch Man Were Too Anxious to Sell a Car.

While trying to sell an automobile in Tompkinsville, S. I., William Campbell, 18 years old, of Long Branch, and Joseph Barry, 26 years old, of 118 East Ninety-ninth Street, Manhattan, were arrested last night. The machine, a touring car, was worth $1,500, and as they were willing to sell it for $400 the suspicions of a garage proprietor were aroused and he notified the police.

Soon after the arrest a Police Captain from Long Branch reached Staten Island and said he had followed the young men from that place and had a warrant for their arrest. He said that the automobile had been stolen from Dr. Francisco Felice of Long Branch on Thursday night. He said Campbell was the son of a hotel proprietor at Long Branch.

NEW NAVAL ACADEMY HEAD.

Capt. Gibbons to Succeed Capt. Bowyer, Who Sought a Transfer.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Capt. John H. Gibbons to-day was chosen as Superintendent of the United States Naval Academy to succeed Capt. John M. Bowyer on May 15, when the latter will voluntarily relinquish the post on account of ill-health. He probably will be assigned to less arduous duties.

Secretary Meyer to-day received Capt. Bowyer's application for relief, and immediately took up the question with the President, who confirmed the Secretary's choice of Capt. Gibbons. In announcing the change the department declared that it was due entirely to the state of Capt. Bowyer's health, and had no relation whatever to the recent Miss Beers incident.

Capt. Gibbons is a native of Michigan, and for several months has been a member of the Naval General Board. His last command was the cruiser Charleston. Previous to that duty he was Naval Attaché at London.

BANKERS FIGHT ARREST.

Habeas Corpus for Chicago Men Involved in Lorimer Bribery.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Judge Petit, in the Superior Court to-day, granted a writ of habeas corpus for Edward Tilden, George M. Benedict, and W. C. Cummings within a half hour after they had been arrested by E. H. Hatfield, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the Illinois Senate.

Judge Petit set Monday at 11 A. M. for the hearing and fixed the bonds of the three defendants at $5,000 each.

Hatfield made no attempt to arrest the three bankers last night and they surrendered early to-day, and accompanied by their counsel, Nathaniel C. Sears, repaired to the court room, where the writ was issued.

The subpoenas were attacked on the grounds that they were not supported by an oath or affirmation; that they did not describe particularly the books showing the receipts and disbursements of money during May, June, July, August, and September; that the Helm committee had no power to investigate the conduct of any members of the present General Assembly, and that the subpoenas were not signed by the President of the Senate.

HELD AS CAMORRISTS.

Federal Authorities Waylay Quartet Arriving at New Orleans from Italy.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 28.—Two men, Castilla Badissort, and "Giuseppe," with two women, who say they are their sisters, were submitted to a vigorous police questioning aboard the steamship Liguria to-day without aiding the Federal immigration authorities in strengthening their suspicion that they are Camorrists fleeing from Italy owing to the Viterbo trial. They were arrested through anonymous letters, received a week ago by the detectives.

The letters gave warning that a quartet, two men and two women, dressed exactly alike, would arrive on the Liguria, with 507 other Italian immigrants. They differ from other immigrants in that they all wear good clothes and seem of superior intelligence. One man is sixty, the other about thirty.

VOTE BRIBE IN TENNESSEE.

Legislator Says He Was Offered $1,500 to Vote the Regular Ticket.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 28.—Tennessee's legislative deadlock received a jolt to-day when a dispatch from Birmingham was published here to the effect that a bribe fund of $1,500 had been offered to Representative J. Q. McDonald of Overton County by Judge E. C. Goodpasture of Livingstone, providing Mr. McDonald agreed to bind himself to vote with the so-called "regular" Democrats on all questions coming before the Legislature.

This alleged agreement, in writing, which Mr. McDonald says he holds, was made on Dec. 31 of last year, and he explains that he withheld it for fraternal and political reasons.

In a statement at Birmingham this afternoon Mr. McDonald, one of the "insurgent" legislators, who quit Tennessee to hold up further legislation, verifies the published statement that a bribe was offered to him providing he voted with the "regular" Democrats in the Legislature who were defeated in the late Gubernatorial contest by a fusion of insurgent Democrats and Republicans.

When Goodpasture was shown McDonald's statement he denied that McDonald held a written proposal. He admitted that there had been a typewritten statement which pledged McDonald to vote for the repeal of the election law and a State liquor law, but Judge Goodpasture says McDonald did not sign it, and Goodpasture further asserts there was no pecuniary consideration involved.

RUSHES TO BIG FIRE IN A SPECIAL TRAIN

John Arbuckle, at Lakewood, Hears That His Brooklyn Refinery Is Burning.

FINDS $500,000 DAMAGE DONE

Hundred Workmen All Escape—Explosion of Sugar Dust Starts Blaze That Illuminates East River.

John Arbuckle, head of the firm of Arbuckle Brothers, watched the polo tournament at Lakewood, N. J., yesterday and had returned to his hotel there last evening when he received word over the long-distance telephone that his refinery at John and Jay Streets, Brooklyn, was afire. The last night train had already left Lakewood, and Mr. Arbuckle telephoned the Central Railroad of New Jersey for a special to rush him to New York.

As Lakewood is not on the main line, the officials found difficulty in locating a fast engine to haul Mr. Arbuckle. The best they could do at last was to telegraph to Red Bank, where No. 523, an old switching locomotive, was puffing to and fro, and send this to the impatient sugar refiner. To the engine was hitched a single day coach and tender. Engineer Thomas Manyeh sent the old switch engine along at a good pace, and got to Lakewood a little after 10 o'clock. From there to Jersey City good time was made, and the Cummunipaw station was reached in 1 hour and 13 minutes. The distance is sixty-three miles.

The fire had made faster progress, however, for long before Mr. Arbuckle reached Communipaw, the old refinery building had been completely destroyed, with a loss of $500,000. The building and contents were insured for $1,000,000.

Mr. Arbuckle, on alighting, ran past the engineer, shook hands with him and slipped into his hand a bill which, judged by the expansive grin that spread over the engineer's face, was of large denomination. Then turning to a TIMES reporter, who stood waiting at the trainshed, his first question was:

"Were any lives lost?"

He was told that there had been a rumor that 100 lives were lost, but that this had since been denied.

"Thank God!" exclaimed Mr. Arbuckle.

Then he rushed toward the station. Before he got there he was met by an elderly man in a raincoat and slouch hat. The newcomer hurried him over to the ferry slip, where the 11:18 boat had been held nearly two minutes waiting for him.

On the ferryboat Mr. Arbuckle inquired how much damage the fire had done. He was told that the old plant had been completely destroyed.

"That is awful, awful!" he muttered.

He seemed relieved that the fire had been kept from spreading to the new plant, however. When questioned as to how great the loss would probably be he said he could not estimate that at the time, and would not try to. He said also that he could not tell what was stored in the building.

Mr. Arbuckle and his friend hurried from the ferryboat as soon as it reached New York to a waiting taxicab, in which they drove off to Brooklyn.

Dust Explosion Starts Fire.

The fire, which was preceded by an explosion that shook buildings along the waterfront on both sides of the East River, started in the dust room of the refinery. This room is an extension built out of the ninth floor on the waterfront side of the refinery. It rests on top of the refinery's six-story charhouse, and adjoins the refinery drying room. In the drying room the refined sugar is placed in a series of revolving drums, where the finished granulated sugar is separated from the useless dust. The dust is drawn by air currents into the various bins of the dust room.

This dust, according to the statements of officials of the refinery to Police Capt. Carey of the Fulton Street Station last night, is highly inflammable and is peculiarly susceptible to spontaneous combustion. The dust room was built on the water-front side of the refinery, so that, in case of an explosion, the flame could shoot harmlessly out over the river.

It was the sugar dust which exploded at 7:30 last night, with a force which made persons in the neighborhood think that the big refinery, which has gone through more than one strike in the past, had been dynamited. The 100 men of the night shift, mostly Hungarians and Poles, had come on at 6 o'clock in charge of Assistant Night Supt. Euler, and were distributed all over the building emptying and filling the electrically heated vats. Peter Bergdall of 2,741 Jefferson Avenue, assistant foreman on the third floor in charge of the packing, was directing the work of thirty men there when the explosion occurred. Bergdall said afterward that he thought the building had been dynamited.

Bergdall guided his men, none of whom can speak much English, and who were thrown into a panic by the explosion, to the stairs and all got out safely. Tony Chess, another foreman, was on the seventh floor among the electric vats when the explosion occurred. He said he and the other men on that floor escaped by the stairway on the Pearl Street side.

Twelve Hungarian laborers were emptying and filling the big electric drums on the ninth floor. The flames from the dust room blew right back into the drying room. The twelve men could not wait for the coming of the elevators, of which there are two in the building. There is a bridge, however, connecting the upper floors of the building with the melting plant on the other side of Pearl Street. The twelve frightened Hungarians dashed across this and made their escape.

Fourth Alarm Quickly Turned In.

The heat of the fire on the ninth floor was so great that it set off the automatic alarm in a few seconds. But even before the automatic alarm went off Patrolman Clade of the Fulton Street Police Station had heard the explosion in the street and had run into the office of the refinery and pulled the special box there. Edward Scott, who was in the office on the John Street side of the building, heard the explosion and immediately set to work carrying out the account books and ledgers.

The explosion was also heard by Lieut. John Conway of Company 108, in Water Street, a few blocks away. When Conway and his men arrived, not two minutes after the explosion, the fire had spread from the dust room and had turned the eighth, ninth, and tenth floors of the refinery into a raging furnace. Battalion Chief Kirk arrived two minutes later. Kirk took one look at the smoke and flames coming from the three upper floors, and then turned in a fourth alarm without even going through the formality of turning in a second and third.

This alarm brought fifteen pieces of apparatus and two fireboats, and these spent the next two hours trying to drown out the fire. The fire was so high up that even the tall water towers could hardly reach it. There is a high-pressure main at John and Jay Streets. Hose was coupled to this, and then drawn to the upper floors of the new refinery which the company has just built, but not yet opened, on the east side of John Street, oposite the old refinery. The firemen poured water into the burning building in this way by tons. Yet, when the fire would be temporarily extinguished in one place it would start up again in another.

The burning factory is diagonally opposite from the E. W. Bliss torpedo works, and it was feared at one time that powder might be stored in the latter building and that the fire might spread to it. Only the castings of the torpedoes, it was afterward learned, are made in the Bliss Company's John and Pearl Street works.

John Deary, night watchman at the Pearl Street gate of the refinery, created a lot of excitement during the fire by saying that he believed that one of the laborers, at least, had not succeeded in getting out of the burning building. The building could not be entered by searching parties of police and firemen until nearly midnight. After they had gone all through the building Chief Lally said he was sure that all the 100 laborers had escaped.

One fireman, August Rolf of Truck 60, while walking in the darkness along John Street between the old building and the new refinery was unable to see his way in the darkness and pitched forward into a four-foot-deep pocket used for loading railroad cars. He was found lying in the pocket by other firemen, and was taken to the Brooklyn Hospital in an ambulance. He was badly bruised and one of his ribs was broken.

Deputy Fire Commissioner O'Keeffe and Manager Gilmour of the Arbuckle Sugar Refining Company were early on the scene. Manager Gilmour said he believed that the damage was $500,000 to the building and contents and that these were covered by $1,000,000 insurance.

The flames could be seen all along the East River. The refinery is situated on the block bounded by Jay, John, and Pearl Strets and the East River. It is within a biscuit's throw of the Manhattan Bridge and plainly visible from the Brooklyn and Williamsburg Bridges. Twenty thousand persons paused on the three bridges to watch the flames during the two hours before the fire was controlled.

The refinery which was destroyed last night was built in 1898. This is not the first serious loss which the Arbuckle Company has had by fire in recent years. On Christmas morning, 1902, three firemen were killed and two were injured by the fall of a wall during a fire in the cooperage of the company's refinery. The fire extended from 206 to 216 Plymouth Street. The victims were all members of Water Tower 1. The damage at that time was estimated at $500,000.

FIRES NEAR LAKE MOHONK.

Girl on Horseback Rides Through the Night Warning Settlers.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 28.—Fanned by a breeze from the southeast a forest fire swept over the foothills of the lower Catskills ranges toward Lake Mohonk to-night, and thousands of dollars' worth of property has been destroyed. There is fear that unless the army of fighters is able to head off the flames or a rain comes the settlement of Lake Mohonk will be destroyed.

The fire started last night in the woods between Highland and New Paltz from a spark of a locomotive on the Central New England Railroad. Before 9 o'clock there was a fierce fire sweeping up the valley, and scores of families remained out all night to guard against the flames.

The family of Wilber Stark, living on a cross road near Lloyd, was saved by a girl, who rode up on a saddle horse at midnight and awoke the household. The flames had nearly reached the Stark home. The family packed up their personal belongings, and made their way out of the path of the fire. The flames were so close to the house that there was no time to fight it. The girl on horseback, without telling her name, rode on to alarm others in the district.

Hundreds of men fought the flames all night, and this morning their places were taken by recruits from more distant points. To-day the woodsmen and farmers have made a desperate battle against the flames, but the thick carpet of pine needles which covers the ground holds fire, and even after the fighters have passed on the flames break out anew and burn as fiercely as before.

A great stretch of pine trees extends up the hillsides to the mountains adjacent to the exclusive settlement at Lake Mohonk, and there is fear to-night that the flames will be carried in that direction. Should the fire get into the woods on the mountain side near Lake Mohonk it would be almost impossible to save that resort.

BAD FIRES IN DRY MAINE.

Mills and Many Houses and Other Buildings Are Destroyed.

PORTLAND, Me., April 28.—Losses aggregating $250,000 resulted from three fires in different parts of the State to-day. At Fairfield, in Kennebec County, the Hume & Newhall sawm s, valued at $150,000, were destroyed. At Harrington, on the Washington County Railroad, twenty-one buildings, including twelve buildings, a church, two schools, the Town Hall, and Grange Hall, and other buildings, went up in flames. The loss is estimated at $80,000. At Livermore Falls, in Androscoggin County, eighteen families were made homeless by a fire which burned eight houses and damaged three others. The loss was $22,000.

The State has been without rain for two weeks, and in consequence the fires spread with great rapidity. A grass fire set by children is thought to have started the Harrington fire.

FOREST FIRES CHECKED.

Danger at North Adams Has Passed, but Force Patrols the Woods.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., April 28.—After burning over ten square miles of woodland the fires which started in Williamstown three days ago, and seemed to threaten this city for a time, are believed to be under control. Back fires, trenches, and other expedients known to forest fire-fighters were tried during the day, and at night the farmers, many of whom had been without sleep for twenty-four hours, found themselves slowly but surely getting the mastery of the situation.

This evening the fire was still burning, but had ceased to spread, and unless the wind increases it is believed there will be no further danger. To prevent another outbreak a force of men will patrol the woods through the night.

INVENTIVE CONVICT MISSING.

H. S. Bretton's Friends Deny, However, He Has Fled with a Young Girl.

Harry S. Bretton, now known as Dr. Matthews, airship inventor, who is out on $5,000 bail pending an appeal from a life sentence as an habitual criminal, disposed of his interest in the American Safety Aerocar Company in Richmond Hill, L. I., and about four weeks ago left on a trip through the West. Since he left nothing has been heard from him, and a report has gained credence that he went away with a young girl of Richmond Hill. This story is denied, however, by Bretton's friends, who say it grew out of his interest in a daughter of an old friend.

The girl's name is not given, but years ago they say Bretton was in business with her father in Chicago, and since turning airship inventor he hunted up his old-time friend. Then he learned the friend had a daughter in Phoenix, Ariz. He sent for the young woman, but she arrived too late to see Bretton, who had, his friends said, started West.

It is said that Bretton had no reason for going away save that he was depressed over the publication of his record.

Bretton's machine is a biplane and weighs about 1,900 pounds. It will carry a 1,000-pound motor. When completed the machine will cost about $12,000.

HAD SMUGGLED COCAINE.

Dr. Minden's Arrest Follows the Conviction of American Line Officer.

Dr. Simeon B. Minden of 230 East Sixty-ninth Street was arrested in the Federal Building yesterday, charged with having received and concealed 250 ounces of smuggled cocaine. Judge Hazel admitted him to $5,000 bail on a plea of not guilty.

The arrest followed the conviction of William Rind, first officer of the American liner St. Paul, who was sent a few weeks ago to Blackwell's Island for one year. Rind was convicted of smuggling, and among other stuff he brought here was cocaine. His confession to Assistant United States District Attorney Whitney led to the indictment of Dr. Minden.

SPANIARDS IN MEXICO APPEAL TO ALFONSO

Government Cannot Protect Them or Even See to Burial of Six Slain Countrymen.

MAZATLAN'S PERIL GREAT

Pacific Port Is Likely to Fall Soon—Madero Sends Some of His Conditions of Peace.

By STEPHEN BONSAL.

Special Correspondent of The New York Times

Special to The New York Times.

MEXICO CITY, April 28.—There has been no news to-day from the States of Guerrero or Morales—of the serious conditions of which I wrote yesterday—except that the 500 Federal reinforcements which left here yesterday have not been able to reach the besieged town of Iguala, in Guerrero, near the border of Morales.

Around the Pacific port of Mazatlan the revolutionists are pushing the fighting, and it is feared that this valuable strategic point will fall into their hands within a few hours.

Great indignation prevails throughout the Spanish colonies, which are more numerous than those of the Americans, owing to the inability of the Government to afford them protection or even to redress the deaths of the six Spanish ranch foremen who were murdered last Monday at Hacienda Atencingo, in the State of Puebla. The bodies are still unburied, or were yesterday afternoon, and the nearest Federal authorities have been unable to furnish a suitable escort to the representatives of the Spanish societies who have arrived at the nearest town for the purpose of giving to their unfortunate countrymen a Christian burial.

While more than forty Americans have been killed or seriously wounded since the outbreak of the revolutionary disorders, the outrages which have been inflicted upon Spanish subjects are still more numerous. Redress and protection not coming from appeals made through the regular diplomatic channels, a petition to the Government at Madrid is being circulated in the Spanish colony. I understand that 20,000 signatures have already been obtained, and that to-morrow—setting forth the deplorable situation in which his subjects find themselves—the petition will be cabled to King Alfonso.

The official newspapers admit to-day that the revolutionists, or bandits, have taken possession of Lerdo, in the State of Durango, Taxco in the State of Guerrero, and are overrunning the great tobacco country of San Andres Tuxtla, in Vera Cruz. On the other hand, Federal reinforcements are nearing Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Texas, and hope to relieve it to-morrow.

People Flee to the Mountains.

I have just had a very illuminating conversation with an Englishman who has spent thirty years in this country as a manager of large estates.

"I had to come to the capital," he said, "because all our working people have deserted us. We have thousands of acres of land just ready to be planted in corn, and not a single peon is forthcoming to do the work. Our own people have gone, and the adjacent town, from which we draw our extra labor at harvest and planting time, though a town of 4,000 inhabitants, is absolutely deserted, except by a dozen who are bedridden and two unfortunate women.

"I rode through there yesterday, so I am only telling you what I have seen with my own eyes. All these people have taken refuge in the mountain fastnesses, twenty-five miles from their former homes. What they are now planning or concocting I am sure I do not know. I think, however, that the Jefe Politico and all his hangers on and so-called secretaries made a wise move when they fled from the district and disappeared, no one knows where.

Not Part of Madero's Revolt.

"Ours is in the inland country. Our people have few arms, and they will have extreme difficulty in getting more. In my opinion, however, they are determined not to submit to the old form of official exploitation without a desperate struggle.

"They know nothing about the revolution in its general terms. They have not heard of Madero, but they know that the government which has wronged them so long is weakened, and they have seized the opportunity to make better terms for themselves.

"I have reason to believe that a very similar state of affairs prevails in a score of other rural districts, where even the forms of government have disappeared."

The negotiations of the Government with Gen. Madero are proceeding more slowly than Foreign Minister de la Barra seemed to believe they would when he made his speech to the representatives of the Mexican press on Wednesday. However, I understand on high authority that the Government has received the following demands from Madero:

First—No official of the actual administration will be permitted to present himself for re-election.

Second—The Government agrees to take up all the promissory notes and promises to repay those issued by the revolutionary authorities since the beginning of the rebellion.

Third—All wounded insurgents will be pensioned on the same scale as the Federal troops, and those who were dependent on the insurgents who have been killed will be taken care of by the government in the same way and on the same scale as those dependent upon the Federal soldiers who have fallen.

Fourth—The soldiers of the revolution are to be allowed to return unmolested to their homes with the arms and the property in their possession.

HARD FIGHTING AT MAZATLAN.

More Than a Hundred Wounded Federals Brought in After Battle.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 28.—Reports that a large force of Mexican insurgents surrounded the port of Mazatlan, in the State of Sinaloa, and that the water supply of the city had been cut, were confirmed here to-day.

Railroad communication with the beleagered city has been suspended because of the dynamiting of bridges and the holding up of trains. The Southern Pacific lines of Mexico running south from Nogales through Hermosillo to Mazatlan, are cut far to the north of the latter port. Communication to the southward also is severed. Wire communication has been interrupted and no avenue of news is open.

No definite word has been received since the first battle between the opposing rebels and the Federals was fought just outside of Mazatlan, a few days ago. At that time more than a hundred wounded, all Federals, were taken into Mazatlan.

A well-authenticated report has been received here that the rebels have captured the important railroad junction city of San Blas, on the Southern Pacific-Mexico line in Sinaloa. San Blas is about fifty miles below Fuerte, the former capital of Sinaloa, reported yesterday to have been taken by the rebels. The whole region appears to be overrun by insurrectos.

Fighting between rebels and Federals has been resumed in the vicinity of Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, and, according to mail advices, forty men were killed or wounded in a battle at Horicasila on April 25. Two hundred and twenty-five Federals engaged a smaller number of rebels, and the latter withdrew when their ammunition was exhausted. Horicasilas is a town between Ures, where the revolutionary fight occurred a month ago, and Hermosillo.

DIAZ NAMES PEACE ENVOY.

Supreme Court Judge Carbajal Will Treat with Madero's Commissioner.

EL PASO, Texas, April 28.—The choice of a spot near El Paso as the place for holding the formal peace conference and the naming of Judge Francisco Carbajal of the Mexican Supreme Court as the Federal Commissioner, were developments in the peace situation to-day.

Judge Carbajal is known to Madero by reputation only, but his appointment is satisfactory. He is a jurist of the highest attainments, and about 45 years old. Gen. Madero may appoint more than one Commissioner. It is regarded as certain that Dr. Vasquez Gomez will be named.

TALK OF A SPANISH PLOT.

United States to be Involved in Mexico—More Rebel Successes.

Special to The New York Times.

MEXICO CITY, April 28.—Without question the foreigners who are suffering the greatest losses in Mexico from the rebellion are the Spaniards. They largely control the grocery and liquor traffic in the country and are the principal owners of the general stores in the small towns throughout the Republic. They are also prominent in agriculture. The nature of these businesses has laid them particularly liable to loss.

This condition, with the killing of six Spaniards near Puebla, has given to Spain the basis for a protest to the Mexican Government. In some quarters it is believed that a protest is to be made, and that it will be drastic, with the object of involving the United States. Spain, with her many reasons to disagree with the Latin-American policy of the United States, perhaps, is expected by this group to make demands that Mexico would refuse. A threat of intervention by Spain might force the United States to act. Such a course would bring great difficulties to the United States and would make Latin-America angry, which would be to Spain's advantage.

The Spanish colony here to-day circulated handbills through the city and sent others to all sections of Mexico deploring the murder of the six Spaniards and the lack of respect shown for Spanish property. One paragraph says:

"Simply because we did not have the great, good fortune to have been born north of the Rio Grande, we fail to see why our property and our lives should not be respected as are those of other foreigners."

A partial list of the depredations against Spanish property is given. A petition is being circulated among the Spaniards asking for removal of Bernardo Cologan y Colegan, the Spanish Minister.

It is charged that the Minister makes no effort to gain redress for the wrongs to his countrymen. The Spaniards want a demand for reparation for all losses made by the home Government. They say this would mount into the millions.

Spanish papers here in the last few days have offered the criticism that the Government is undertaking reforms first that do not reach the people, instead of quickly making changes that the people will feel immediately. Stress has been placed on such measures as no re-election, which, while generally desired, does not influence the public as would the opening of popular elections for Jefe Politcos or municipal President.

ROUSED BY CORRAL'S ATTACK.

State Department Invites Mexican Government to Repudiate It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Objection to alleged statements made by Vice President Ramon Corral of Mexico at Santander, Spain, was quickly taken by the State Department to-day. The department received from Ambassador Wilson this morning a summary of the interview printed in Mexico City, declaring that because of a desire to seize Mexican territory Americans had connived at disorders across the border. The full interview is now in transit to Washington. After hearing from the Ambassador the department at once issued a statement which is practically an invitation to Mexico to disclaim the expressions of its Vice President. The statement read:

> The Embassy at the City of Mexico telegraphed the Department of State that the Diario, a Mexican newspaper, published in the Mexican capital, has printed what purports to be an authentic interview with Ramon Corral, Vice President of Mexico, given at Santander. The version of the interview is stated to charge directly that the Mexican revolution is being fomented by Americans with a view of forcing intervention.
> The Department of State finds it very difficult to credit the authenticity of such an interview purporting to come from a high official of the Mexican Government, because the efforts made to enforce the neutrality laws, and a disinterested friendship of the United States for Mexico and the Mexican people, are as well known to the Mexican Government as they are fully understood in the United States.
>
> The Department of State has made every effort to prevent any harmful misunderstanding, and there can be no doubt that the Mexican Foreign Office will take prompt steps to repudiate and prevent the promulgation of any such statements calculated so seriously to disturb the mutual confidence and friendly good understanding between the two peoples.

The matter will be taken up by Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City, to whom the department telegraphed late to-day a copy of an official statement.

This prompt action lends color to the suggestion in the dispatch from Stephen Bonsal to THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning that the interview attributed to Señor Corral was aimed at affording him an opportunity to retire under fire from Washington, and so regain his popularity at home. The State Department's declaration of its conviction that a disclaimer will promptly come from the Mexican Foreign Office gives just the opening suggested for the retirement of Señor Corral from the Diaz Government, of which he has long been the incubus.

TALKED WITH MEXICAN POOR.

Prof. Starr Says He Found Great Dissatisfaction in Capital.

Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago talked to the Aldine Club last night in their clubrooms, 200 Fifth Avenue, of the revolution in Mexico.

"I went to Mexico in September to be present when she celebrated her centennial of independence," he said. "All the world had been invited and every nation sent representatives and special Ambassadors. I mingled with the crowds and spoke to at least a thousand persons.

"'It is splendid,' I said to one man. 'Sir, who pays for it all? And the people are starving,' he replied. From another the reply was 'Sir, how much money has been spent that might have given work.' To another, as Diaz rode by, I said he was a great man. 'Sir, he is in the hands of his Ministers and they are bad men,' was returned. These were the kind of replies I got on every hand. Out of the thousand I got nothing but expressions of dissatisfaction.

"On Sept. 11 I noticed a crowd about the statue of Columbus. It was a party of anti-re-electionists. It was a peaceful meeting and the band had struck up the national air, when we saw the police come swooping down. The foot police cleared a way, and then came Chief Castro, his face inflamed with anger and his sword drawn. 'Who is the chief of this mob?' he shouted. He shouted again, and there was no reply. Then he rode his horse through the crowd, striking right and left with his sword. He gave the order to charge, and the police rode down the crowd. Then came the coaches and many were bundled away to jail, where they spent many days. A well-dressed young man looked at their fallen banner and said to me: 'This, Sir, is a monument to our independence. That is the feeling, I believe, of 95 per cent. of the people.'"

TWO JURIES CLASH ON POLICE AFFAIRS

One Finds Department Inefficient and City Lawless and the Other Returns a Clean Bill.

COURT DIFFERS FROM GAYNOR

Justice Rosalsky Declares the Police Are Demoralized and the Mayor Mistaken—Flynn Retiring in Peace.

The police situation following the resignation of Second Deputy Commissioner William J. Flynn became complicated yesterday when two Grand Juries clashed over the charge that crime is on the increase in New York. The special Grand Jury which is investigating vice conditions examined Commissioner Cropsey and Deputy Commissioner Flynn, and then announced that an indefinite adjournment would be taken. The additional April Grand Jury, working under charges from Judge Rosalsky, handed down a presentment in which they stated that conditions were so bad that immediate reformation was necessary.

A few minutes later the regular April Grand Jury handed down a presentment saying that the attacks upon policemen who had testified was unwarranted. Judge Rosalsky, after reviewing both presentments, suggested that both Grand Juries report to the special Grand Jury which is investigating crime conditions. As a result of this suggestion both of the April Grand Juries will probably combine with the special Grand Jury on police matters.

There was a rumor in circulation that Mayor Gaynor had urged Mr. Flynn to become Commissioner of Police. Mr. Flynn would not accept even that, as he is anxious to go back to the Secret Service. When Mr. Flynn left the Grand Jury room yesterday he was asked if he had testified regarding conditions in the Police Department.

"I said nothing about any scandal in the department," said Mr. Flynn. "I was asked about routine matters, and I told all I knew. Further than this I have nothing to say."

It is said that Mr. Flynn seriously objected to Commissioner Driscoll, and that the Mayor had promised that he would get rid of Mr. Driscoll as quickly as possible. The Mayor is said to have mentioned a day when Mr. Driscoll was to leave the department. When this day arrived and Mr. Driscoll was still there, Mr. Flynn is said to have made up his mind that his wishes were not to be considered and then he determined to quit.

Back to the Secret Service.

When asked if he had anything to say on the day's developments, Mr. Flynn gave out this statement:

"I have at no time nor at any place made the statement accredited to me that my resignation was due to the fact that I had found crooks in the Police Department whose services were retained. I have branded no one that way. I leave the Police Department because I was under obligations to return to the United States Secret Service, and I will do so immediately upon being relieved of the duties of the Second Deputy Commissioner of Police. I have no quarrel with any one, nor, so far as I know, has any one a quarrel with me. My relations in the Police Department with my associates are to-day, and have been in the past, of the friendliest character."

Mr. Flynn is said to have taken this stand because he believes thoroughly in discipline. Rather than have any controversy with the department, Mr. Flynn, it is said, preferred to retire. When Mr. Flynn was shown a dispatch from Washington to the effect that he was not lent to the Police Department and that he had resigned from the United States Secret Service, Mr. Flynn produced a letter from Mr. Wilkie, head of the Secret Service, in which it was set forth that Mr. Flynn had merely applied for a leave of absence and Mr. Flynn was requested to state just when he was ready to return to the department

"I guess that settles that matter," said Mr. Flynn.

This is the presentment that the additional April Grand Jury, of which George Crawford is foreman, handed up to Judge Rosalsky:

> 1. Parts of our city are dangerous because of the lawlessness of roughs and criminals, who are not effectively restrained.
>
> 2. Police officers are reviled and sometimes severely assaulted while attempting to perform their duty.
>
> 3. Police officers hesitate to do their duty because they believe certain roughs have political support.
>
> 4. Police officers do not make use of their clubs when they should do so because they fear their superiors, who, they say, will entertain and prosecute unfounded charges of criminals against them, and have done so.
> 5. Storekeepers and residents are annoyed, raided, and despoiled by these roughs and criminals, and fear even to make complaints against them, because they believe the gangs are emboldened by the laxness of the police in arresting them, and will take revenge on them. From testimony we have heard during the month in the examination of cases in the course of our routine work as Grand Jury for April we are of the opinion that the situation and condition of our city is a matter for gravest public concern and immediate reformation is required.

Replying to this, Judge Rosalsky said: "I fully agree with you that the Police Department is demoralized. The men have no confidence in their superiors. A policeman is forced to make an arrest when the outcry of the outraged public forces him to do his duty. You will find few cases when detectives succeed in detecting crime. The arrests made are when the wrongdoer is caught in the act of committing the crime."

Court Disagrees with Mayor.

The Judge here mentioned the number of indictments which have been considered by the Grand Jurors working under a charge from him during the last month. The additional Grand Jury handed down 181 indictments, the other Grand Jury 113. A total of 294 cases have been considered by the additional Grand Jury to 218 by the regular Grand Jury.

"One might say," went on Judge Rosalsky, "that these figures show police activity. They simply show that the police have made so many arrests. When 1,000 or 1,500 crimes have been committed, 500 persons have been arrested.

"The Mayor's notion of doing away with officers in civilian attire to prevent robbery is not borne out by the facts. The man in uniform if he knows of breaking of the law in certain premises cannot get evidence. Pickpockets will not steal a watch when in the presence of a uniformed officer. The gambler will conduct his business openly and defiantly if only officers in uniform are to make arrests. Dens of vice will be conducted openly and flagrantly in violation of the law as long as there are only officers in uniform.

"What we need is a Commissioner of the Police Department who in my judgment should rise from the ranks and who is trained by experience, who understands the existing conditions in the city and who would make every effort to suppress violent crimes, such as burglary, highway robbery, assault, &c."

Judge Rosalsky hastened to add that he had no intention of criticising the Mayor. "I have known the Mayor," he said, "for a number of years and regard him highly. But the Mayor is, unfortunately, impetuous, and while in a state of irritation frequently makes statements which in cooler moments he would hesitate to make."

Scarcely had the Judge finished his remarks when the regular April Grand Jury filed this presentment:

> We, as members of the April Grand Jury, beg to say from our experience in this town we have been impressed with the efficiency of the policemen who have testified before us, and believe the criticism before against them is unwarranted.

Judge Rosalsky wanted to know if they had in mind both the uniformed men and the detectives, and the foreman replied in the affirmative. Judge Rosalsky then informed them that their presentment was contrary to that of the additional Grand Jury, which was that the criticism of the police was warranted. To this the foreman replied:

"We did nothing more than give the court the benefit of our experience. We found few cases of respectable people being held up. It appears that most of the people who were held up were under the influence of liquor."

Judge Rosalsky then remarked that during the past month at least twenty men had been sent to prison for outrageous offenses.

"Most of these cases," he added, "went before the additional Grand Jury."

Mayor Gaynor refused to discuss police affairs.

Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan pointed out that in view of the fact that Mayor Gaynor had appointed Louis H. Reynolds as a Police Magistrate, he had stated that Mr. Reynolds at one time was counsel for certain poolroom and gambling house people.

Miss Minnie Truber yesterday withdrew her complaint against Levi Oppenheimer, a member of the "crime wave" Grand Jury, who was arrested charged with assault. Oppenheimer was accused of striking Miss Truber in an elevated train several days ago.

REPORTS KILLING A MAN.

Caretaker of John Purroy Mitchel's Estate Surrenders and Tells of Quarrel.

WHITE PLAINS, April 28.—Richard G. Davenport, an old Adirondack guide and trapper, is locked up in the county jail here on a charge of having shot and killed a man last night. Davenport, who is 52 years old, has been caretaker for about three years of the estate of John Purroy Mitchel at Somers, this county.

He walked into Yorktown Heights today and told some one there that he had killed a man at his cottage on the Mitchel property, and this information soon reached a Deputy Sheriff. Sheriff Scerp was communicated with, and he traveled at top speed in an automobile to Yorktown Heights, taking with him Assistant District Attorney Davies and two deputies. At Yorktown Heights the Sheriff found Coroner Mason of Peekskill already on the ground.

Davenport was arrested and was then asked by Assistant District Attorney Davies if he wished to make any statement. He said he did and made what he said was a full and complete account of what had occurred.

Thomas Heenehan and a man he knew only as Barney came to his cottage a week ago and engaged board. They were away for two days, but returned yesterday. Davenport had promised to give Barney work on the estate, but in the meantime had engaged a nineteen-year-old boy.

While Davenport was cooking dinner last night the two men began to quarrel with him about having employed the boy, and they kept it up until the boy became frightened. They all had dinner together, however, and afterward the boy retired to his room.

Later the two men renewed the quarrel with Davenport and finally, he says, they threatened to put him out of his own house. Davenport said that he entered his bedroom, where two rifles and two double barreled shotguns were hanging on the wall, and took down one of the rifles. When he started back to the kitchen adjoining the bedroom Barney tried to stop him, and while struggling with Barney, Heenehan ran into Davenport's room and grabbed one of the shotguns.

Davenport said he tried to escape by the rear door, but before he could reach the door Heenehan fired one barrel at him. The charge entered the floor and Davenport got out of the house safely. Davenport said that he then started to go around to the front of the house to go up the road, but as he reached the kitchen window he saw Heenehan standing there ready to fire again. Bringing his rifle to his shoulder Davenport fired, and he says he saw Heenehan fall.

Davenport saw Barney come out of the back door and he ran around to the front door and entered, locking the door behind him. He found Heenehan lying dead in the kitchen. He locked the back door and remained in the cottage all night with the boy and the dead man. When morning came he started for Yorktown Heights to give himself up.

Sheriff Scerp and Coroner Mason took Davenport back to his cottage. Coroner Mason had two physicians make an examination of Heenehan's body, and they found that he had been shot in the back. This threw some doubt on Davenport's story, but it is thought possible that Heenehan may have turned around just as Davenport fired at him. Davenport was then formally committed to the County Jail.

WOULD EDIT COMMANDMENTS

Dr. Douglas Urges Revision to Their Original and Shorter Form.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—"Revise the Ten Commandments," urged the Rev. Dr. George A. Douglas, canon of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, in speaking at the twenty-ninth Congress of the Protestant Episcopal Church on "The Need for Prayer Book Revision to Meet Present-Day Conditions."

"Let us have the courage," he said, "to restore our Prayer Book version of the Ten Commandments to what scholars are pretty generally agreed was the original and shorter form."

He said that with Prayer Book revision in line with the movement for church unity, the Roman, Greek, and Anglican Churches ultimately must be able to come together in public worship. "In revision," he suggested, "we must not snap the links that bind us to those ancient churches." He regarded the present book of common prayer as unsuitable for "working people and so-called socialists," who have been attracted to the Christian churches. The revised Prayer Book should give ministers the right on occasion to "pray ex tempore, without appearing to be either rampant or radical."

The Rev. Dr. Henry R. Gummey of Haddonfield, N. J., opposed revision, pending careful study by an international council representing all the branches of the Anglican Church. The Rev. Dr. Percy S. Grant of New York urged prompt action in shortening the church service. He contended that the "Prayer Book is stationary and aristocratic, while the present trend of things is toward motion and democracy."

The Rev. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady of Kansas City, Mo., declared that he would oppose any revision which would take away anything from the ancient truth or the beauty of the Prayer Book.

The Rev. William M. Gilbert of Yonkers, N. Y., speaking on "The Place of Meditation in the Development of Christian Character," said that even physical ills often are cured by meditation through the effect produced on the emotional centres which are the seat of the ills.

FAIR FOR BLIND ENDS TO-DAY.

Waiters at a Big Luncheon Donated Their Tips to the Cause.

Owing to Bishop Greer's opposition to the keeping open of the Blind Workers' exhibition at the Metropolitan Opera House on Sunday, it will be closed to-night at 10:30 o'clock, a day sooner than had been originally intended. As Sunday was to have been a free day, it has been decided to reduce the entrance fee for to-day to 10 cents.

A programme of special interest has been arranged, in which every blind performer who has appeared in the exhibition in the last three days will take part. The Metropolitan stage will be converted into a roller skating rink, on which the older blind children from the New York public schools will give an exhibition of fancy skating. There will be a chess match, in which a blind chess master challenges ten seeing persons.

Bishop Greer, who opened the exercises of last evening, made a strong appeal for a new home for the New York Association for the Blind. "Only $250,000," said the Bishop, "is needed. Of this $100,000 has been given. We want you and your friends to give the balance of $150,000, and to give it at once."

At a luncheon given by Miss Winnifred Holt to distinguished blind visitors to the exhibition yesterday at Shanley's new restaurant, the waiters who served the party all refused to receive their customary tips. After the function the waiters sent a delegation of one, the head waiter, Edward Paul, to return the tips which had been given them by the individual diners, and by the committee which arranged the luncheon. They expressed a desire to contribute these tips to the cause of the blind. A unanimous resolution of thanks was voted by the twenty-nine blind guests present, and two boxes at the Metropolitan for Saturday night were offered to the waiters and immediately accepted by them.

A concert, exclusively for the blind visitors to the Blind Workers' Exhibition, many of whom have come from distant parts of the country, is to be given at the Metropolitan Opera House before the doors open to-day at 1 P. M. An elaborate programme has been arranged by a quartet of blind musicians from the Perkins Institution for the Blind, Messrs. Charles Sticker, piano; John Witherell, violin; Leon Gibson, flute, and Richard Barnard, cornet. A seeing person, Miss Flora Hardie, at present playing in "The Mikado" company, Brooklyn, has also volunteered her services, and will render a number of Scotch songs and ditties.

TAYLOR'S PLAN WILL END STRIKES, HE SAYS

Higher Wages and More Profits Follow Scientific Business Methods.

A MISTAKE TO OPPOSE IT

Other Exponents of Labor-Saving Ways Tell Its Benefit to Industrial Representatives in Carnegie Hall.

Representatives of forty industrial plants went to Carnegie Hall last night to learn the "art of scientific management" from its most famous exponents. They heard from its inventor how the five-motion art of bricklaying grew out of the eighteen-motion method, which dates back to Moses, and how thirty girls in a bicycle factory learned to do in eight hours a day the work of 100 girls in 10½ hours a day.

The speakers were William McCarroll, who wanted to see the new art tried on the public service corporations; John Golden, President of the United Textile Workers, who told why labor unions fear new ideas; Frederick W. Taylor, whose name the method bears, and Frank Gilbreth, who worked out the plan as to bricklayers and carriers of the hod.

The speakers all said the system meant complete revolution of existing methods and ideas and relationships between employers and employes. They narrated many instances in which those who came to laugh, as the railroad managers laughed at Brandeis, remained to grow wealthier through increased output and more cheerful workers.

"The saddest thing about the system," said Mr. Taylor, "is the attitude of the labor unions toward it. It is a harmful attitude—harmful to the workers more than to any others. Let me illustrate. In Manchester they had 5,000 weavers of cotton fabric. Machinery was introduced increasing each weaver's efficiency from six to ten times. The weavers thought this spelled destruction, and burned and blew up the power plants. But the power plant won, and now instead of 5,000 weavers in Manchester there are 260,000 weavers.

"In certain directions labor unions have done more good than any other form of human organization—in the directions of lightening life's burdens for the workers—in gaining shorter hours, and more sanitary surroundings. But almost every union has plans to restrict the output of its men, and that is fatally, destructively wrong.

"When my friend Gilbreth worked out his philosophy of bricks he ran against the unions. They had a rule prohibiting any man laying more than 120 bricks an hour at $4 a day. Gilbreth despaired for a time, but finally announced he'd not employ a man who wasn't worth $6.50 a day. He fixed that as a minimum wage. It puzzled the men. Their leaders were finally talked into a policy of hands off, and Gilbreth began to teach bricklayers how to lay brick. His men laid 350 brick per hour.

"Labor's fear of new methods is only the old fear of strange things. It will disappear with time. There are 50,000 men at work under its principles, and they are receiving 30 to 50 per cent. more wages than other men in the same trades outside. There have been no strikes where the principle is in operation, although the most serious kinds of strikes have been called in the same trades under other conditions.

"Under the new plan the boss has got to know what his artisans and craftsmen know. He has to gather in all the traditional knowledge that is the worker's greatest heritage from all the ages behind him. He has to record it, reduce it to laws. The workman must get over his fear of a new way, and his boss has to attain a basis whereby he and his men are friends instead of enemies.

"It is the simple inventions that are hardest. One of our teachers found 120 girls in a bicycle shop looking over gear case bearings for defects. Quick perception was the one quality demanded, and some girls were much quicker than others. After a test the ones with the quickest perception got this work. Then the effect of fatigue was observed, and resting periods were allowed when fatigue began to tell. The working day was shortened to seven hours, wages increased 100 per cent., the efficiency of the examinations increased 100 per cent., and the only discoverable hardship was that the workers were placed so far apart they couldn't chat at their work."

John Golden, speaking for the workers, wanted the science applied only with great care and caution to see that it was managed in the right direction, and not made an engine of oppression through "speeding up."

Frank Gilbreth declared as a practical builder that he had absolute faith in the system to produce wage increases and to eliminate the ancient war between bosses and their men. He said it had done so for him.

Among those who heard the discussion were officials of the Erie Railroad, Edison Laboratory, Western Electric Company, American Smelters Company, James T. Pierson & Co., Interborough, and Bridgeport Gas Company.

20 YEARS IN MARBLE CHURCH.

Dr. Burrell Guest of His Parishioners, Who Come Bearing Gifts.

The congregation of the Marble Collegiate Church gave a reception last evening in the parlors of the church, Fifth Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street, to celebrate the completion of the twentieth year of Dr. David James Burrell's service as minister of that church. When Dr. Burrell came to the church in 1891, it was run down. The building was badly in need of repair and few attended its services. Since he has been there, however, conditions have changed, and now Dr. Burrell is said to be one of the two highest paid ministers in this city.

To attract strangers the church is open all day, and has four services a week the year around. Special efforts are made to encourage the attendance of those who live in boarding houses, apartments, or hotels. Another feature of the church is the distribution of printed sermons at the Sunday evening services, a custom which has been adhered to for many years. In the last twenty years 1,604 persons have been received into the church, 603 by a confession of faith, and 91 from other churches.

The reception was attended by many members of the church. John M. Kyle made a brief speech, praising Dr. Burrell and presented to him a watch engraved with the insignia of the Dutch Reformed Church. Mrs. Percy H. Williams presented to Mrs. Burrell a picture frame. Both were gifts of the congregation. Dr. Burrell is author of many books on religious subjects, and many of his sermons have been published. He became the pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church on May 24, 1891. The celebration was held a month earlier because so many of his parishioners will be out of town in May. To-morrow morning he will preach on "These Twenty Years."

CONTEST IN LITTLE BOARD.

Members Name a Complete Opposition Ticket for Exchange Election.

President Jarvis of the Consolidated Stock Exchange has been named as a candidate for re-election at the head of a ticket announced yesterday in opposition to the regular ticket put forward by the Nominating Committee, which named Ogden G. Budd, a former President of the Exchange, for President, ignoring the custom of giving the retiring President a second term. This caused a great deal of dissatisfaction. Besides President Jarvis, these candidates were named on the opposition ticket: For First Vice President, S. A. Luther; for Second Vice President, C. C. Jacobus; for Treasurer, E. R. Grant; for Chairman, Valentine Mott, and for Board of Governors, William J. Alpers, S. W. Curtis, Warren W. Erwin, L. N. Morganstern, W. Scott O'Connor, Clarence C. Perpall, Norman W. Peters, Lionel Sturges, C. H. Van Buren, and Clarence R. West.

M'MANIGLE OPENLY AGAINST M'NAMARAS

who turned James J. McNamara, Secretary-Treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, over to the California authorities; Superintendent of Police Hyland, Captain of Detectives Holtz, and City Detective Samuel S. Gerber.

Albert Von Spreckelson, a contractor, who had experiences with dynamiters in 1909, was also before the Grand Jury today for the second time. Mr. Baker said he knew nothing of Mr. Von Spreckelson's being called, but he explained that he did not object to the Grand Jury calling in witnesses on its own responsibility. C. C. Shirley, attorney for the Employers' Association, called at Mr. Baker's office in the afternoon and had a conference with the Prosecutor. The Prosecutor said that Mr. Shirley will gather the evidence to use in the investigation of the dynamite case.

Some of the books taken from the office of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and turned over to the Grand Jury by Superintendent of Police Hyland have been delivered to Leo M. Rappaport, attorney for the iron workers. A check book, a ledger, and a record of current receipts were among the books turned over to the union officers with the understanding that the Grand Jury could take them at any time. Prosecutor Baker said the arrangement was satisfactory to him.

Although there are reports, said to be well founded, that one Grand Juror has declared that he will not return any indictments on the kidnapping charges, regardless of the law, it is thought likely that the jury will be retained. The Prosecutor said he did not intend to take the matter before the court, and Judge Markey said he would not make any investigation into such charges unless they were brought to his attention.

Mr. Rappaport left Indianapolis this afternoon for Los Angeles to confer with other attorneys who have been retained to defend John J. Mc Namara and his brother James. Mr. Rappaport plans to remain at Los Angeles only a few days.

DENY THEY KNOW McMANIGLE.

Not in Cleveland, Leaders Say, on Date of Outrage He Told About.

CLEVELAND, April 28.—Labor leaders here say that they know nothing of Ortie McManigle, who is said to have confessed at Los Angeles to the dynamiting of the iron ore conveyor at North Randall on March 25.

Charles Smith, business agent of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, to-day said that he had never seen McManigle, and the latter's name could not be found on any of a dozen hotel registers of that date.

Local Ironworkers Willing to Pay Any Assessment for His Defense Fund.

Local No. 40 of New York of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers yesterday passed a series of resolutions declaring the faith of its members in the innocence of J. J. McNamara, Secretary-Treasurer of the association, and protesting against the alleged kidnapping of McNamara when he was arrested in Indianapolis on the charge of complicity in the wrecking of The Los Angeles Times Building. It was also voted to pay any assessment levied for his defense fund.

Was It Standard Oil?

At one of the entertainments given in honor of President Taft in this city this week he was introduced to the assembled guests in a glowing eulogy, in which the speaker said:

"He has poured oil on the troubled seas and the ship of state rides easily."

Joseph Choate, who was sitting near Mr. Taft, leaned toward him and inquired in a low tone:

"Was it Standard Oil that you poured so liberally on the troubled seas?"

HILL QUIT BERLIN TO GRATIFY TAFT

Now Learned Envoy Acted on a Hint That President Wanted the Post for a Friend.

NO FRICTION WITH ANY ONE

Germany Irritated Over Our Attitude in the Potash Dispute, but Acquits Hill of Any Blame.

It was learned on authority yesterday that Dr. David Jayne Hill, recently Ambassador to Germany, gave up the post because he had an intimation that President Taft would like to receive his resignation so that he could give the appointment to a closer personal friend.

Ambassador Hill and the President had no falling out or misunderstanding, it was learned, nor did either the President or Secretary of State Knox receive any intimation from German sources that Dr. Hill was persona non grata with the German Government. In fact, it is said that both President Taft and Secretary Knox told Ambassador Hill (the former before the Ambassador sent in his resignation and the President after the letter was received) that neither the German Emperor nor the German Chancellor had ever directly or indirectly communicated to the Government here or to any of its representatives the slightest intimation that Ambassador Hill's conduct, either official or social, had ever displeased them in any degree whatever.

Ambassador Hill's closest friends understand this to be the situation as implied in the Ambassador's letter to the President:

The President inherited Ambassador Hill's services from the previous administration. When he came into office Ambassador Hill offered his resignation. The President declined to accept it at the time. Now, it is learned, Dr. Hill was not, and is not, averse to retaining his portfolio to Germany if the President desires him to do so. As far as the German Government is concerned, absolutely nothing stood in the way of his staying. Neither the cost of living, the Ambassador's lack of great wealth, nor the attitude of the Kaiser or of any other officer of the German Government toward him, personally or officially, operated against his doing so.

But, it is explained, if a gentleman is a high diplomatic agent and he learns from a source of information, which cannot be questioned, that the appointing power would prefer this gentleman to retire because he wished to give the diplomatic job to some one else whom he knew and personally liked better, what other course would be left to the gentleman but to resign? This is what Ambassador Hill understood to be the situation, and he acted accordingly. Ambassador Hill, it is understood, learned the President's attitude to be that as the German Ambassadorship is one of the few very high honors in the gift of the President, and much coveted, Mr. Taft has held it in store against the time when he was ready to please a personal or political friend, as well as to continue to surround himself with men of his own choice.

It is learned that the German Government is decidedly "sore" over its recent experiences with the American Government in the potash contract controversy, and that Ambassador Hill is involved in this unpleasantness without being responsible for it, or it is so held by the German Chancellor.

This illustration was used yesterday to explain Ambassador Hill's part in the diplomatic as distinct from the commercial end of the potash war:

The Diplomatic Service is like a great spider web, with the Secretary of State at the centre, and the diplomatic agents stationed in every direction. It is the duty of the various agents to obey the orders from the centre of the web exactly as they are delivered. If he does so and they give offense or cause irritation, the diplomatic agent is not to blame, but the man at the centre of the web who gave the order.

Ambassador Hill, however, did a great deal of work in the potash controversy. After six weeks of almost incessant effort he brought it to the point where the German potash syndicate and the American contractors had agreed on every point in the controversy except the price for it to be paid by the Americans. That stage reached, Dr. Hill would have nothing further to do with the discussion, as it became purely commercial, with no diplomatic questions involved. If the matter is settled, Ambassador Hill will be largely responsible for it, for it was he, it is said on authority, who brought it to a stage where an amicable agreement was possible.

This view of the situation has been emphasized to show that the potash trouble has had nothing to do with the resignation of Ambassador Hill. He denies it categorically, and so does the President and Secretary Knox.

Ambassador Hill has engaged passage on the Amerika, to sail on May 11. He returns to this country as private citizen in July.

HERRICK AS BERLIN ENVOY?

Tageblatt's Correspondent Here Says Taft Thinks of Naming Him.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 28.—The Berliner Tageblatt's New York correspondent telegraphs that he learns on excellent authority that Mr. Taft is thinking of appointing ex-Gov. Herrick of Ohio as Ambassador to Berlin.

Mr. Herrick came to Berlin last Summer with Henry W. Taft, and both received special attentions from the Kaiser. It was understood that they bore personal letters of introduction to the Kaiser from the President.

Both Mr. Herrick and the President's brother attended the Autumn review of the Berlin garrison at Templehof Field as his Majesty's guests, and were invited the same night to attend the annual military dinner at the castle.

POTASH AGREEMENT LIKELY.

All American Interests to Take Part in Coming Negotiations.

BERLIN, April 28.—One of the German representatives in the German-American potash controversy stated to-day that all American interests would participate in the negotiations on May 10.

It has been reported that the American independents would deal separately with the German syndicate. It is believed here that the coming conference will result in a settlement of the whole matter.

B. R. T. MAY EXTEND ITS SUBWAY OFFER

Some Routes Now Classed as Extensions May Be Added to the Main Lines.

ANSWERS MAYOR'S CRITICISM

Col. Williams Contrasts His Offer with the Interborough's—Calls for "a Square Deal."

Col. Timothy S. Williams, President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, gave out yesterday a long statement on the position of his company in the subway situation. At the same time it was learned that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the city's transit conferrees have been considering the inclusion of some of the extensions of the main system as laid out in the company's letter to the Board of Estimate last week under the operating basis laid down for the trunk line sections. This would relieve the city from the assumption of any deficit, but would provide for a half and half division of net profits instead of the city's getting three-quarters and the company one-quarter, as it would if the responsibility for deficit were assumed.

Col. Williams at the conference held at Mr. McAneny's house on Thursday did not make a definite reply to the suggestion that some of the routes first marked "extensions" should be brought in as "original routes," but it is understood that his company is likely to make further concessions in this direction. There was a story yesterday that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit would offer to operate the Seventh Avenue subway from Times Square south. The basis for this statement was found to lie in the fact that under the company's offer it is pledged to operate any extensions the city may build and therefore would operate the Seventh Avenue subway if the city should decide to construct that in addition to the other lines.

President Shonts of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company was called away to Chicago yesterday and is expected back on Monday. Immediately upon his return the suggested modifications of the Interborough's offer will be presented to him and his associate Interborough Directors, and at next Monday's conference it is expected that the discussion between the city's conferrees and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit will be brought to an end. Under the announced decision of Borough President McAneny not to allow the Interborough to delay about replying, the chances are therefore that the evidence will all be in before the close of next week, and the Board of Estimate committee will be in a position to make its decision.

William G. McAdoo, President of the Hudson & Manhattan Company, got back to his office yesterday, after his trip abroad, in the course of which he was reported to be raising credit for new subway offers. He declined to discuss his intention in this direction, and said only that he believed there would be plenty of capital at hand for the building of any subways the city might require.

The B. R. T. Argument.

Col. Williams's statement is as follows:

"For the benefit of those who have not read, or those who have only partly read, our transit communication of April 25 to Mr. McAneny's committee, some further amplification of its features may be desirable for a better understanding. We have been perfectly frank with the public and with the committee from the beginning as to every detail in connection with our proposal. There is not a phase of it upon which we are not willing to meet public discussion.

"When the committee requested us to consider the operation of the east side line in Manhattan, constituting the so-called Triborough route, we tried to put ourselves at once into the attitude of the city's representatives and to lay out a transit plan broad enough, flexible enough, and financially sound enough to meet all the present and future requirements of Greater New York. Our attitude ceased to be that of a Brooklyn corporation seeking a distribution line for its passengers in Manhattan without interfering with any existing or proposed rapid transit lines in that borough, but on the other hand supplementing existing and proposed lines therein, and we became to all intents and purposes a new corporation, presenting a complete scheme of transportation for five boroughs.

"Our plan, therefore, offers the opportunity of realizing within five years and within reasonable limits of available city capital, a unified city transportation system comprising about 138 miles of routes, reaching every borough with through cars and a single fare, except in one instance where conditions are distinct and unusual. No duplication of such a system or the equivalent of it could be produced in any other way within at least a generation. I say without hesitation and without fear of successful contradiction that ours is the best and most comprehensive offer ever made by any railroad corporation to any city in the world.

"Our plan is founded fundamentally upon a principle, and no solution of the transit question in New York can be settled right unless it is founded upon a sound principle. That principle is a trunk line system covering the entire length of Manhattan Island, part of the Bronx, part of Queens, and practically all of Brooklyn. This trunk line system gives approximately 100 miles of rapid transit routes. It accommodates at least 4,000,000 people out of the 4,700,000 in Greater New York. Such portions of it as are not now built can be constructed, and the whole system put in operation within five years.

"But this is not all. The plan includes additionally about forty miles of preferred extensions and branches of the trunk line system reaching into the remote sections of the Bronx, into Queens, through Brooklyn and into Richmond, most of which are intended, under the Public Service Commission's plans, to be elevated railroads, the time for the construction of which is necessarily shorter than that of subways.

"It would be inexpedient, even if all the necessary capital were immediately available, to construct many of these extensions in advance of the time when they could be operated in connection with the trunk lines and have them lie idle for several years. But there will be a margin of city credit, over and above the requirements for the construction of our trunk lines, immediately available for such of these preferred extensions as the city may determine to build, and it is quite safe to say that there will be additional available funds within three years to justify the construction of all of these preferred extensions, so that they may be operated in connection with the trunk lines when the new trunk subways are ready for operation.

Its Provision for the Future.

"And there is one more important matter not to be overlooked in this connection. Our plan insures an operator, upon terms fixed in advance, of not only these preferred extensions but of every future extension, branch, or new line which the city might find it desirable to construct. No longer must the city wait before laying out, and inviting bids for, the construction of a new line until it knows whether it is going to procure an operator.

"No longer will there be the always embarrassing question of yielding to the exorbitant terms of a present operator in order to secure the benefits of one fare and a unified system to the patrons of an extension or of a new line. No longer need there be years of delay in the discussions and negotiations attendant upon the settlement of these questions. The city will have, by the adoption of our plan, one broad, comprehensive, and well safeguarded contract whereby equity in transportation can be secured to every locality and upon the most favorable terms, but the city is not, thereby, tied up to us as an operator, for under the indeterminate plan it can at any time after ten years choose a new operator.

"We have met the city's views as to what should be comprised in the so-called trunk line system. We have not attempted to determine, although we have suggested, what extensions should be given priority in construction. As Mr. McAneny said so well in his recently published statement it is for the city to determine the routes and then to find an operator. We pledge to the city an operator in advance and the city determines when and how the extensions shall be constructed. Any other arrangement is bound to result in a one-sided system of transportation or an injustice to some localities. Any other arrangement would be inconsistent with the broad principle upon which we have founded our plan.

"For instance, our trunk line system included under 'original lines' extends as far north in the Bronx as 157th Street. If the city should decide that the best expenditure of city money would be immediate further extensions into that territory we have agreed to operate those extensions. If it should decide that justice and self-interest should require immediately the construction of a tunnel to Richmond we have agreed to operate such a tunnel. If it should decide upon immediate extensions in Queens and additional lines in Brooklyn we have agreed to operate such extensions and lines. If it should decide that equity to all sections would require the beginning of construction of extensions in each of the four boroughs outside of Manhattan, the city will always have an operator under contract for whatever is constructed. The terms are all fixed and the great advantages of the unified trunk line system apply to every extension.

City Control in Ten Years.

"At any time after ten years the city may take over not only all subways and elevated lines built with city money, but all subways and elevated lines built with private money under our plan. In this event, eliminating existing lines which we have offered to incorporate into the trunk line system and the franchises for which are not proposed to be terminable after ten years, the city will be in possession of a consistent system, comprising 93 miles of routes, reaching all boroughs, all of which is capable of separate, independent, and successful operation. No disconnected links impossible, except at great expense, to be worked into a cohesive system, but a transportation layout complete in itself and capable of immediate independent operation.

"The company takes the risk, after designing and contracting for such a comprehensive transit plan as has been proposed by it, of being thrown out after ten years. We do not think this is fair, for the penalty of termination is not alone failure to give good service, but termination may come at the mere whim of public officers then representing the city. It may come to satisfy selfish interests possibly then in control of City Government. But the city's committee has insisted firmly upon this condition, and we have yielded to it against our judgment.

"The city has also insisted upon a generally uniform fare of 5 cents, and in doing so has made a demand for service at a much cheaper rate of fare than ever has been before charged for similar service in any city in the world. These exacting conditions necessarily limit liberality in the terms of offer, but we have met them in as broad and generous a spirit as we could, and we ask the public to regard them carefully in passing judgment upon our proposition.

Capital for the New Lines.

"Now, a word as to the respective burdens assumed by the city and the company in carrying out this huge project.

"Generally speaking, the city's part of the immediate financial requirement, if the specifications should be economized, might be as low as $61,000,000, while the company's contribution would be in the neighborhood of $75,000,000. Even should all the additional available capital of the city for rapid transit be devoted to immediate construction of extensions the city's share of the expense would not greatly exceed the company's. But the Mayor is quoted as saying that none of the company's money goes to the building of city lines. He is in error.

"The city may, if it prefers, call upon us, under our proposal, to furnish at least two-thirds of the cost of the construction of the Broadway, Seventh Avenue, and Fifty-ninth Street subways north of Ninth Street. Moreover, every extension which we agree to build with our own money is practically a city line, for the city can take it over after ten years upon paying the cost, and this is exactly what it would do in the case of any subways built by private capital. In reality, therefore, we are contributing a great many millions of dollars toward the construction of city lines.

"But what if we do not contribute a dollar? We are offering instead a unified city system of 140 miles of routes against an Interborough system, including present constructed mileage, of seventy-five miles, of which only fifty miles are proposed and nine of these would require an additional investment by the city of $20,000,000.

"We are offering to the city an opportunity to take over after ten years—not a broken, disconnected set of routes of about forty-one miles incapable of operation except by the expenditure of additional millions for connections—but a comprehensive, consistent, consecutive transportation system of ninety-three miles ready for immediate operation.

Comparison of Offers.

"For $53,000,000 of city money under the Interborough plan the city would get the immediate benefit of a system of sixty-six miles of line, while under our plan the city would get for $61,000,000 of city money ninety-seven miles. We are contributing to the city equal participation in the growth of existing rapid transit lines, enlarged and improved, no part of whose earnings are we under obligation to divide with the city except as we may offer them as compensation for the privilege of operating this great new comprehensive system.

"We are taking upon ourselves for the benefit of the city and its people the experiment of carrying passengers over a larger area for less fare than any transportation company in the world.

"We are insuring the city an operator of any lines, extensions, or branches built now or in the future under terms now agreed upon, which are more favorable to the patrons of those lines and to the city treasury than any terms heretofore offered.

"We are proposing a comprehensive transportation system, the financial returns of which promise greater revenues to the city than any heretofore offered by any company.

"We do not propose to the city a complicated system of determining uncertain revenue as a basis for division of financial responsibility between the company and the city, but a simple, honest plan whereby revenue from all lines, including that from sixty-seven miles of existing successfully operated lines is put in one pool and disbursed according to clearly established formula which admit of no evasion or dispute.

"We offer the only plan which gives to the city an assurance of return on the $30,000,000 of city capital already invested or contracted for in the Centre Street and Fourth Avenue subways. Of what small moment, then, is the question whether under this or some other plan the city is saved a comparatively few millions of immediate investment?

"If by such additional investment the city gets ninety-seven miles of rapid transit routes as against sixty-six, gets a contract which almost certainly insures interest and sinking fund upon all its investment and a profit besides, furnishes immediate relief to 4,000,000 of people, settles in advance the operation of all extensions or new lines, and realizes in a few years, instead of in many, the idea of a unified city transit system with one fare—then will not the expenditure of these few additional millions by the city be by all odds the best investment it has ever made for its treasury or its people?

"Some comment has been made as to that feature of our proposal which makes the interest on the company's new investment a prior claim on the net earnings. In this respect our proposal is not different from that of the McAdoo proposals, the Interborough proposals, or any other proposals that have been made to the city. We also ask that an amount equivalent to the net earnings of the Brooklyn Union Elevated Railroad system prior to the beginning of operation under the new contract should be a preferred claim. These net earnings for the last fiscal year amounted to something over $3,000,000. More than half the total amount was required, and will be required in the future, to pay interest on the company's outstanding bonds and obligations, leaving the remainder for sinking fund provision, amortization, or dividend on the company's stock. The total amount, including bond interest, is only about 6 per cent. on the actual physical value of the property, and considerably less than 6 per cent. on the actual capital invested.

"This reservation, therefore, in our proposal was not only equitable, but was necessary; first, for the protection of the company's existing securities, and second, to give it a further basis for credit in getting new capital. Our proposal requires, however, that over and above this fixed amount of present net earnings all the future growth of these sixty-seven miles of existing routes shall go to the joint pool, out of which the city's full interest and sinking fund requirements and our operating losses on extensions must be paid before there is any additional profit to the company.

Wants a Square Deal.

"Over and above all the transportation and financial advantages which our proposal presents there is another issue involved in this controversy—the issue of honesty and fair play. Appreciating fully the possibility that our proposal might be used as a means of getting better terms from the only bidder in the field than have heretofore been conceded by it, we have gone ahead frankly, publicly, and sincerely to present a proposition which we are confident in the last analysis cannot be duplicated by any other proposition in the advantages which it offers. We come before the city authorities and the public with absolutely clean hands and honest record, and with the highest financial credit of any traction company in Greater New York.

"We have gone through the test of investigation and examination, and we have come out of it with an official indorsement of honest bookkeeping and conservative financing. We do not suggest that these considerations should determine the action of the city on this important subject, for we rest our case entirely on its merits, but we do ask that having presented a proposition as good or better than any other proposition, and having advanced it in an open, frank way, not in a spirit of trader, but with an eye to the proper solution of a difficult problem, we should receive an absolutely square deal from both the city and the public."

CHANCE FOR BRONX COUNTY.

Enough Votes to Pass the Bill, but Tammany Strongly Opposes It.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 28.—Much interest is manifested by Democratic politicians and legislators in the Stilwell-Mork bill making a new county of the Borough of the Bronx. The measure has been reported favorably in both houses of the Legislature. It is an old proposition, a similar measure having been introduced each session for several years, although this is the first time it has been allowed to escape from the hands of the committees to which it was referred.

The bill is opposed by many Tammany members, Leader Charles F. Murphy realizing that the enactment of the law would mean another county organization to reckon with in the city conventions. The Bronx is now a part of New York County, and Tammany can easily control it with the distribution of the patronage as it is at present.

There was consternation when the bill was reported by the Internal Affairs Committee this year. The Aammany leaders are trying to avoid a vote on the measure, fearing that it will be passed. It is said that the insurgent Democrats are in favor of the bill, and that the introducers have been assured of votes enough to pass it. On Wednesday Senator Wagner prevented its consideration in Committee of the Whole, but at that time Senator Stilwell served notice that he would press the measure next week.

The bill, if passed, will be subject to the vote of the people of the Bronx at a special election on the second Tuesday in July.

Senator Stilwell, who is Chairman of the Committee on Codes, has taken an aggressive attitude in favor of the bill and threatens to make trouble for the organization with which he has acted if the Tammany leaders attempt to kill the new county bill.

NEW PLANS FOR CAPITOL HILL

Quadrangle of Buildings for State Courts and Other Departments.

ALBANY, April 28.—Plans for the architectural development of Capitol Hill by the construction of department buildings and the extension of the park system, submitted to the State Trustees of public buildings by State Architect Wars, were made public to-day.

The scheme contemplates the erection of a building for the Court of Appeals which would also house the Court of Claims and such other courts as it may be found desirable to accommodate, on property to be acquired in the rear of the Capitol. Five other department buildings are planned on property to be acquired within the block south of the Capitol.

"When this group is completed," says the State Architect, "it will form, with the Capitol, State education building and court of appeals, a quadrangle, which, if properly treated architecturally, will be second to none in the world." The cost is estimated at $9,000,000.

HEARING ON CIVIL SERVICE.

Gov. Dix Not to Wait on Test Suit Over Exempt Places.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 28.—Gov. Dix has decided not to wait for the outcome of the test suit brought to compel the State Civil Service Commission to rescind its action in classifying in the exempt class more than fifty places in the offices of State Controller Sohmer and State Engineer Bensel.

The classification must be approved by the Governor before it becomes effective. To-day the Governor gave notice of a hearing on the resolutions of the Civil Service Commission next Friday afternoon.

PASSED WITHOUT A QUORUM.

Democratic Assemblymen Take Advantage of Republican Leaders' Absence.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 28.—With only seventeen of the 201 members present to-day the Assembly passed three bills which had been criticised. One of the measures is Assemblyman Walker's authorizing the State Board of Law Examiners to admit to a bar examination in New York City John C. Hackett, a member of the Assembly, without his having passed the Regent's examination as required by the rules of the Court of Appeals. Another was Assemblyman Oliver's bill incorporating the World's Bible League. This bill gives the league broad powers and permits the Board of Directors to perpetuate itself.

Another measure passed in the absence of a quorum is Assemblyman Yates' appropriating $880,000 for the construction of a State highway from Brewster, Putnam County, to Hillsdale, Columbia County.

Under the Constitution no bill may be passed except by a majority of members of both Houses of the Legislature. It has been the custom in the Assembly, however, to permit by unanimous consent less than a quorum to pass bills to which no objection is raised. Speaker Frisbie and Majority Leader Smith were present to-day, but the Republican leaders were absent and the bills were passed without opposition on the floor.

MACHINISTS TO STRIKE.

General Walkout for the 8-Hour Day in New York and Jersey City.

Machinists of the Amalgamated Engineers' Society, whose headquarters are in London, England, with locals in all the large cities in the world, decided yesterday to strike on Monday, along with the members of District 15 of the International Association of Machinists of America in all shops in New York and Hudson County, N. J., in which the eight-hour workday has not been granted.

James Wilson, Secretary of District 15 of the International Association of Machinists, said that preparations had been going on for the fight for several weeks.

FALLS 100 FEET IN BIPLANE.

Young Aviator Not Injured, but His Machine Is Wrecked at Mineola.

Herrick Aiken of Lawrence, Mass., who has been practicing with a fifty-horse-power Curtis biplane at the Mineola, L. I., aviation field, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. He fell with his machine 100 feet. The plane was wrecked, but Aiken suffered no worse injury than a few bruises.

Aiken had made two or three successful flights, but never had ventured far from the ground. Feeling more confidence and to demonstrate his skill he climbed to more than 100 feet. A moment later he lost control of the mechanism and the plane dived sideways to the ground.

THREATS GOT LOAN FOR CARNEGIE TRUST

Northern Bank Directors Voted $130,000 in Fear of Withdrawal of City Funds.

DEPOSITS THEN DOUBLED

One Director Makes Affidavit Corroborating Robin's Story—Hyde's Deputy Again Before the Grand Jury.

An affidavit was obtained by District Attorney Whitman from one of the Directors of the Northern Bank, strongly corroborating Joseph G. Robin's testimony as to what occurred at the hurried meeting of the Northern Bank's Executive Committee on Aug. 24 last to ratify Robin's loan of $130,000 to the Carnegie Trust Company.

The Northern Bank Director, whose name is being withheld for reasons important to the authorities, says in his affidavit that Robin told the Executive Committee he had been threatened with the loss of all the Northern's city deposits if the Carnegie loan should be refused, but that if the Northern Bank came to the rescue of the Carnegie Trust with $130,000 to patch up the Carnegie's impaired reserve, the city cash balances in the Northern would be doubled. These balances were doubled a few weeks after the loan was made.

The Director says that on Aug. 24 he was called from his place of business by telephone to attend the meeting of the Executive Committee. He hastened to Robin's offices, where he found Robin and half a dozen other Directors of the Northern Bank.

"Gentlemen, this is a very serious matter," said Robin, according to the Director. "An extremely serious situation has arisen in the affairs of the Carnegie Trust Company. The company is in a bad way. I had a consultation last night with William J. Cummins and Joseph B. Reichmann of the Carnegie Trust. They explained the crippled condition of the Carnegie Trust Company to me and asked our aid. I told them that we could not let them have the amount of money they desire, as the Northern Bank was in no position to make the loan. They asked for $130,000 at least to tide them over the next bank examination.

"Mr. Cummins and Mr. Reichmann took me over to the office of City Chamberlain Hyde, and I was given to understand that if we do not lend this money our city deposits will be withdrawn. If, on the other hand, we do grant the loan, I have been assured that the city deposits in the Northern Bank will be doubled. We cannot afford to antagonize them, and, therefore, I advise that the loan be made."

The question of the advisability of making the loan was discussed by the Executive Committee, according to the Northern's Director, and it was finally agreed to vote the loan. It was also agreed by the Northern's Directors to carry the $130,000 loan on the bank's books as a participation in the purchase, with the Carnegie Trust, of a block of city bonds. No city bonds were delivered to the Northern, however, as a result of this loan, and afterward the loan was entered as a participation in a mortgage.

The affidavit is looked upon by the authorities as one of the most important bits of evidence that has been gathered since the investigation into the affairs of the Carnegie Trust Company and the matter of city deposits was started several weeks ago.

It is likely that the maker of the affidavit will appear before the Grand Jury on Monday and that several other members of the Northern Bank's Executive Committee will be called.

Robin and his lawyer, Samuel J. Goldsmith, got word yesterday that one of the Directors might be willing to corroborate Robin's story of the Carnegie loan. Mr. Goldsmith hastened to the Director and induced him to go to the District Attorney's office. For two hours the bank Director was closeted with Mr. Whitman, Mr. Goldsmith, and Robin. It is said that the banker was at first reluctant to discuss the meeting, and only consented to do so when told by the District Attorney that it was his duty as a citizen to tell what he knew.

Deputy City Chamberlain Walsh and Deputy Controller Fisher were before the Grand Jury yesterday. It is understood that Mr. Walsh says he acted upon specific instructions from City Chamberlain Hyde regarding the deposits of city funds during the City Chamberlain's absence from the city, and that he never increased city deposits except under orders from Mr. Hyde.

Deputy Controller Fisher was called to tell about the arrangement made by Controller Prendergast with the Directors of the Carnegie Trust Company to have the amount of city money there decreased at the rate of $50,000 a week. He said the reductions ceased as soon as Controller Prendergast went on his vacation, on Aug. 1.

Robin's lawyer, Mr. Goldsmith, served notice yesterday on Rollins & Rollins, counsel for Peter Alexander, receiver for Robin, and also upon State Banking Superintendent Cheney and Bank Examiner Alford, receiver for the Northern Bank, warning them against disposing of securities valued at $200,000 which Robin says he deposited in the Northern Bank about a year ago to guarantee a loan of $50,000 made by the Northern to David A. Sullivan, President of the Union Bank.

Supt. Cheney was in Albany yesterday and is supposed to have delivered his report on the Carnegie Trust to Gov. Dix in person. The Banking Department obtained an order during the day from Supreme Court Justice Blanchard authorizing the sale of the furniture and fixtures of the Carnegie Trust Company for not less than their appraised value of $15,640.

It came out yesterday at the hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings against Robin that Mortimer Schiff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., was interested with James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National Bank, in negotiations for the purchase of Robin's stock holdings in the Northern Bank. The hearing was held in the offices of Rollins & Rollins at 32 Nassau Street. James M. Gifford, a former Director in the Northern Bank and counsel for the institution, was testifying when he was asked:

"Who were interested in the purchase of the Robin stock with Mr. Cannon?"

"Mr. Cannon mentioned the name of one gentleman," said Mr. Gifford.

"When this matter was taken up by you with Mr. Cannon about Dec. 20, who did he say was interested with him in the purchase of the stock?"

"I don't want to mention the name so that it will become public," replied Mr. Gifford, but when the inquisitors insisted he said:

"Well, Mr. Cannon mentioned the name of Mr. Schiff. The Mr. Schiff mentioned, I infer, was Mr. Mortimer Schiff."

A creditors' committee has been formed to protect the assets of the Tennessee Packing and Stock Yards Company, a Cummins enterprise, in Nashville, Tenn. The committee is composed of the following: Edward F. Clark, Vice President of the Guardian Trust Company; William H. Taylor, Vice President of the Mercantile National Bank, and Charles H. Zehnder, a Director of the Empire Trust Company. The Equitable Trust Company has been named as depository.

NEW LIBRARY SAFE, DECLARES ENGINEER

Officials and Experts Inspect the Great Structure and Its Multiple Equipment.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FIRE

Ingenious Arrangements for the Selection of Books and Their Delivery to Readers.

Speaking before about 300 engineers of the New York Electrical Society at the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, last night, Frank A. Pattison, the consulting engineer who supervised the electrification of the new Public Library Building, described its electrical equipment in detail and met recent statements that the building is not fireproof with the declaration that its electrical fittings are all sheathed in iron, and the building itself "as safe as any building can be made with the scientific knowledge at hand on this date of April 28, 1911."

Later by special permit of the Directors of the library, the Park Department, the architects and builders, Mr. Pattison led the engineers through the library itself, lighted up in some parts that they might see for themselves the things he had just described to them. They expressed themselves generally in terms of enthusiastic praise over the equipment.

"The electrical equipment of the library," said Mr. Pattison, "is simple throughout, presenting no novelties, and is merely a good illustration of the practical application of electricity. There has been no attempt at the dramatic or melodramatic, no intentional attempt even to burn down the building. We had no trouble at all, except such minor troubles as waiting for seven years for money with which to do things that needed to be done, and other similarly trivial and negligible matters. We started in 1897, and every administration that has come to the city since then has been from Missouri.

"The building now has about 20,000 lights and 700 horse power in motors. In the generation of its electricity the coal is carried in by electrically-driven conveyors to a hopper above the boiler room, from which it is dumped by firemen and weighed while dropping in chutes to the boiler room. In the engine-room are two 800-horse power engines and four dynamos, two of 500 and two of 200 kilowatts. In the oiling system the oil is carried from a central oil tank, used, filtered, and then used again and again, as long as there is life in it.

"Designed though it was in 1897, the building is thoroughly up to date, and when we get through we shall place upon it with absolute confidence the stamp of 1911. There has been a saving of thousands of dollars through the installation of a 250-volt plant. The switchboard, of white marble throughout, contains all the usual switches, 120 feeders for light and power, and a section for storage batteries containing 141 cells, with a capacity for 120 amperes for eight hours. The only novelty about the switchboard is that it will really be used for the purposes for which it is made.

"Every feeder runs from a switchboard in the form of an insulated rod, and all crossing is done in a fireproof box at the top of the board. Each tool is operated by its own individual motor, and every piece of apparatus is cleaned and blown out by compressed air. All the lifting is done by a large fifteen-ton crane.

"Under the head of transmission, I want to answer the question that has often been asked: Are the wires in iron conduits? Every one of them is in an iron conduit, and this applies not only to the wiring in the building itself but in every piece of furniture as well. So that if Providence is kind the building is as safe as any building can be made with the scientific knowledge at hand on this day of April 28, 1911."

"In equipping the building for power we bore in mind that the library is primarily a home for books, and everything was built to make it a comfortable home for books. There are, for example, only three passenger elevators in the whole building. All the others are for books. Books can't walk; people may.

"The building is equipped with a complete printery and bindery, every motion of which is operated by electricity. The books are carried by electricity to their proper positions from the printery and bindery, after they have been repaired, likewise by electricity. The ventilators and book conveyers are all operated by electric power. There is a complete fire alarm system, with an automatic thermostatic fire alarm added to the manual alarm in the sections where the rare books and manuscripts are stored. As time is an essential element in a library, fine clocks, made synchronic electrically, have been set up wherever needed by the public and the attendants. There is also a fine electrical system of watchmen's clocks."

Mr. Pattison described the method that will be used in getting books at the main reading room:

"All you will have to do is to ask at the Catalogue Room for the book you want. There you will receive a number, which you will have to remember, without being bothered by keeping any other matter in mind. Your order will then be placed in a pneumatic tube in the main reading room and sent in a twinkling to the proper place. The pneumatic-tube system is made doubly sure and speedy by a reinforcing system of telephones and electric signals. When your book arrives, by way of electric conveyors and electric lifts, in the main reading room, an electric enunciator flashes your number at the central desk, and you know it's ready for you."

Everwear HOSIERY

For Men, Women and Children

More than any other hose on the market, Everwear Hosiery is a service hose. It has something to offer you. It is a hose with a future before it. It guarantees to wear perfectly for six months. If any holes develop within that time we will replace the defective pair or pairs free of charge. Everwear Hosiery is the most consistently durable hose made, has fine lustre, softness of texture, and costs no more than other hose. In fact it costs a great deal less, for one pair will outlast six of the ordinary kind. Cut out that bi-monthly expenditure for hose and buy Everwear Hosiery—it is the most economical thing you can do.

Saks' Cold Storage for Furs

With such warm days as these, it is positively dangerous to delay any longer the storage of your furs. Moths are busy looking for a summer retreat, and any furs now out of storage imply an invitation which no self-respecting moth can afford to disregard. Drop us a line and we will call for your furs and store them in the new Saks Cold Storage Vaults, first cleaning them by a compressed air process to destroy any moths that may be already there. The charge for this service is nominal compared with the value of your furs, and considering the security which cold storage ensures. The Saks Cold Storage Vaults have only recently been completed and are the latest and best equipped cold storage vaults available.

ROYAL ACADEMY ART LACKS NOVEL THEMES

Exhibition Won't Detract from the Coronation Glories, but Contains Much Good Work.

PORTRAITS CHIEF FEATURE

Sargent's "Archbishop of Canterbury" and Paintings by Shannon and Lavery Are Conspicuous Among Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 28.—The one hundred and forty-third exhibition of the Royal Academy, opened to-day, is not likely to detract from the glories of King George's coronation year. It is more or less the fashion to speak depreciatingly of the Academy, and every second person one meets will say that there is nothing in it worth viewing.

It is true enough that there are no sensational pictures among the 1,945 exhibits but there is plenty of good, sound, solid work, and, in one respect at least, the best traditions of British art are maintained.

This is in the portraits. There are any number of excellent ones; in fact, it is a portrait year.

John S. Sargent is only represented in this category by one canvas—a portrait of the Archbishop of Canterbury, which, while painted with the sure hand of the master, lacks the attractive qualities of some of his other work.

J. J. Shannon and John Lavery have lost none of their cunning, and contribute some noteworthy additions to their respective galleries of fair women, Shannon's canvas of Viscountess Ingestre and her daughter being a particularly striking example of his mastery of shimmering ivory whites, while Mr. Lavery's "Amazon" is an equally remarkable presentment of gray tones.

The latter picture dominates the room in which it occupies the greater portion of one wall. It represents a woman on horseback, in riding costume which, though not exactly conventional, is an adaptation from the modern style. She holds a long lance in her right hand, and sits on her horse as straight as a dart, looking ahead with stern eyes and a hard mouth, ready to do battle. This picture might well be adopted for suffragist banners.

Sir Hubert von Herkomer is represented strongly this year with no less than four portraits, chief among which is one of Admiral Lord Fisher, and another of Lord Rayleigh.

Sir E. J. Poynter, President of the Academy, has a superb portrait of Mrs. Dubose Taylor.

Among half a dozen exhibits Frank Dicksee shows one of the prettiest women in London in his portrait of Mrs. George Prickard.

Sir Luke Fildes leads a trio of exhibits with his portrait of Lady Aird.

The Hon. John Collier shows a very fair woman in a strikingly contrasting black gown. Mr. Collier has disappointed lovers of the puzzle picture this year.

Byam Shaw has also failed to titillate the fancy of those who think the last word in art is a kind of pigs in clover. The conundrum his "Adam and Eve and Serpent" presents is no curiosity.

There is one canvas which stands out by the warmth and richness of its coloring. It is "Breakfast in the Harem, Cairo," by F. A. Bridgeman, an American artist, whose Arab and Egyptian scenes won him a high reputation even among Continental colorists.

Sir Lawrence Alma Tadema has two small canvases of girls carrying flowers.

The subject-pictures are few and far between; so much so that it would seem that the Hanging Committee this year were minded to demonstrate that British art aspires to higher things than soap advertisement labels. It can not, however, be said that the almost complete absence of this style of picture adds to the interest of the walls.

Ex-Santo Domingo President Jailed.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 28.—Gen. Carlos F. Morales, former President of Santo Domingo, and Mauricio Jimenez, former Vice President, were arraigned to-day, charged with planning a filibustering expedition against Santo Domingo, and held for the Grand Jury. In default of $2,500 bail bonds they were sent to jail.

SUFFRAGISTS QUOTE GREEK.

Words of Great Classical Dramatist Will Be Displayed in Parade.

All the twenty-six members of the Judiciary Committee of the New York Legislature, thirteen Senators and thirteen Assemblymen, will have their names printed in large and conspicuous letters on a big banner to be carried in the suffrage parade on May 6. Underneath the names will be a quotation from Aristophanes, also in large letters, but in the original Greek that the members of the Judiciary may not have their feelings too badly hurt. And this will be the quotation as it reads in English:

"If any one plot against the cause of woman may he miserably perish, both himself and his household."

Aristophanes, who was a good woman suffragist over 1,500 years ago, voices exactly the feelings of the women of to-day, and if—well, the woman won't tell all the things they are going to do if they don't get their bill voted out of committee at the next opportunity.

Handsome new silk banners are coming in every day for the parade, which will outdo anything of the kind that has ever been undertaken in New York. The banners of the milliners, laundresses, and cooks are among the best. There is a big burned orange banner which has come from the Western women voters. On it are the words, "Votes for Women," and underneath in smaller letters, "On the Way."

A Spring bride-to-be will be in the procession, and she is using her influence to have the Fifth Avenue firm which is making her trousseau decorate its shop for the parade. The women are asking a like favor of all the Fifth Avenue people, from Fifty-seventh Street down. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hazard of Syracuse. The whole family will come to the city in order to march in the procession, and they will bring a delegation of Syracuse women with them.

It was the typewriting machine which practically opened the doors of business houses to women, and the first woman to use a typewriter will march in the procession. This is Mrs. M. A. Saunders, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Balch, at 545 West 148th Street. Mrs. Balch is leader for the Woman Suffrage Party in the Twenty-third Assembly District.

HOSTILE TO FOREIGN LOANS.

Chinese Feeling Is So Pronounced That Hukuan Railway Deal Is Held Up

PEKING, April 28.—Hostility toward foreign loans is assuming a serious phase. Members of both the National and Provincial Assemblies are holding meetings here and elsewhere, demanding the immediate summoning of the national body and insisting that the Government no longer has the right to contract loans in other countries without the approval of the representatives of the people.

The Hukuan Railway loan, which the bankers and the Government are prepared to sign, is being held in abeyance because of the popular opposition.

CHOISEUL BLACKMAIL CASE.

Tscherniadieff Arraigned in London on American Duchess's Charge.

LONDON, April 28.—Alexandre Tscherniadieff was arraigned in the Old Bailey Court to-day charged with an attempt to blackmail the Duchess de Choiseul-Preslin, formerly Mrs. Charles Hamilton Paine of Boston.

The only new evidence offered was that of George Rodier of Paris, who testified that the defendant had tried, through him, to obtain $30,000 for the delivery of letters claimed to have been written by the Duchess to "Count" De Aulby de Gatigny.

PIRATES KIDNAP STOKER.

Hold Him as Hostage Against Punishment for Looting Liner Asia.

PEKING, April 28. — Reports from Shanghai say that Arundel, the stoker who was captured by Chinese pirates after the wreck of the steamer Asia, is being held as a hostage by the Fukienese buccaneers.

Apparently their object is to protect their villages against punishment for piracy.

Russia Grants Privilege to Jews.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—Imperial sanction has been granted the Governor of Yenisei in Asiatic Russia, East Siberia, to allow the Jewish inhabitants of Siberia to use the curative waters near Minusinsk for a term of two months upon the condition that they are provided with medical certificates and forbidden to engage in trade while taking the cure.

Czar Receives New York Y. M. C. A. Men.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—James Stokes of New York, who founded the Miyak, the Russian Young Men's Christian Association, and Franklin A. Gaylord, also of the New York association, were presented to the Emperor yesterday by Senator Mestchansoff, the President of the Miyak.

LONDON ACCLAIMS ARBITRATION IDEA

Guildhall Meeting, Addressed by Asquith and Balfour, Pledges Aid to Effect Treaty.

BRITISH DEMOCRACY VOICED

Premier Says Taft Sowed Seed on Prepared Ground, but That Treaty Would Not Mean an Alliance.

LONDON, April 28. — The venerable Guildhall, as Premier Asquith described London's City Hall, without whose seal of approval no popular movement in the metropolis is really launched, was the scene to-day of a meeting for the adoption of resolutions pledging the city to the support of Anglo-American complete arbitration. The gathering was more representative of the democracy than of the aristocracy of England.

Mr. Asquith and Mr. Balfour spoke eloquently of the arbitration treaty first proposed by President Taft, declaring that it would mark a new era in civilization, but both pointedly disclaimed that a peace treaty between Great Britain and the United States, providing for the submission of all differences to arbitration, would mean an alliance between the two countries. Mr. Balfour warned his hearers, than whom, he said, none in the world felt more the burden of preparing for war, that the treaty would not mean the immediate reduction of armaments.

Premier Asquith said in part:

"The unique situation which we have met to recognize and welcome has not been organized or engineered by the apparatus of diplomacy. The seed which the President of the United States cast fell on ground prepared to receive it. That which a few years ago, even a few months ago, might have been regarded as the dream of idealists, has not only passed into the domain of practical statesmanship, but has become the settled purpose of two great democracies. The profound significance of the new departure is that, between Great Britain and the United States—whatever the gravity of the issue, the magnitude of the interests involved, or the poignancy of the feelings it arouses—there will be a definite abandonment of war as a possible solution, the substitution of argument for force, and the supersession by judicial methods of the old ordeal of battle."

"But we may hope and believe that other things will follow. It is not for us to dictate or to preach to other nations, but if the United States and Great Britain renounce war, a step will be taken of immeasurable and incomparable significance in the onward progress of humanity."

Mr. Asquith then moved the following resolution:

> That this meeting of citizens of London, assembled in the Guildhall, cordially welcomes the proposal of the United States, in favor of a general treaty of arbitration between that country and the British Empire, and pledges its support to the principles of such a treaty as serving the highest interests of the two nations and as tending to promote the peace of the world.

The resolution was received with tremendous applause.

Mr. Balfour seconded it, declaring that Anglo-American arbitration seemed nearer fruition at this moment than ever before. Some regarded it, he said, as an idealistic dream, and believed that when the clash of conflicting interests came all paper barriers would be swept away.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, Chief Rabbi Adler of the United Hebrew Congregations of the British Empire, and the Rev. Frederick Brotherton Meyer, Minister of Regent's Park Chapel, who spoke for the free churches, seconded the resolution, which was adopted enthusiastically and unanimously.

WOOLWORTH BUILDING
NEW YORK

We have been awarded the contract to erect the mammoth Woolworth Building, to cover the block front on Broadway between Barclay Street and Park Place.

For a year or more, the Owner, Mr. Frank W. Woolworth, and the Architect, Mr. Cass Gilbert, have been engaged in a searching investigation of the qualifications of the various contractors who were seeking this work. We know of no instance where more care was exercised in the choice of a general contractor, and we cannot but regard our selection with a mingled sense of responsibility and pride.

The Woolworth Building is no ordinary enterprise. Located on the principal thoroughfare of the largest and most important city of the Western Hemisphere, it will, when finished, be the tallest and in many ways the greatest building of its kind in the world, and will stand as a permanent monument to the courage and foresight of the owner.

Mr. Woolworth might have been content to rest on his laurels and enjoy the fruits of his fortune. He prefers, however, to utilize his great wealth and ability for the creating of a structure which will be an ornament to the city, a source of inspiration to those who work and visit there, and a very potent factor in contributing to the livelihood and welfare of many people; for all of which the community owes Mr. Woolworth a debt of gratitude.

Meanwhile, the Architect, Mr. Cass Gilbert, is applying himself to the work with a very earnest appreciation of its magnitude. Indeed, half of his work is done—the creative half. For, he has already built the Woolworth Building from cellar to roof in embryo. And now, under his guidance and direction, like clay in the potter's hands, the Woolworth Building will rise majestically to completion and will shed further lustre on the name of an architect who is acknowledged to be in the forefront of his distinguished profession.

For ourselves, we approach the work before us with the confidence born of past successes, and we pledge ourselves to conduct the Woolworth operation in a manner that will justify our selection, not only in the final analysis, but from day to day.

The Testimony of Subscribers

WHEN Napoleon was awakened on the eve of Austerlitz by a false alarm that the Russians were attacking, it was for the continuous roll of musketry and not for the heavy booming of artillery that he listened. In the same way, it is not the endorsements of the scholar and of the specialist, unanimous though these have been, which have finally decided the success of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica as an efficiency appliance for busy men, but the consensus of opinion of early subscribers who, with the volumes in their possession, are applying them daily to their necessities. The enthusiasm of the market place rather than the deliberate approval of the study is the motive force behind the success of "the greatest co-operative enterprise of popular culture of the age."

The New Encyclopaedia Britannica is a Complete and Modern Exposition of Learning, Experience and Activity, Multinational in Its Contributors, and Attains in the Novel India Paper Format New Levels of Usefulness and Charm while Conforming to the Highest Standards of Typography, Binding and Illustration.

THE NEW INDIA PAPER FLEXIBLE BINDING FORMAT

From Subscriber No. 51: "The opaqueness of the India paper has appealed to me greatly."

From Subscriber No. 2328: "I am exceedingly pleased with the style, workmanship, and especially the India paper."

From Subscriber No. 1381: "The paper although thin does not show through from side to side, so that it has all the advantages of lightness and small bulk, without any disadvantages."

From Subscriber No. 268: "The mechanical side of the edition is a pleasure; and I congratulate you on the appearance of the books, and the idea of printing them on the thin paper which renders them so easy to handle."

From Subscriber No. 272: "In paper, printing and binding it is all that could be desired."

From Subscriber No. 1106: "Please accept my congratulations on the new Britannica. Your happy selection of the size of the volumes, the excellence of the paper and print, and their pleasing appearance as books are things which I had expected."

From Subscriber No. 576: "The India paper and flexible sheep binding are a great success."

From Subscriber No. 2095: "The India paper and limp leather binding would in themselves be enough to warrant any one discarding the old-fashioned books."

From Subscriber No. 323: "With the Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica on India paper I could be a civilized man and up-to-date and moderately reconciled to a hard fate even if alone on a desert isle. But I should have to pick out an India paper set from the wreckage; the India paper makes your book what no encyclopaedia worth mentioning has been hitherto—a comfortable book to associate with and live with. I am growing very chummy with the Encyclopaedia Britannica. With gratitude, I am,...."

From Subscriber No. 1026: "Particularly noteworthy is the art of the bookmaker with respect to the India paper and the binding."

From Subscriber No. 269: "The first impression created upon my mind by an examination of the new limp leather edition is that it is the most attractive reference book ever printed, both in appearance and contents."

From Subscriber No. 3889: "The paper, print and binding combine to make this monumental work a masterpiece of bookmaking in the twentieth century."

From Subscriber No. 2432: "The convenience of the India paper edition is a great improvement over the old style volumes."

From Subscriber No. 40: "The India paper format transforms a cumbrous volume into a handy, friendly book, which it is a pleasure to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest."

From Subscriber No. 2785: "A superb example of bookmaking, and one which cannot help commending itself most fully to every purchaser."

From Subscriber No. 1899: "In sheer physical convenience this edition does for the acquisition of information a service similar to that which the electric car has done for rapid transit."

From Subscriber No. 2318: "The compactness and lightness of the volumes are particularly gratifying. They occupy only a small fraction of the space which the ordinary volumes would require; while the flexible covers and light weight are permanent advantages when in practical use."

From Subscriber No. 52: "By reason of the thinness and lightness of the volumes, which can be held without the use of a desk or book-holder, I expect to use them ten times as much as I did the volumes of the ninth edition."

From Subscriber No. 575: "The bulk of the India paper is such a comfort in handling the volumes, and the lessened space they occupy is a great consideration!"

From Subscriber No. 2175: "The volumes I have, being printed on India paper with flexible leather binding, make them so light and so easy to handle that it is a pleasure, instead of a burden, to take one and examine its contents. My ideal of what an encyclopaedia should be is the Eleventh Edition of the Britannica."

From Subscriber No. 1653: "The new edition, in its India paper format, is the IDEAL ENCYCLOPAEDIA."

From Subscriber No. 915: "I wish further to compliment you upon the India paper edition; it makes the work more enjoyable for reading as well as for reference."

From Subscriber No. 802: "My sheep-India copy is a marvel of convenience, lightness and beauty."

From Subscriber No. 1076: "The edition is a marvel of the bookmaker's art."

From Subscriber No. 3663: "When I compare the new Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica on India paper and flexible sheep binding with the ponderous volumes of the Ninth Edition it seems as though you had actually accomplished the impossible."

From Subscriber No. 1265: "To me the most striking and, at the same time, the most novel, feature about the India paper edition is its handiness. We would go to the heavy volumes of former editions and of other encyclopaedias for informatin. The handiness of this edition tempts us to go to it for recreation and pleasure as well."

UP-TO-DATE

From Subscriber No. 1026: "Particularly noteworthy is the modernization of the contents."

From Subscriber No. 2584: "So far as I am competent to judge this work, it comes up to the ideal of an encyclopaedia, as a survey of all human knowledge, accurate, full and up to date."

From Subscriber No. 1403: "It gives the best and the last word on the advance of knowledge."

From Subscriber No. 3816: "The last word on everything new."

From Subscriber No. 4016: "I have examined the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and find no decadence in this great work, which has been broadened and corrected to a date late enough to include the census of 1910 in its American statistics."

From Subscriber No. 2724: "Having the old Ninth Edition gives me a good chance to compare the old and the new. They are as different as can be, and the advance, in every way, of the Eleventh Edition over the Ninth is really astonishing."

From Subscriber No. 5467: "Comparing some articles with those under the same title in the old encyclopaedia shows a distinct and valuable advance—notably those on Charles I., Cromwell and Ethics. To have such a discussion of important themes in a well-digested and condensed form, with a good bibliography, is of incalculable value to busy men."

From Subscriber No. 4117: "I have begun to read articles on subjects with which I am familiar, and I desire to say that they are carefully edited, with valuable references to the latest literature and entirely up to date."

From Subscriber No. 308: "There are few facts more astounding in the history of science than the large number of new subjects which have developed between the appearance of the Ninth and Eleventh Editions of this great work. I refer to such subjects as the Theory of Groups, Physical Chemistry, Radio-Activity, Conduction of Electricity, Electric Waves, etc. One's imagination is tempted to draw a picture of what the twelfth edition will be like,—an impossible problem."

From Subscriber No. 52: "The method of producing the work without extending it through years, as heretofore, makes the volumes additionally attractive on account of the feeling that they are wholly up to date."

From Subscriber No. 5856: "The articles which I have examined show that its information is put compactly and is brought down to the latest results of scholarly opinion."

From Subscriber No. 4513: "I beg to say that, having used the Ninth Edition of this great work for many years, I am convinced that the new Eleventh Edition is as far in advance of that as the learning of the twentieth century outstrips that of the nineteenth."

From Subscriber No. 342: "As an editor I have been particularly impressed by the very recent information contained in the volumes. For instance, Volume 13 records the death of Julia Ward Howe, which occurred as late as October 17, 1910. Other articles examined, like those of the flying machine, are just as up to date in information. The editorial and mechanical ability required to publish fourteen volumes of 1,000 pages each, including information up to three months of date of delivery of the bound volumes, is one of the most extraordinary accomplishments in the history of the editorial and publishing business."

From Subscriber No. 1446: "Not the least striking feature of what you have accomplished is the remarkable fact that you have been able to offer this edition in its entirety in place of spreading it over a period of years, which detracts so much from the effectiveness of such a publication."

From Subscriber No. 915: "I consider it little short of marvelous that you could embody so many late changes in the book, particularly census reports and other information that could not have been in your hands until the latter part of last year."

From Subscriber No. 1210: "The fact that contemporary events and persons still living are included is most satisfactory."

THE BINDINGS

From Subscriber No. 6841: "The mechanical preparation is perfect. Paper, type and binding are all that could be desired by the most fastidious reader."

From Subscriber No. 49: "I find that I turn to the encyclopaedia much more frequently than I should do if the books were heavier and thicker. The fact that they lie flat when opened on the desk, or may be opened back and held in one hand, makes the volumes even easier to read than the less pliable small book. The India paper, furthermore, reproduces cuts more admirably than I had anticipated."

From Subscriber No. 2512: "It is only in their use that the volumes can be appreciated; and the India paper and flexible binding make their consultation a matter of ease and comfort as compared with the old style."

From Subscriber No. 3164: "The volumes are perfection in writing, editing, printing, paper and binding. They are charming to look at, easy to hold, and may be read with pleasure."

From Subscriber No. 1417: "The India paper with the superb binding makes the set of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica a 'thing of beauty.'"

From Subscriber No. 3296: "The flexible leather binding and the India paper make an exceedingly convenient combination and, if the durability of this form is what it is hoped to be, there certainly is a new era in the manufacture of large volumes."

From Subscriber No. 2559: "The Eleventh Edition of the Britannica, printed on India paper, and bound in flexible sheepskin, is at once a marvelous concentrated work of information, in a convenient and substantial form."

From Subscriber No. 2584: "The work of the printer and binder is worthy of all praise; the volumes are of a size and merit possessed by no other work of reference with which I am acquainted; and the appearance of the sheep binding is a credit to any library."

From Subscriber No. 2329: "The new Britannica, on India or Bible paper, and its flexible binding, is perfection."

ILLUSTRATIONS

From Subscriber No. 355: "Even when not investigating any particular subject, I find a great deal of pleasure in simply going through a volume to admire the press work and the illustrations."

From Subscriber No. 1416: "From the bookmaker's standpoint, the work is everything that could be desired, in type, illustrations and press work, and the India paper edition represents such advantages as overcome by far all possible objections."

From Subscriber No. 386: "Good illustrations and maps.

"Greater convenience of edition on India paper for use and on shelves.

"Unusually good manufacture, clear print and excellent binding in full sheep."

From Subscriber No. 342: "The maps and illustrations, particularly the illustrations in color, are remarkably fine. For instance, the eight pages in color illustrating thirty-three specimens of pottery are the most beautiful examples of color work that I have ever seen in any work of reference, and make the article on 'Ceramics' alone worth the price of the volume in which it is published."

From Subscriber No. 955: "I scarcely know which feature to most admire—the lightness of the thousand-page volumes, the quality of the paper, the clearness of the print, the quality of the cuts and other illustrations, the completeness and up-to-dateness of the maps, the beauty and flexibility of the binding—all seem too good to be real."

From Subscriber No. 3380: "The typography, the illustrations and the map work are all excellent, while too much cannot be said for the flexible bound India paper impression, securing to the reader, as it does, in handling a comfort hitherto unknown."

From Subscriber No. 1417: "While formerly the volumes of the Britannica did not commend themselves to me except for occasional reference, I find the new edition on India paper so attractive—not only in regard to outward appearance, convenience in handling, quality of illustration and clearness of type, but also on account of the satisfactory treatment and readable style of the contents—that I take up a volume whenever leisure permits me."

From Subscriber No. 2160: "I have never seen anything in the way of printing or illustrating which is its equal, and as for convenience in handling, it cannot be excelled in my opinion."

TYPOGRAPHY

From Subscriber No. 1388: "I am very much delighted with my new Britannica and particularly with the India paper, which makes the volumes so easy to hold. I am also much pleased with the clear type, the excellent print and the clear cut heading of each subject."

From Subscriber No. 3816: "Plain, legible type, although compact and no space wasted with senseless illustrations."

From Subscriber No. 3298: "When I decided on the India paper edition, I feared that the type would show through the paper, and make it difficult to read, but I find that such is not the case and the books are a delight both to the hand and eye. I consider them the acme of perfection in the art of bookmaking."

From Subscriber No. 425: "I wish to express my appreciation of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica. It is most attractive in every way, especially in its form, binding, paper and printing."

From Subscriber No. 3634: "The type is a delight. The paper is very strong and opaque for its thickness and the convenient thinness of the volumes is a revelation."

From Subscriber No. 1041: "Aside from being a book of reference, it is a work of art, both as to typography and binding."

From Subscriber No. 16: "I am much pleased with both the lightness of the new volumes of the Britannica and also with the clearness of the impression on each page."

From Subscriber No. 1171: "The workmanship, type, binding and paper are a perfect marvel to me and I do not understand how on such thin paper they can have been printed without having the type show through."

From Subscriber No. 3725: "One is at once impressed with the legibility and perfection of the printing and the ease with which the books may be handled."

From Subscriber No. 204: "The appearance of the book and the typography appear to be excellent and the use of the thin paper makes it most convenient for consultation."

From Subscriber No. 764: "The Britannica on India paper embodies the perfection of the art of printing and binding."

AUTHORITATIVE

From Subscriber No. 3296: "I am convinced that the Britannica is indispensable to the student, particularly because of the high scholarship and great research disclosed by many of the special articles which it contains and the counterparts of which cannot be found elsewhere."

From Subscriber No. 3380: "When the reader has finished the perusal of an article, he feels that he has consulted an authority and not a mere compilation."

From Subscriber No. 839: "So far as I have had reason to consult the volumes already issued I have found the information copious and authoritative as well as most conveniently arranged."

From Subscriber No. 955: "The completeness of the special articles and the qualifications of their authors to write with authority on the subjects of which they treat are, of course, beyond my power to praise. The Cambridge University Press has done a great work and done it splendidly."

From Subscriber No. 2979: "On medical topics I find it is not only authoritative and up to date but, on certain lines, far in advance of my text books. Before looking elsewhere I shall in the future consult its pages."

From Subscriber No. 5850: "I have found it a never-failing source of authentic information and a daily intellectual delight."

From Subscriber No. 2570: "The articles are so complete and yet so concise, so well written and so manifestly authoritative, that one completes an article with a degree of satisfaction not usual when seeking information from common sources."

From Subscriber No. 2876: "One accepts the high rank of scholarship of the Britannica as a matter of course, from past history and from the sponsorship of Cambridge for the new edition."

From Subscriber No. 1939: "I feel that in possessing your valuable work I have an entire library and that with respect to authority it outweighs all other works of a similar character."

From Subscriber No. 308: "The feeling which one has that in consulting these volumes he will obtain an absolutely authoritative opinion is alone worth the cost of the work."

COMPREHENSIVE

From Subscriber No. 3359: "The new Britannica is certainly the most perfect course of general information on all subjects that I have ever seen."

From Subscriber No. 418: "As an army officer, I find it invaluable by reason of the wide range of the masterful articles on military subjects written by authorities known and recognized throughout the entire military world."

From Subscriber No. 3816: "Packed, pressed down, running over with authentic, authoritative, up-to-date information."

From Subscriber No. 272: "No other work of reference for many years to come is likely to offer such a volume of accurate and reliable information in every department of human knowledge in such a compact and convenient form. No library should be without it. In fact, it would form the very best foundation for a library."

From Subscriber No. 808: "The comprehensiveness of each article, written as it is by a man who is an authority on the subject, is an assurance to all of the imperial position of the Britannica in the world of encyclopaedias."

From Subscriber No. 802: "Universally possessed, it ought to educate the race. It is the people's university."

From Subscriber No. 386: "Comprehensive, sufficient and fresh treatment of topics.

"Arrangement of matter more convenient than a series of long articles."

From Subscriber No. 2095: "I consider the new Britannica the most complete work of reference I have ever seen."

From Subscriber No. 779: "The first edition of an encyclopaedia I have ever seen that meets all requirements judged from all points of view. A very broad but true statement."

From Subscriber No. 6374: "It is so comprehensive upon any subject that one desires information upon, and the information given is so reliable, that any more extended work is not necessary."

From Subscriber No. 4332: "The Eleventh Edition of the Britannica surpasses all other editions and all other encyclopaedias, and is a marvelously good book, readable, comprehensive, world-wide. It is the first book to consult, the one book to own, if you can own but one."

From Subscriber No. 4909: "I can express my appreciation of the new Britannica no better than by saying it is without exception the most complete work of its kind published."

From Subscriber No. 2629: "It seems incredible, yet it is a fact, that substantially everything that mankind knows on every subject is embodied in this work."

From Subscriber No. 2570: "The articles are so complete and yet so concise, so well written and so manifestly authoritative that one completes an article with a degree of satisfaction not usual when seeking information from common sources."

From Subscriber No. 3725: "It is a complete library in itself. Practically every field of human thought and endeavor is thoroughly embraced."

AMERICAN SUBJECTS ADEQUATELY TREATED

From Subscriber No. 51: "On opening the volumes, I have been especially attracted by the treatment of the American Civil War, its battles and its captains, and by such biographical articles as those on Alexander Hamilton and Horace Greeley. The description of certain of the smaller cities and towns of the United States seemed so full and detailed that I wondered how, if similar cities were treated in like fashion, even the 28 volumes of the Britannica would suffice for a gazetteer only."

From Subscriber No. 3306: "The old edition was an English work with incidental American matters. The American encyclopaedias are American, with incidental English matters. The new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica is equally English and American. Pre-eminent in both English and American, they are united on terms of perfect equality."

From Subscriber No. 3052: "The paper on North American Indians is a distinct advance on anything I know in any encyclopaedia. I do not expect to approve of everything printed in the set, and possibly sometimes I may even be right in that attitude, but I think it is the best piece of encyclopaedia making we have ever had."

From Subscriber No. 3725: "I was especially pleased to find that the number of American contributors has been greatly increased and that the Encyclopaedia Britannica is now truly international."

From Subscriber No. 4013: "It is an admirable work, considerably more readable as a whole than the Ninth and Tenth Editions, from the fact that it includes many more subjects of interest to the general public than before, besides much matter concerning the United States which had not previously appeared. In fact, it might be considered an American work. Some of the more technical matter has been somewhat abridged, more than offset, however, by the gain in generality and popularity."

From Subscriber No. 1648: "It is the best encyclopaedia so far as my knowledge goes. I have compared a number of articles in a well-known American encyclopaedia and found the Britannica more satisfactory."

LITERARY CHARM

From Subscriber No. 2979: "I found the contents so absorbing that I have devoted my entire time for miscellaneous reading to them."

From Subscriber No. 2559: "While traveling I carry a volume with me and find it a splendid companion."

From Subscriber No. 1899: "Some of us were a bit skeptical about the suggestion that people would read an encyclopaedia for pleasure; but I find myself doing it. The difference in this respect from it and a pile of good magazines is that in it one knows where to look for what he wishes to read."

From Subscriber No. 1801: "The work has a charm which seems to me quite unique among reference books."

From Subscriber No. 2175: "The first fourteen volumes I received some weeks ago, and, as I have taken the individual volumes from the shelf from time to time, I have been amazed and gratified to find that in this edition you have comprehended a concise, accurate and fascinating treatment of all activities of mankind both past and present."

From Subscriber No. 2288: "You have introduced us to the delightful pastime of browsing at ease, instead of searching laboriously through the fields in which is the sum of human knowledge."

From Subscriber No. 3247: "I believe that a great step has been taken toward the ultimate goal of encyclopaedia production, namely, that henceforth the average reader will pick up the Encyclopaedia Britannica and read for pleasure rather than delve among a number of enormous tomes for information on some subject in which he has already become interested."

From Subscriber No. 52: "In fact, they are so interesting that (I have been amused to see) my wife begins to read them through, though I fear she occasionally turns several pages at a time, especially when mathematical subjects are reached."

From Subscriber No. 5467: "I have this criticism to make of the new Britannica, that the articles which I have so far read have been so attractive in style and substance, that I am tempted to spend too much time over them."

MINIMUM PRICES UNTIL MAY 31st

Up to and including May 31st next (when the advance-of-publication prices must be withdrawn) applications will be accepted at the rate of $4.00 (India Paper $4.25) a volume (cloth) instead of $7.50, which will be the ultimate price of the new edition in its cheapest form, as it was the original price at which the volumes of the 9th edition were sold.

The work, in 28 volumes and Index, is in two forms:—

(1) On INDIA PAPER (very light and opaque) in Three Styles of Binding: CLOTH, FULL FLEXIBLE SHEEPSKIN, and FULL FLEXIBLE MOROCCO, the volumes each ONE INCH THICK (about 960 to 1,060 pages).

The India paper impression bound in either Full Sheep or Full Morocco is strongly recommended.

(2) On ordinary book-paper in Three Styles of Binding: CLOTH, HALF MOROCCO, and FULL MOROCCO, the volumes each 2¾ inches thick (about 960 to 1,060 pages).

Illustrated Prospectus (40 pages), 56 specimen pages on India paper, 4 specimen plates and form of application showing the special advance terms, will be sent upon receipt of request.

SEE HARM TO CITY IN GAYNOR CHARTER

Plan to Take Power from Controller Severely Attacked Before Legislative Committee.

MAYOR MADE ABSOLUTE

Auditing of Accounts Should Be Left with Elective Officer, Legislators Are Told.

The first hearing on the draft of the city Charter, put together by Corporation Counsel according to the ideas of Mayor Gaynor, was held yesterday afternoon in the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall before the Joint Legislative Committee on Cities, representing both houses at Albany. Senator Cullen of Kings, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Cities, and Assemblyman Foley of Manhattan, Chairman of the Assembly Committee, presided together over the session. The result was upward of two hours of solid criticism of the Gaynor Charter and a single voice—that of Frank Smith, who quit his post as head bookkeeper of the Finance Department after Controller Prendergast came into office—raised in support of the document.

The section brought up for consideration yesterday was that affecting the Finance Department of the city. Controller Prendergast had to keep an engagement to speak in Wilmington, Del., and Deputy Controller Mathewson appeared against the provisions of the Gaynor Charter. Mr. Prendergast will appear before the committee at a session next Friday to express his views. The other speakers against the Charter were L. A. Tanzer, representing the Citizens' Union, and Henry Bruere of the Bureau of Municipal Research.

Mr. Tanzer pointed out that the powers of the Controller, which it was proposed to transfer to the Corporation Counsel, relating particularly to the audit of claims against the city, were to be taken from an elective officer and given to one appointed by the Chief Executive. The people at the last election, he said, chose the present Controller, knowing that under the existing Charter he would exercise these powers of audit. To take them away from him at this time was, in the opinion of the speaker, a violation of the expressed will of the people, was vicious in principle, and suggestive of the idea commonly known in legislative circles as "ripper bills." Specifically, Mr. Tanzer attacked the provisions which placed in the control of the Corporation Counsel the settlement of a great number of classes of litigated claims, and then required additionally that all claims not adjusted by the Controller within thirty days be sent to the Corporation Counsel for settlement.

Mr. Tanzer declared that this was subversive of the principle of separate audits, which was considered universally the best practice in municipal affairs, and had the effect of enabling the Executive to pay out the city's money without any check by way of audit from a co-ordinate branch of the City Government. This, in the opinion of the Citizens' Union representative, was contrary to the first principles of democratic government.

"The concentration of authority, toward which most municipal legislation has recently been tending," continued the speaker, "will doubtless find many to defend it, but that does not mean that you will make the Mayor a dictator or king. The more power you place in the Mayor's hands, the more need will you have under any administration for an independent audit."

Senator Saxe expressed his inability to understand where the power of the Mayor came in if the auditing function was transferred to the Corporation Counsel. Mr. Tanzer responded that the Corporation Counsel was the Mayor's direct appointee and was subject to removal by the Mayor and thus under the Mayor's immediate control. Mr. Saxe was silent, but Senator Rose of Newburgh asked several questions, which developed the proposition more clearly.

"What is the purpose of the Controller's office under the present charter?" asked Mr. Rose.

"To watch and safeguard the city's finances," replied Mr. Tanzer.

"And what is the effect upon the Controller's office of the Gaynor charter?" Mr. Rose continued.

"It is to render the Controller a useless official in respect of many of his most important duties," was the answer.

"Then," said Senator Rose, "the whole proposition is whether we should tie the hands of the Controller so that he would be of practically no use to the city."

Mr. Tanzer agreed that this was the case.

Deputy Controller Mathewson pointed out that irrespective of the specific classes of claims, which under the Gaynor charter are referred to the Corporation Counsel for settlement, it was a fact that a comparatively small proportion of the general claims against the city were subject to settlement within thirty days. Therefore, he declared, the office of the Controller was being cut down until he became nothing more than the head bookkeeper of the city.

Mr. Mathewson attacked this as involving the abolition of the inter-departmental checks, which were necessary for efficient government. As a further evidence of the operation of the same principle under the Mayor's charter he cited the fact that the approval of the Controller is no longer to be necessary in the acquisition of real estate, and that the certificate of the Board of Estimate engineer is made final in this matter. The handling of the collection of the city's revenues Mr. Mathewson classed in the same category, and he criticised further the proposal to transfer the functions of collection now exercised by the Controller to the City Chamberlain on its own account.

This, declared the speaker, would be supplanting one illogical situation by another, even more illogical, for if it was concededly cut of the line of correct business practice for the auditing officer of the city to collect the city's revenues, it was even more abhorrent to the proper relationships that the functions of collection should be transferred to the custodian of the city's funds, in other words, its banker. Mr. Mathewson said that he was quite willing that the collection of the revenue should be transferred from the Controller's office to a new department or bureau, and he expressed also entire willingness to have a requirement made that the Corporation Counsel and the Controller should jointly be called upon for the audit of claims against the city. This as a matter of fact, he added, was the practice to-day, and it had worked with entire satisfaction.

Mr. Mathewson also attacked the proposal to transfer the Bureau of Municipal Investigation and Statistics, which has to do essentially with the work of the Controller as a member of the Board of Estimate, over into the office of the Commissioner of Accounts, an appointee of the Mayor. He said he could see no logical basis for this transfer, nor could he find justification for taking the Bureau of Real Estate out of the Controller's office and placing it under the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. Mr. Mathewson contended that such a transfer would tend to interfere with the responsibility of the Bureau of Real Estate, for he believed that such a bureau, under the control of four or five men serving as a committee, never receives the attention that it does when one man is directly responsible.

Henry Bruere agreed generally with the criticisms made by Mr. Mathewson and Mr. Tanzer, and went on to say particularly with reference to the removal of the audit of claims from the Controller's office, that most of the improvements of municipal methods which the last four years in New York have witnessed had originated in the Controller's office under the administrations of Mr. Metz and Mr. Prendergast, because the Controller had passing before him such a wide range of municipal business. The speaker declared that if the power of audit were taken away it would be just as well to take away the Controller's power to prescribe accounts, because he would not have the basis of knowledge required to do the latter intelligently.

Frank Smith, who spoke in favor of the charter, prefaced his remarks by saying that he had spent twenty years in the Finance Department. One of the members of the committee asked him if he was still there, and he replied:

"No, I have got a better job. I have temporarily transferred my affections to another department—you will note that I said temporarily."

Mr. Smith spoke briefly in favor of a general restriction of the powers of the Controller in the matter of audit. He is at present Chief Clerk of the Court of Special Sessions in Brooklyn.

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH.

St. Bartholomew's, in Elmhurst, to be Dedicated To-morrow.

St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church in Elmhurst, Borough of Queens, will be dedicated to-morrow by Bishop McDonnell. It has a frontage of about fifty feet in Fourth Street near Whitney Avenue, the principal thoroughfare in Elmhurst, and extends back over 125 feet. It is built of light pressed brick with terra cotta and sandstone trimmings and is considered one of the finest Catholic churches on Long Island. The large stained glass windows, imported from Munich, and the thirty smaller windows are all gifts from members of the congregation and church societies. The pews, altar railing and the other interior woodwork is oak with an old English finish. There are three exits, a large one in the front and one on either side near the altar rail. The Rev. Jeremiah J. Heafy has been rector of the parish since its organization in 1906, and the steady growth of the parish and the completion of the new edifice have been largely due to his untiring efforts and the co-operation of the various church societies. At the start the services were held in the Union League Clubhouse, which soon becoming too small for the growing congregation, they were transferred to the Baptist Church in Whitney Avenue, which was generously loaned by the society. The services have been held in the basement of the new edifice since its completion. The membership has now more than reached the 750 mark and the value of the church property is close on $50,000. On Sunday the Right Rev. Mgr. Eugene J. Donnelly of St. Michael's Church, Flushing, will be celebrant of the dedication mass, and the sermon will be preached by the Rev. John L. Belford, rector of the Church of the Nativity.

HELD AS BLACK-HAND WRITER

Postal Inspectors Testify Against Detective in Scott Mausoleum Case.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Evidence tending to show that Charles Franklin, manager of the Philadelphia branch of the Perkins Detective Agency, was the writer of the "black hand" letters sent to Charles H. Strong of Erie, Penn., was offered at a hearing here to-day before United States Commissioner Craig. Franklin was held in $2,500 bail to await the action of the Federal Grand Jury in the Erie district.

The postal authorities at to-day's hearing made public for the first time the evidence on which they had arrested the heads of the Perkins agency in Indianapolis and in this city on charges of conspiring to use the mails to defraud.

Mr. Strong described how, on Feb. 8, he had found the mausoleum of his father-in-law, William L. Scott, torn open and desecrated. He and his daughter had visited the cemetery that night after a telephone message had been received by Mrs. Strong.

The Perkins agency was employed to find the culprits, and on Feb. 13 Mr. Strong received a "black hand" letter in which a threat was made that if $50,000 was not left at a certain place the mausoleum would be blown up.

Postal Inspector Cortelyou told of summoning Franklin to his office in this city on April 15. He described how he had Franklin write four copies of the black hand letter which he had dictated to him. Two copies were in lead pencil and two were in ink.

William G. Pengelly, auditor of the Capitol City Bank, Columbus, Ohio, was then called, and after qualifying as a handwriting expert declared that in his opinion the original and the copies which Franklin had made were written by the same person.

James M. Woltz, a Postal Inspector from Parkersburg, W. Va., testified that after he had arrested Gilbert Perkins in Indianapolis on April 13 he had found in his pocket a piece of torn paper that fitted perfectly into the ragged edges of the first "black hand" letter.

Call to St. Peter's Alumni.

The next general meeting of the St. Peter's Alumni Society will be held on Sunday, May 7, in the Chapel Hall, Barclay and Church Streets, at 3:15 P. M. The election of officers, adoption of the constitution and by-laws and arrangements for some social event are among the things to be considered at the meeting. The Committee on Organization is desirous of communicating with all the former pupils and has made every effort to locate as many as possible. This society is not limited to graduates, but to any pupil over 17 years of age who has at any time attended St. Peter's School. Additional information can be had by communicating with Joseph V. Cunneen, Room 712, 165 Broadway, New York City. Telephone 4.310 Cortland.

Two Ticket Speculators Fined.

Frank Ryan of 215 Tenth Avenue and Harry Stevens of 406 West Twenty-fifth Street were arrested in front of the Grand Opera House at Twenty-third Street and Eighth Avenue last night by Central Office Detectives Cooney and Cleaver. At the Night Court the detectives told Magistrate Freschi that they had seen the two men selling theatre tickets. They said the men were old offenders. Ryan and Stevens told the Magistrate they had bought tickets for friends, and that when the friends failed to put in an appearance they had sold the tickets. Magistrate Freschi fined them $10 each.

SENATE APPROVES COMMITTEE LISTS

Insurgents' Objections Find No Support and Regular Organization Choices Go Through.

HEARINGS ON RECIPROCITY

They Will Probably Run Into the Summer and Prevent Consideration of Other Tariff Measures.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—At the last moment the Senate insurgents to-day decided against an effort to get a roll call on the changes they have demanded in the regular committee slate, and the full committee lists of both parties were adopted this morning by a viva voce vote. Inability to procure the necessary one-fifth of the Senate to second the demand for a call is probably the explanation of the decision of the insurgents who planned yesterday to put the regulars and perhaps the Democrats, on record as indorsing the action of the reactionaries in "packing" the Finance Committee.

The one protest of the insurgents came in a typewritten statement, read on the floor by Mr. La Follette. This speech will be sent broadcast through the country under frank as an insurgent campaign document. Mr. La Follette's speech was of unusual brevity. He recited the history of the progressive movement in the Republican Party and said as it was now represented in the Senate it stood not for the personal advancement of individual insurgents but as the expressed attitude of millions of voters, who would at once retire their Senators if they failed to urge legislation of the progressive sort.

He sharply criticised the regulars for refusing the insurgents a second place on the Finance Committee, which will have charge of practically all legislation this session. The insurgents had wanted this post for Mr. Cummins, but, as Mr. Cummins wanted to speak on the subject in caucus and did not wish to appear to argue for himself, he nominated Mr. Bristow. This sort of delicacy did not deter Mr. La Follette, however, from speaking this morning of the failure of the regulars to admit his claims to a post on the Committee on Inter-State and Foreign Commerce. He denied any wish to block the organization of the Senate.

Mr. Gallinger, the new Republican leader, replied briefly. He said that he was pleased that no attempt would be made further to retard the Senate, as much public business was waiting to be taken up. He had intended to make a speech, but would content himself with letting the committee list he had prepared go to the country.

"If one wishes to go into the mathematics of representation," he said, "in the whole list of assignments the progressives were entitled to 100 places. As a matter of fact, they received 114 places."

The committee list was then adopted with only a few scattering "Noes!" from the insurgents.

With the committee organization of the Senate at last complete, the Finance Committee on Monday will take up Canadian reciprocity. The measure itself is technically before the Committee on Foreign Relations, but it will be sent to the committee under Senator Penrose after a perfunctory report by Mr. Cullom. The point to be decided at the meeting on Monday relates simply to the dates for the Senate hearings and will probably touch on the possible length of time the hearings will require. It is now the intention of the Senate leaders to have hearings in extensive proportions. They are determined, if possible, to take up nothing at this session but reciprocity—aside from the few necessary appropriation bills—and they believe that the easiest way to accomplish the shelving of the general tariff measures they will receive from the House is to let the Reciprocity bill run on till the Summer, when the hot weather will be a great inducement to adjournment. Even if the other measures must be taken up, there will be hearings on them also, and further time will be consumed.

The Republican members of the Finance Committee—that is, perhaps, not counting Mr. La Follette—now expect that when reciprocity is finally reported to the Senate it will be without amendment. The fight will be made on the floor, and many amendments will be offered by the insurgents and by some of the regulars whom the President has not been able to reach. As for the Democrats, their cue is to accept the house measure in toto and do their best to make it appear a Democratic bill. The President believes that the amendments of the insurgents, aimed at putting on the free list articles the farmers buy to offset the reduction of duties on the things they sell, will be voted down.

One amendment, however, that is very important has some chance of serious consideration. It was suggested to the Finance Committee last session by Senator Root, providing that the easy ingress allowed to Canadian paper and wood pulp be granted only when all restrictions in every province on the exportation of the products shall have been removed. The Finance Committee rejected the provision last year, deciding to keep the more lenient House phrasing, and it is expected that the same course will be adopted now—especially as Mr. Hale of Maine, the patron saint of protected paper, is no longer in the Senate. Present indications also point to the ultimate defeat of the proposed amendment on the floor, but only after a good fight.

FLOUTS TAFT IN THE HOUSE.

Representative Prince Says Reciprocity Is a Step Toward Annexation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—In a desperate effort to defeat reciprocity, either here or in Ottawa, Representative Prince of Illinois, in the House to-day, predicted the annexation of Canada by the United States, on the ground that the United States "has a right to take what it wants." His speech was strongly critical of the remarks of the President in New York last night. He took issue with Mr. Taft on the annexation question, as well as upon the effect upon American industries of the reciprocity agreement. Regarding annexation Mr. Prince said:

"What is the history of the American people? We might as well be frank and honest. Americans went into Texas, Americanized it, and it was annexed as a part of this great Union. Americans went into Hawaii, Americanized it, and annexed it. If these bright young men that the President speaks of in his speech, these clever, active, virile, vigorous young men from the farms of Illinois and the Northern States, the thousands and hundreds of thousands of them, go up into that northland, what do you think the effect of it will be?

"Have I not a right to say that that is the first step toward annexation? Have we not a right to believe it? The Speaker of this House, Mr. Clark, said he was in favor of taking Canada as a part of the United States and that this reciprocity arrangement was the first step toward annexation. He is a plain, blunt, honest man, whom I admire for his frankness. He has never denied that statement. I say to my neighbors on the north, 'Be not deceived.' When we go into a country and get control of it we take it! It is our history, and it is right we should take it if we want it, and we might as well understand it.

"That reciprocity involves a national menace is the widespread opinion in Canada. A procession of McGill students on the occasion of a vast anti-reciprocity mass meeting carried mottoes reading: 'This is a time of national peril.' 'No bartering of our birthright.' 'First step, reciprocity; second step, commercial union; third step, annexation.' 'Keep off the annexation wolves.'"

Referring to that part of the President's speech in which he said the reciprocity arrangement would not harm our industries, Mr. Prince declared that if it was true that no injury would be done it must mean that there would be no effect upon prices, and if that be so, what excuse could be offered for calling Congress into extra session to enact the bill into law? He asserted that he must disagree with the President, because, in his judgment, the bill would affect our farmers.

"There is a little kinky-headed fellow in the bill," he said, "in favor of the trusts and combinations and of the manufacturing interests of this country at the expense of the farmer and the ultimate consumer."

SICK WOMAN DIES IN FLAMES.

Tipped Over Lamps and Burned to Death Before Help Came.

Mrs. Jennie Clark, while lying helpless in bed and dying of an incurable disease, was burned to death yesterday on the second floor of 118 West Third Street.

Mrs. Clark's husband, James Clark, is an office cleaner. The couple were childless and very poor. The wife became afflicted with a tumor two years ago, and the husband had nursed her and cared for her during all the hours he was not at work.

Clark left his wife reading in bed, with a lamp beside her, about dawn yesterday morning, while he went down to see a poultry merchant in Market Street, who owed him for two and a half days' work.

While he was gone, Mrs. Clark is supposed to have moved one of her arms toward the lamp, so as to put it out. She upset it, and, when the neighbors, attracted by her screams, rushed in and beat out the flaming bedclothes, she was dead.

Clark told Capt. Henry of the Mercer Street Station that he did not have money enough to bury his wife. Capt. Henry suggested that the woman's body be sent temporarily to the Morgue. But the aged husband would not hear of this and left the Police Station saying that he was going to appeal to the Legal Aid Society for help.

Lien Against Morgan, Jr., Satisfied.

MINEOLA, L. I., April 28.—The lien filed by the Eureka Fire Hose Manufacturing Company of New York against the estate of John Pierpont Morgan, Jr., at East Island, off Desoris, was satisfied to-day. It was for $141. It is said there was some dispute about a bill for goods supplied to the estate.

RUINED BY BANKS CLOSING.

Towns Near Pittsburg in Gloom When Foreign Bankers Disappear.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., April 28.—The streets of Windber are to-night jammed with crowds of woebegone and sullen men and women. They have lost their all through having placed implicit faith in Andrew Zamany, head of the Zemany chain of banks and steamship agencies, and M. F. Korlath, owner of the Magyar Bank of Scalp Level, a suburb.

It is conservatively estimated that $600,000 was on deposit in the two banks when the doors were closed yesterday. The victims are not only foreigners, but many Americans and business people of Windber and neighboring villages are among the depositors. Almost every hamlet in Somerset County in which there are foreign residents has been hit hard by the closing of the Zemany Bank. Villages in both Bedford and Cambria Counties can also produce victims by the score.

The trouble started with the sudden disappearance of Korlath. One of his banks is in Windber, the other in Scalp Level, a suburb. It is estimated that he got away with $70,000.

When the Korlath banks closed a run was started on Zemany's bank. He paid out $11,000, then closed his doors, announcing he was bankrupt. His whereabouts are unknown. Three appraisers and an assignee have been appointed by the court. They have seized the bank books and to-night are attempting to appraise what is left.

A reward has been offered for the arrest of Korlath. It is believed Korlath is in New York. John B. Bogthy, a New York druggist, father-in-law of the missing banker, is said to have rescinded his offer to Korlath's creditors that he would make good all losses. He says he finds that his son-in-law was deeper in debt than he at first thought, and that he had already given him $15,000.

WEATHER BUREAU MOVES.

Goes Down to Battery Park to be Free of Obstructing Skyscrapers.

The local Weather Bureau will remove this afternoon from its present home in the American Surety Building, 100 Broadway, to its new quarters, in the Whitehall Building, overlooking Battery Park. The change was made necessary by the skyscrapers near its present quarters, which have made accurate observations impossible.

The new offices of the Weather Bureau are on the twenty-ninth floor of the Whitehall Building, while the top of the flagstaff from which storm signals and weather flags will be displayed is about 485 feet above the sea level. A tower 467 feet above the sea level will hold the anemometer, the instrument by which the velocity of the wind is measured, and also the delicate instruments for recording the direction of the wind.

James H. Scarr, the district forecaster, said yesterday that while most of the instruments would be removed to the new quarters to-morrow, actual official observations would not be taken there until Monday next.

LAND NEAR BROOKLYN SUBWAY STATIONS will immediately double in value the moment the B. R. T. secure the subways, and it looks as though they would. Write to-day for particulars.

WRIT FOR A PIANO HAS STRANGE EFFECT

Madame Treviris Locks Marshal in Flat and White Mice Are Sociable with Him.

CHARMED BY MUSIC NOTES

Storage House People Delivered the Wrong Instrument While Its Real Owner Was in Europe.

Mme. Wilhelmine Ertz Treviris, who is the Lamperti School of Singing, let out a high and piercing sample of soprano yesterday morning when City Marshal I. Van Leer of 29 First Street appeared at her musical flat on the second floor of 68 West Fifty-eighth Street, and served her with a writ of attachment, issued on Wednesday by Justice Wells in the Ninth District Municipal Court, for one piano. The writ was issued in an action in replevin, brought by Sidney Abenheim, a commission merchant of 48 Stone Street, who has bachelor apartments at the Oakdale Apartments, 26 West Thirty-fifth Street. Mr. Abenheim alleged that while he was away in Europe in February, 1910, Mme. Ertz Treviris got his $150 piano by mistake out of a storage warehouse, (since defunct,) where she, too, had stored a piano. Her piano, he says, was lost somehow or other. He did not discover that his own had been given to her instead until he returned from Europe some time ago, and then he promptly instituted suit to recover it.

Mme. Ertz Treviris (so called on the second-floor signboard, although Treviris Ertz on the signboard of the first floor,) sang out in highest soprano when she saw the writ, took it, according to Marshal Van Leer, dropped it with a string of high C's, and dashed out of the door of the flat, which she promptly slammed to and locked behind her. Van Leer and the helper of the moving van he had brought with him, could storm but vainly at the locked door. It would not yield an inch.

They heard her cries of "Murder! Burglars! Police!" growing fainter and fainter, until, like the wail of a lost soul, they were lost amid the unmusical roar of a Sixth Avenue elevated train.

For half an hour they remained imprisoned in the silent hall of music that had been the Lamperti School of Singing. The piano was there, too, but neither the Marshal nor his helper could play upon it. The helper tried a clumsy handful of notes on the keys. Simultaneously there bobbed from every nook and corner of the musical flat the tiny noses of mice—white mice, gray mice, and mice in salt-and-pepper business suits—noses soon followed by as many mice, all frisking skittishly up toward the musical helper. The musical helper let out an unmusical yell, and, friskier than any of the mice, frisked discordantly with all his hoofs upon the piano.

The Marshal, who has a professional fondness for rodents, saw at a glance that these were trained mice, and wasn't much afraid, although it wasn't exactly refreshing to find the most playful of the sportive creatures in the left leg of his trousers, with a twin brother a close second in friendship. Two or three others sat up on their haunches and considered the two intruders in the flat with sober looks of inspection as to whether they would prove edible or merely unnibbleably human. They finally decided that both the Marshal and his helper were human.

Just then, to the relief of the Marshal and the helper, there came a sound of voices outside the door.

"They're burglars! Two of them!" said one voice—soprano.

"Sh-sh-sh!" said the second voice, beginning in deepest bass but ending in the cold high pitch of a cocked revolver.

The mice and the Marshal and the helper scampered and scurried in a common fear and sweat, but in different directions, each so frightened that the helper almost tried to creep into the retreats of the mice, and the mice vainly to efface themselves behind the huge bulk of the piano.

"And, Mr. Policeman," began the voice in soprano.

That word restored confidence and joy of life to the Marshal.

"We're not burglars!" he shouted, coming out bravely from behind the piano. "We've got a writ of court for this piano. Here it is!"

And he picked up the writ from where Mme. Treviris had dropped it—just as the door opened, admitting the Lamperti School of Singing and one policeman of the East Fifty-first Street station.

The Lamperti School of Singing insisted in notes that ran the whole gamut of emotions, that she couldn't possibly get along without the piano, and that she had received it from the storage firm with whom she lodged hers, and that if this wasn't hers, what was? All of which queries and arguments proved equally unanswerable. But the policeman decided that the writ of replevin was more unanswerable still.

So he assured Mme. Ertz Treviris that he wasn't a court and couldn't do anything for her in the face of a court order. He could only commiserate with her in the undoubted misfortune that had befallen her through no fault of her own—that and stand aside while the Marshal and helper executed the writ, which they did forthwith.

When a reporter called at the Lamperti School of Singing yesterday afternoon the door was locked and no one answered his knock. Everything inside was as still as a mouse—as still as several of them, trained mice.

MAYOR'S DISCRETION UPHELD

Appellate Division Decides That Appointment of McMahon Was Legal.

The right of Mayor Gaynor to appoint J. Gratton McMahon, a Brooklyn lawyer, as Commissioner of Elections in that borough was upheld in a decision rendered yesterday by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. McMahon succeeded James Kane, who contested the appointment on the ground that the former was not recommended for the position by the Kings County Democratic organization. Mayor Gaynor took the position that the organization could recommend whom it pleased, but that he had the power to appoint McMahon without regard to the recommendation of any political organization.

Kane applied for a writ of mandamus. This was denied him and he appealed to the higher court.

The decision of the Appellate Division was unanimous in upholding Mayor Gaynor, but two opinions were written, one by Justice Woodward, in which Justices Hirschberg and Rich concur; the other was by Justice Burr, with Justice Jenks concurring. Justice Burr said that if the County Committee does not recommend a candidate that meets with the approval of the Mayor, it must keep on recommending until one is found whom the Mayor is willing to appoint.

In his opinion Justice Woodward says: "To appoint without discretion would be a mere ministerial act, and entirely takes away the essential element of an appointment," which "contemplates a voluntary act on the part of the appointing power."

MAN OF 80, LICENSED TWO WEEKS, NOT WED

Marriage of George H. Hughes to Kathleen Douglass, 36, Declared Off by His Attorney.

FRIENDS HAVE HIM IN CHARGE

Outcome of Sensation Caused When Would-Be Bride and Bridegroom Appeared at the City Hall.

The marriage between George Henry Hughes, the 80-year-old Vice President of the Standard Oilcloth Company, 320 Broadway, and Miss Kathleen Douglass, 36 years old, of Croton Falls, N. Y., who obtained a marriage license at the City Hall a fortnight ago, has not yet taken place.

According to Mr. Hughes's legal adviser, Theodore E. Leeds of 3 Broad Street, it will not take place at all. Miss Douglass has returned to her home, according to the attorney, and Mr. Hughes is out of the city at the home of friends who are caring for him.

Mr. Hughes and Miss Douglass created some surprise on April 15 by entering the License Bureau at the City Hall and asking for a license. Mr. Hughes was so feeble that he had to use a crutch and a cane in walking. He was supported on one side by Miss Douglass and on the other by a middle-aged woman, who was said to be one of Miss Douglass's relatives.

When Mr. Hughes and Miss Douglass were leaving the bureau after getting the license the reporters, struck by the disparity of ages, questioned the pair. All that Miss Douglass would do was to show the marriage license. The license stated that Mr. Hughes was a widower, 80 years old, a retired manufacturer, living at the Berkeley, 20 Fifth Avenue. Miss Douglass was described in the license as being 36 years old, of Croton Falls, N. Y., her father having been the late John Petit Douglass, and her mother's maiden name having been Henrietta Hughson.

While the License Clerk was issuing the license Miss Douglass did most of the talking, the aged merchant seeming too feeble to take an active part in the proceedings. The couple left the bureau without stating where or when the marriage would take place.

The Sunday following Mr. Hughes and Miss Douglass were seen together, as they had often been seen before, in the Central Presbyterian Church. Last Sunday, however, Mr. Hughes was seen there by himself, and the report spread that his friends had suggested that the marriage had better not take place.

Just why the marriage has not taken place, Mr. Leeds said yesterday that he did not care to state.

"I have been Mr. Hughes's legal adviser for more than fifteen years," said Mr. Leeds. "But he has merely consulted me about his business and not about his private affairs. About two weeks ago he asked me to get some marriage license blanks. I did so and handed them to him in an envelope which had my name printed on it. That is the way my name has been brought into the case. Mr. Hughes is out of the city. He is staying with friends, and Miss Douglass is not with him. I believe she has gone back to her home. The marriage itself, I know, is permanently off."

Mr. Hughes is a native of Nottingham, England. He was for fifty years an oilcloth manufacturer in this city. He is said to have a daughter who lives in England.

Miss Kathleen Douglass is the daughter of the late John Petit Douglass, a well-to-do property owner in Jefferson County. She is the sister of former State Senator Curtiss Douglass, who married Mrs. John A. Dix's sister. Miss Douglass is thus a connection by marriage of the Governor of the State.

The Recipe That Every Woman Wants

When you serve Van Camp's Spaghetti, you will find that every woman guest wants to know the recipe.

Most women who buy it want to know it, too. And many ask us to send it.

But the recipe is secret—you'll see why. It took our chefs two years to work it out.

The result has been the most popular dish that ever went out from our kitchens.

You will see why we cannot let anyone else make spaghetti like Van Camp's.

But we are charging you less to cook it for you than you would spend to make it. And you get it already cooked.

There are 17 ingredients used in this recipe, each the finest of its kind.

The main ones are these:
Durum wheat spaghetti.
Herkimer County full cream cheese.
Best creamery butter.
The same superlative tomato sauce we use in Van Camp's Pork & Beans.

There is a flavor—a blend—to this spaghetti such as never have found in another.

Not even the chefs of Italy serve anything nearly so good.

Please find it out and enjoy it while the dish is new. Surprise your guests before they know who makes it. Tell your grocer to send a small supply.

This Sale—and, incidentally, the advantageous economies—will continue through the month of May

"Tween" English Derbies Come in Sixteenth Sizes

If men's collars and shoes are made in in-between sizes, why not Men's Derbies? So thought the noted London firm of J. Moore & Son, whose fine hats were approved of and worn by the late King Edward VII., and are noted for their durability and light weight. The "Tween" Derbies are the result. They have already proved themselves to a be great boon to men for whom the ordinary eighth sizes are either too large or too small.

Another pleasant feature of these hats is their soft and comfortable cushion sweatband. "Tween" Derbies are in a deep, guaranteed fast black; made of the best nutria fur with finest silk trimmings.

Here in a particularly smart Spring style, with low crown and wide brim, also in staple shapes.

Price, $3 each.

GIMBEL BROTHERS
BROADWAY NEW YORK THIRTY-THIRD ST.

BALDWIN TAKES CROSS'S MEASURE

East Side Dentist Whipped, but Brother Phil Defeats Dave Dillon.

The Cross family got an even break in last night's boxing show at the National Sporting Club, where Leach figured in the star bout and Brother Phil in the semi-final. Phil sent the family reputation soaring in the earlier bout with a wallop to Dave Dillon's jaw, but Leachie pulled the family percentage down to the .500 mark by taking a trimming from Matty Baldwin of Boston. The main bout went the full ten rounds, but Leachie was generally playing the rôle of a pace follower.

The last session between this pair resulted in a most sensational encounter and the return match drew a crowded house. What the bout lacked from a boxing standpoint was evened up by the willingness of the two contestants to slip over a wallop whenever they could. For pounding an opponent under the arms or on the kidneys Baldwin and Cross have no superiors, and they both set up a good pace in this particular last night. As a result the bout was not as exciting as it might have been, even though both handed out some hard wallops.

Baldwin had the advantage of five of the ten rounds, and three were even. Two went to Cross. The Boston boy set the pace from the start, did most of the forcing, and, except for the sixth and seventh rounds, he managed to get an even break or better. At every stage of the game Baldwin appeared the cooler and more deliberate performer, and there never was a time when he seemed really in danger of being stowed away. That haymaker wallop which Leach has put into action in three of his last four fights failed to penetrate the Boston boy's defense last evening, and the few hard blows which Leach did deliver brought only smiles from Matty.

Baldwin used a left jab to the head and a right swing to the stomach in the open fighting, and the combination had Leach and his haymaker backing away most of the time. Cross showed after he had taken some stinging blows in the opening chapter that he had wholesome respect for Matty's punches. In the infighting Leach was able to land some hard jolts to Matty's face and stomach, but he was also subjected to some stinging blows by the Bostonian. Cross tried his deceptive dance in the third round and again in the seventh, but gave up when it became apparent that Baldwin was not bothered by his style. On advice from his corner Leach attempted rushing tactics a few times, but they were generally disastrous. Baldwin backed away just enough to escape the intended haymaker and sent out a wallop himself to Leach's stomach or head.

Neither scored a clean knockdown during the fight. Cross went down in the eighth round after taking a left swing, but a slip helped in his fall, and he was on his feet again in an instant, apparently unhurt. Both slipped to the floor together in the same round, and each went down at other times in the same way. The greatest advantage which either enjoyed was in the latter part of the ninth round, when it seemed that Baldwin was on the way to a knockout. Baldwin had the better of the second, fourth, eighth, ninth, and tenth rounds, and Cross had the sixth and seventh. The other two were even.

The semi-final, in which Brother Phil was a principal, lasted only three rounds, but it furnished as much real fireworks as were ever crowded into nine minutes of fighting. Phil's opponent was Dave Dillon, and the pair went at each other like game birds as soon as the first bell rang. For the full three minutes they pounded away, and when the bell ended the round Dillon had three knockdowns to his credit, and Phil had one. Dillon did the better work and landed some terrific jolts on Cross's jaw, but Phil was game and always came back for more.

The second round showed no let-up in the strenuous pace, and it was a repetition of the opener as regards fast action and slugging. But neither boy scored a knockdown. Dillon was again the leader and landed hard and often on Phil's jaw, but without result. Both were bleeding from the mouth and nose when the round ended. The third round was the same old story, and in the early part Dillon had the better of the milling. In the last minute Phil had Dillon covering up, and he finally got over a haymaker. The bell sounded before ten could be counted over Dillon, but the blow had finished him so completely that the bout did not go any farther.

In the opening preliminary John O'Neil had the advantage over Kid Bolt in four rounds. In the other preliminary Joe Burrell stopped Red Ames in the second round.

SERINO GETS A BEATING.

Gene Ottison Defeats National Amateur Heavyweight Champion in Boston

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 28.—Gene Ottison, a tall, scientific New York boxer, sprung the surprise of the night by defeating John Serino, the National amateur heavyweight champion in one of the most sensational three-round bouts amateur boxers have ever furnished in the tournament at the Armory A. A. to-night. Ottison displayed wonderful agility against the hard hitting champion and his slipping and stepping out of the way of the swings of Serino was a treat to look at. The surprising part of the contest was the easy manner in which Ottison accepted the blows of Serino. The right hand of the National champion connected several times in the second round, but it had no apparent effect upon the clever New Yorker. There was no time when Serino had the advantage in the bout and the New York man made his win clear, with very little room for doubt.

A Boston boxer, Andy Flanagan of the St. Joseph's A. A. was successful in his bout against Mulvaney, a Metropolitan A. A. U. champion. At the start off the New Yorker looked too much for the Boston boy. Flanagan, however, reversed the tables in the second round, and by a diligent and remarkable exhibition retired with the second in his favor.

Joe Fisher of the Lavonia A. C., New York, a National champion in the 145-pound class, had a very close call in his bout with Patsy de Luca of Boston. There was little to choose in the first round. De Luca scored effectively in the second round, and once dazed the champion with a right hander to the jaw. Fisher managed to just barely nose out the points of the final round and won the bout.

Boxing at St. Bartholomew Club.

Under the direction of George Heathcote, 600 members of the St. Bartholomew Athletic Club at 209 East Forty-second Street, attended the quarterly smoker of the club last night. There were four three-round exhibition boxing contests, and among those who participated in the bouts were: Boyo Driscoll, Young Otto, the pride of the east side; Tommy Murphy, and George "Elbows" McFadden, the old-time lightweight champion. Boyo Driscoll boxed three rounds with Frankie Neil. Young Otto went the same number of rounds with Battling Harry, a Murray Hill celebrity. In the third bout Tommy Murphy and Joe Grimm, another old timer, came together for three rounds, and in the last bout George McFadden and Young Dwyer went three rounds. After these four bouts there was a battle royal, in which some members of the Boys' Club, pupils of Mr. McVickar, were the contestants. Walter Byron, the noted opera tenor, sang a popular melody for the members of the club. William Simmons officiated as referee at all the boxing bouts.

Dominican Lyceum Holds Stag.

Members of the Dominican Lyceum held a successful boxing stag and smoker last night at the Irish-American A. C. house, with a packed attendance witnessing the many attractions. Tommy Murphy went through a burlesque with Henry Lutz for three rounds. Willie Chandler earned a decision over Young Saylor in a four-round go which was announced as being for keeps. Kid Otto beat Kid Sterns in three rounds in an interesting go. R. Nebneth won from J. Smith in a slow bout of three rounds. Several musical numbers filled in the programme.

Zbyszko Throws Americus Twice.

BALTIMORE, April 28.—Zyyszko defeated Gus Schoenlein (Americus) in a finish wrestling match here to-night in two straight falls. After wrestling for an hour and four minutes, during which both men wriggled out of many tight places, Schoenlein stumbled and fell flat on his back, with the Pole on top of him. The second fall was gained in twenty-six minutes by a half-Nelson and arm hold.

Winners in Billiard Tourney.

Four games were decided yesterday afternoon in the continuation of the amateur three-cushion carrom billiard tournament which started Monday at Maurice Daly's Billiard Academy, Forty-ninth Street and Broadway. In the first game Fred Thompson defeated John Nelson in a close game by the score of 50 to 49. The winner made the high run of 50, while Nelson made 4. This was the closest contest played yesterday, and although Thompson displayed the better form and was returned the victor, his opponent put up a pretty stiff fight all the way. A. Cohen defeated John Cope in the second game by the score of 50 to 36. Cohen made the high run of 4, and Cope's high run was 3. In the last game of the afternoon Isaac Peiser defeated Harry Parker by the score of 50 to 36. The winner made the high run of 5, while Parker's best high tally was 4. The tournament will be continued to-day.

NEW AERO CLUB OPENS WITH FLIGHT TO-DAY

Ovington to Fly from Belmont Park to Long Island City, to Garden City.

The newly organized Aero Club of New York, ex-Lieut. Gov. Timothy L. Woodruff, President, will formally open its new aerodrome at Garden City Estates, Nassau Boulevard, L. I., this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The field for flying is situated near the Nassau Boulevard station on the main line of the Long Island Railroad, and comprises a level tract two and one-half miles long by one mile in width. The field is to be the official testing ground for the United States Aeronautical Reserve. Ten modern hangars are under course of construction, four being now ready for occupancy.

The officers of the club have placed at the disposal of members owning or operating machines a twenty-room house facing the field for living quarters; in addition to this the President has extended the privileges of the Garden City Estates Club to all members of the Aero Club of New York and their friends. A large parking space for automobiles is now being laid out, and on May 14 the Long Island Railroad will open a new station directly on the field.

There will be no admission of any description charged, but admission to the hangars will be by membership card only. The officers of the club are Timothy L. Woodruff, President; Clifford B. Harmon, Vice President; Hudson Maxim, Second Vice President; Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin, Third Vice President; Richard R. Sinclair, Secretary and Treasurer. The hundred charter members include the most prominent men in New York State interested in aviation from the sportman's standpoint.

The following aviators have made application for the first ten hangars: Earle L. Ovington, Charles K. Hamilton, Albert Fileux, Clifford B. Harmon, Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin, Glenn H. Curtiss, Fred P. Shneider, Ladis Lewkosicz, George Russell, and George Schultz. Albert Fileux has been engaged as chief instructor for the Nassau Aviation School, which will occupy two large hangars. This school will be in operation May 10 and will teach the art of aviation by the same methods employed in the schools abroad. All members of the U. S. A. R. will be taught at cost on both monoplane and biplane.

Ovington will be tendered a reception by the officers of the club this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. He will leave his hangar at Belmont Park at 2:45 sharp, fly over Jamaica, Long Island City, circle part of Brooklyn, and, heading direct for the village of Hempstead, will circle the town hall and fly direct to the aerodrome of the Aero Club of New York at Nassau Boulevard, where he will be received by a club committee and formally presented with the President's trophy. After this he will have tea at the clubhouse and at 4:30 will give an exhibition flight; in the evening he will attend the banquet to be given to Chauncey Depew at the Montauk Club in Brooklyn, as the guest of Mr. Woodruff.

LOCAL BOXING BOUTS TO-NIGHT.

The usual week-end boxing show of the Sharkey Athletic Club will be held in the club's gymnasium to-night, with ten bouts on the card. For the wind up, K. O. Eger, a west side boy, will face Jack Lango, the "Scot."

Bant Dorsey and Charley Griffin will be the finalists to-night at the Whirlwind Athletic Club. These feathers have a reputation for always wanting to mix it up, and a good go is assured. Four and six round bouts will precede the main affair.

At the Fairmont Athletic Club to-night Jack Dorman and Paddy Sullivan will exchange wallops in the principal bout at ten rounds. Among the other performers will be Will Saunders, who recently took the measure of the 115 pounders at the Irish-American Athletic Club series, and who gives great promise. He will be pitted against Young Ruffin, who won similar honors at the Mott Haven Athletic Club bouts last week.

The finals of the Metropolitan Association championships will be held to-night at the Irish-American Athletic Club house. Taking a line through the preliminaries, some rattling goes are assured. Bill Beckman, the Metropolitan champion middleweight, worked his way into the final, and is expected to win in his class without trouble.

Yale and Pennsy to Row Two Miles.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 28.—Details of the Yale-University of Pennsylvania boat race were settled to-day at a conference in which representatives of the two navies and of the Springfield Board of Trade were present. The distance was decided upon at two miles. A change was made in selecting the so-called lower course on the Connecticut River, where the race has been scheduled for May 13, at Springfield. It was at first planned to have the race rowed on the upper course, just north of Springfield, and the Yale crew spent the Easter vacation practicing on that course. The course finally selected is just south of the city, beginning at the south bridge and ending off Long Meadow.

YOUNG GHETTO BEATS GRADY

Harlem Featherweight Shows Up Well in Bout at New Polo A. A.

Kid Ghetto, a Harlem featherweight, defeated Mike Grady last night in the stellar attraction carded by the New Polo A. A. Frankie Fleming, a Canadian boxer, was to have gone on against Ghetto, but turned up with a broken hand, received in his training work.

Grady made a gallant stand for the first three rounds, earning a stand-off to the end of this period. The fourth, fifth, and sixth rounds were all Ghetto's, as he whipped over lefts and rights almost at will. He earned an even break in the seventh, letting go some corking swings at the right time.

It developed, however, that Ghetto was simply biding his time, as he stung his man in the eighth with every conceivable kind of a punch, and had him hanging on the ropes at the end. In the ninth Ghetto whipped his left over repeatedly without a return. At times Grady parted with wild swings, which Ghetto got inside of cleverly.

The last round was a hummer. Grady showed surprising strength, meeting every fusillade. Ghetto brought him to his knees midway in the round, but was unable to get in a finishing punch. The bell found both boys eager to continue.

In the semi-final Young McFarland and Battling Henry went six rounds to a draw. The crowd was the largest of the season.

Special Chase at Belmont Terminal.

Under the auspices of the Meadow Brook Steeplechase Association a special race will be held at the meeting scheduled for May 6 at Belmont Park Terminal, with the following as the conditions: Special steplechase. By subscription of $500 each, $100 forfeit, only $5 if declared by May 4. To carry 163 pounds. Owners to ride. H. S. Page's Oaklawn and Malcolm Stevenson's Yama Christy to start, or no race. The distance will be about two miles over the regulation course.

Canoe Brook Club Opened.

The Canoe Brook Country Club, at Summit, N. J., will be informally opened to-day. The house, which has been undergoing repairs, has been put in capital shape. The annual shad dinner, the first event of the season, will be held next Saturday at 7:30 P. M. Saturday golf tournaments will be held throughout the season and keen contests are anticipated.

Lehigh and Stevens in Lacrosse.

Lehigh University's lacrosse team will oppose the Stevens Institute aggregation in a game at Castle Point, Hoboken, this afternoon.

Sanction for Guttenberg Races.

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association yesterday granted a conditional sanction for the Guttenberg auto race meet to be held to-day. The sanction is contingent on the track being in good condition. Should the races be held, David L. Bruce-Brown and Ralph de Palma will compete in the events. Five races will be decided and a good entry list has been assured.

KELLY OUTPOINTS THOMPSON

Middleweights in Ten Fast Rounds of Savage Fighting.

RACINE, Wis., April 28.—Hugo Kelly of Chicago, claimant of the middleweight championship, bested Johnny Thompson, the Sycamore (Ill.) "Cyclone," after ten rounds of hard fighting here to-night. Superior boxing skill won the popular decision for Kelly. He landed two blows to Thompson's one, although the Sycamore fighter forced the milling.

While under the laws of Wisconsin no decision in fights is allowed, the popular decision showed that Kelly had decidedly the better of the contest. The Chicago man's most useful blow was a right uppercut, which he landed repeatedly without return from Thompson. In the clinches he rocked Thompson's head with short uppercuts, and in the open fighting also punished his opponent severely.

Thompson fought a slugging, rushing battle, and was always willing to take Kelly's hardest blows to land one on his opponent's body.

Opening of Harlem Yacht Club.

Commodore Bragdon of the Harlem Yacht Club announced yesterday that the formal opening of the clubhouse at City Island will take place on Saturday, May 6. The opening will be at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and in the evening there will be a beefsteak dinner party and entertainment. The clubhouse has been renovated since last season and the organization has planned a successful season. The Race Committee has already received many trophies for the special racing events that are to be held during the Summer.

Yankees at Lenox Oval To-morrow.

Hal Chase and his tribe of Yankees will travel to Lenox Oval at 145th Street and Lenox Avenue to-morrow and tackle the Metropolitan team. This game will mark the opening of a new baseball park.

Juniors Win Columbia Honors.

The Columbia juniors overhauled the sophomores in track honors yesterday afternoon, when the pole vault was run off as the final event in the interclass games held last Wednesday afternoon. When all but this event had been held last week the sophomores were ahead by a score of 41 to 34, but by winning the first two places in the pole vault, the third-year class forged into first place with a lead of two points. Only three men took part in the event, and the first place went easily to H. C. Babcock, captain of the team, who cleared the pole at 11 feet 6 inches. The sophomores made a hard struggle last week for first place, but the pole vault was the strong part of the junior's team, and when the management decided to count this event in, it being impossible to hold it at the time, because of the wet pit, the juniors felt sure of their position. The summaries:

Pole Vault.—Won by H. Babcock, '12, with a jump of 11 feet 6 inches; M. Salsbury, '12, second, with a jump of 10 feet 9 inches; N. B. Ward, '13, third, with a jump of 10 feet 6 inches

Bronx to City Hall Foot Race.

The Modified Marathon Race to be held May 6 from the Bronx to City Hall, twelve miles, has attracted the largest entry list for a lonog-distance race in the history of athletics in the world. The entries will close May 1 with James E. Sullivan, 21 Warren Street. This race will decide the amateur championship of America, and from among the leaders will be selected the American representatives who will take part in the world's championship Marathon race at Stockholm next Summer. Every runner of note in this country will start, and it is not at all unlikely that some athlete from one of the out-of-town districts will capture the prize. Glen Warner will send Tewanima and another Indian from the Carlisle School. The partner to Tewanima is said to be faster than Longboat. Philadelphia sends a strong team of distance runners who were among the leaders in the Marathon held there last month. Boston will be represented, as will Baltimore. The largest entry in this city comes from the Catholic Athletic League. There will be at least 200 starters from the various clubs in the Catholic League.

Jamful of good looking suits for small boys.

That's us.

Glad of it, too, for when we asked the Head of our Children's Department how things were going, he said—

"It's like old times when woolens had no rivals—they seem to be so popular this Spring."

"Selling bully—don't know whether it's because patterns are so very attractive, or because of the return demand for woolen suits."

"For the last few years, you know, wash suits have been IT."

"Yet there's nothing slow about our wash suits, either."

Sounds perfectly satisfactory, doesn't it?

That's just what our boys' suits always are, or "your money back."

Norfolk and double breasted suits for larger boys are also unusually attractive this Spring.

Better still, they're substantial, so their attractiveness will last.

That, after all, is our special claim to distinction in boys' suits.

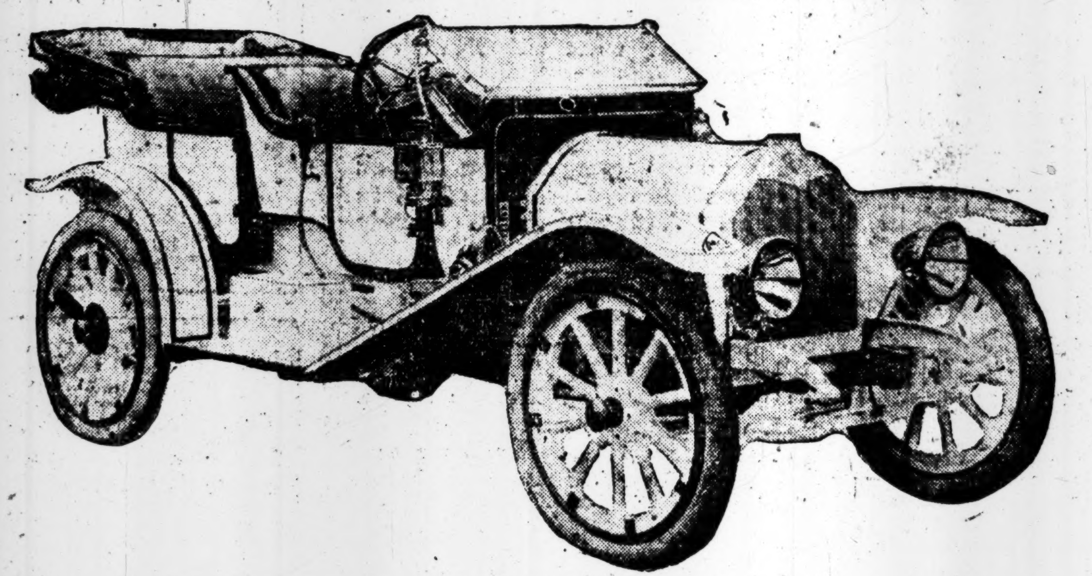
"Guaranteed For All Time"



And Backed Up by a Company with Unlimited Financial Resources
Conducted on the "Square Deal" Plan of Doing Business IS THE Abbott-Detroit

We have given the subject of guarantee on our cars considerable thought. WE KNOW we have something a little better than the best. WE KNOW the kind of material we buy—the kind of work we do and the strict inspection system we enforce. We therefore have complete confidence in our own product, and the best evidence of this fact is our decision to "GUARANTEE FOR ALL TIME" our cars.

Our new guarantee form is the broadest, most complete and "squarest" guarantee ever given with the sale of an automobile. If you are an intending purchaser of an automobile to-day, you are probably not buying one for three months', six months', nine months', or a year's use, but for several years—a good car to-day should last for several years.

It will pay you to investigate the Abbott-Detroit Car and the Abbott-Detroit Guarantee before you buy. It will save you a lot of money in the long run.

Ask the ABBOTT-DETROIT salesman to show it to you.

It's worth your while.

Time of game—Two hours and eighteen minutes.

The Bostons went their way from the Hilltop yesterday after spanking a whole battalion of Giant pitchers all over the heights, taking the game with them by a score of 9 to 3. If Tenney's Rustlers are going to go through the season hitting the ball the way they did yesterday the National League may as well ship the pennant to Boston on the next train. The sixty horse power hitting of the afternoon was contributed by Ingerton, Goode, Clarke, and Jack Spratt, all of whom smote the leather with such vigor that it made dents in the fence. Ames, Drucke, and Rudolph faced the hammering Bostons one after the other, and all met the same fate.

Strategist McGraw sent in pinch hitters now and then to break up the game, but the breaking was confined to Arlie Latham's voice shattering the stillness of the Hilltop. Umpire Jack Doyle was much in the foreground, according to unbiased onlookers, having come suspiciously close to missing a couple of decisions. Excited Giants gathered around Jack once or twice and told of the qualifications of the oculist who examined his eyes. All the elements of a conflagration were evident, but it was subdued before three alarms had been sent in.

Th stout lumbering of the ball by Boston, some brilliant third-base play by Devlin, smart one-handed catches by Spratt in right field and the continual procession of Giant pitchers, to and from the bench, gave the combat color and action.

A little girl sitting in front of her grandfather saw the game—and asked questions. "Why do they have two umpires, Gramp?" she asked.

"Because, my child, one of them might be struck by lightning," answered grandfather. That was just after Doyle made a bad decision.

In the eighth inning the little girl whimpered, "I don't want to go home until New York wins."

"I know, my child, but you can't stay here all night, your mother would worry," answered grandpa. A wise fan.

Boston began the sharpshooting on "Red" Ames in the third inning. Rariden got two bases on a Texas Leaguer and Tyler sacrificed. Clarke then sent a swift grounder along the third base line. Devlin made a great stop by lunging far to one side and fell on Rariden as he slid into third base. Doyle called the runner safe. Explosion No. 1.

Then Tenney and Herzog singled and Ingerton and Goode tripled. Result, four runs. They led Ames quietly away, shot to pieces. Becker, batting for Ames, walked, and so did Devore. Doyle's single scored Becker with the Giants' first run.

Spratt greeted Drucke with a triple in the fourth inning, and in the fifth three singles and a sacrifice gave Boston two more runs. Murray sent a grounder through Herzog in the sixth inning. The ball also got away from Clarke, and Murray went around to third base. Bridwell's single scored him. A pass and two hits gave Boston another run in the seventh inning. In this inning Tenney drew a pass. Herzog popped a neat bunt on the first-base line. Merkle, scooping it up, tumbled over on his back on the base line, and as Herzog rushed by he sat up and tagged him with the ball. Umpire Doyle said there was no tagging. Several minutes of feverish conversation followed.

It was suggested that President Lynch should keep Jack Doyle off the grounds while games are being played. He's in the way.

In the same inning Francis Xavier Pfeffer, who had suceeded Tyler in the box for the Rustlers, forced in Crandall with a run after issuing three bases on balls.

With the bases full Merkle was implored to send the ball over the fence again, but he didn't. Rudolph, one of the Giants' new pitchers, took up the painful duty in the eighth inning. Boston greeted him in the ninth with a triple and a two-bagger which, with a sacrifice fly, gave two more runs.

The game lasted two hours and eighteen minutes, and the crowd stayed around until the bitter end, hoping to see the Giants rally. More batting and a little less hope is what the Giants needed.

Pirates Take First Game from Cubs.

PITTSBURG, April 28.—Chicago to-day made its first appearance of the season here, and was beaten in one of the hardest struggles ever seen on the diamond. Capt. Clarke displayed generalship in the eighth inning when he sent reserve forces to the plate and on the bases. Gibson went to first base on balls, and Carey ran for him. McKechnie batted for Adams, and sacrificed Carey to second. A wild throw by Tinker put Carey on third base, and a single by Leach scored him and tied up the game. In the ninth inning Kling hit over the fence for a home run, putting his team in the lead. But in their half Pittsburg scored two runs and won the game with only one man out. Wagner and Miller made singles, and after Hunter had gone out, a wild pitch moved the runners to third and second bases respectively. A hit by Wilson scored both. Score:

COLUMBIA NINE WEAK.

Cornell Bags Eight Runs and Holds Locals to Three on South Field.

Columbia went down to defeat at the hands of the Cornell nine yesterday afternoon on South Field by the score of 8 to 3. Two pitchers were sent into the box by both sides, but though the Ithacans profited by their change the Blue and White fared worse, and in the eighth inning the Morningside nine blew up. In fielding the Cornell team also outshined the local team, which put up a very discouraging exhibition. Six errors were made by the Columbia nine and these, with two wild pitches, were too much for them to recover from in time to help the scoring along for their team.

The first runs were made by Cornell in the second inning, when they sent three across the plate; two of them being on Columbia's misplays. Butler, the first man up, was safe on Menhennick's error and was advanced to second by Dauenhauer. McCormack sent out an easy grounder to Sanders, the Columbia shortstop, who threw to the bleachers, scoring Butler and putting McCormack on third. Thomas followed with a three-bagger to centre and scored McCormack while Thompson's hit sent Thomas across with the third run. After that fusillade Ulrich, the Columbia twirler, settled down and made short work of the next two men at bat.

It was in the next inning that Columbia's first run was scored. Gretch, the first man up, walked, and Ulrich sent him along with a pretty sacrifice. Sanders effectually blocked one of Carvajal's fastest shorts and limped to first. Osterhout, the Columbia Captain, drove the ball with a rousing welt onto the lower tennis court in right field, scoring both Gretch and Sanders. It looked like an easy home run, but Osterhout slowed down going into third and watched the catcher muff the ball as it was delayed to the plate. Then he set off in a wild dash for the rubber, but McCormack got the ball back to Carvajal, who had an easy time in touching Osterhout out.

In the next inning, however, Columbia came back strong and tied the score on Menhennick's base on balls, Shibley's sacrifice and a single to centre by Maloy. Gretch followed Maloy with a base on balls and things began to look dark for the Ithacans, especially when Ulrich followed this with a spanking single to right. Maloy, however, by a piece of reckless running got stuck between third and the plate and was finally run down by Dauenhauer, putting a sudden end to Columbia hopes.

Hightower took up the burden for Cornell in the next round and in the last four struck out nine of the Columbia batsmen and did not allow a single hit. In the fifth inning Ulrich showed signs of weakening, and Rothwell went in for him. Things went along fairly well until the eighth, when disaster overcame the Columbia twirler, who went down under a load of three hits, a sacrifice, a base on balls, and an error. The total damage was three runs, more than enough to assure Cornell the game. The score:

Manhattan, 12; Niagara, 9.

Heavy hitting, combined with a few costly errors, enabled the Manhattan College nine to defeat the nine of Niagara University at Olympia Field yesterday afternoon. The Green and White representatives found Sheridan of the visitors for fourteen hits, while Hanley allowed only seven, six of which were made in the ninth inning. These, combined with four errors and two bases on balls, gave the Niagara team nine runs. Up to the ninth Hanley pitched a remarkable game, allowing only one hit and striking out seventeen of his opponents. The feature was the hitting of Desbrow, who made a triple, a double, and two singles out of four times up. Hesterberg and Hanley did some fine work with the willow also, each making three hits out of five times up. The score:

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., April 28.—Masterly pinch pitching by "Rookie" Caldwell and the clairvoyance of Capt. Chase circumvented Boston to-day 2 to 1 and gave the Yankees a chance to leave Boston with the series an even break. Caldwell was pitted against Ray Collins. Both were steady enough, and as a matter of fact Boston was 9 to 7 better as far as hitting was concerned. But Caldwell was a wizard in moments of dire need and when he wasn't, which was once or twice, Chase had waved his outfielders in position to choke off line drives labeled anywhere from one to three bases and good at any time for a tie score, at least.

Both of the New York runs were earned pure and simple. Three singles in a row in the second period, one a triple, and an ensuing single in the sixth the other, these counting for five of the seven Yank hits, it being at once apparent that they did not waste any. Boston put three together in the second without result and in two innings thereafter connected for a brace.

One of these rounds brought in their solitary tally, made by Engle, whose single rolled through Birdie Cree's legs to the extent of two extra bases, and Clyde scored on a sharp two-bagger by Williams. After this exhibition of heavy artillery, Caldwell, somewhat peeved evidently by being counted on, fanned Yerkes, Nunamaker, and Collins in about the length of time one might take to tell about it.

Speaking from the heart out, the game, although it was much better defensively than any of the others in the series, was not half as interesting as the bobble-filled propositions that went before. Caldwell and the Chase manoeuvring put too much of a gloom about it from the Boston end and the New Yorkers scattered in the stands were too nervous most of the time to appreciate it. Probably fully nine-tenths of the Boston crowd blamed the defeat to the rather inhuman luck of the Chase crew in being in front of the hard raps propelled by Boston in the pinches.

There is no doubt Chase did engineer the advances, retreats and cross-corner shots of his outpost men. Giving him credit for that, the luck proposition still looms up. It was "inside" ball. Still Boston maintains that New York and luck have been somewhat synonymous in the American League these two years.

The Yankees started things in the second inning. With one down, Knight, Cree, and Johnson singled in succession. Knight scored and the next two batters were out. Boston started with three hits in this inning, one base by Engle, Williams, and Yerkes. Engle lost his standing, however, when he tried to get to the middle station on Johnson's wild heave, only to be pegged out by Chase. Nunamaker fell into one of the outfielder traps, lifting a short one to Cree, and Collins fanned.

The Sox did manage to tie it up in the fourth inning on Engle's hit, Cree's error, and Williams's double. Wolter, who has a penchant for coming through with winning runs, opened the Yankees' sixth with a triple, and went right along to glory when Daniels rapped safely to right field. This inning found Boston with a fine little chance to tie it up again. Lewis beat out an infield hit, and Engle sent him to second with a centre field single. Williams bunted, but he pushed the ball down the lane to Caldwell, and Lewis was nipped at third. Yerkes in the extremity took the sky route and Hartzell gobbled Nunamaker's grounder.

The eighth was another hard Boston inning. Speaker came to the plate and Chase wigwagged his outfield into position. The Texan lined a beauty to left, when, lo and behold, Cree sprang out of the ground, as it were, directly in front of the bang and strangled it. Lewis did a double down the left field foul line and went to third on Engle's infield out. Then Williams, with his record of three hits, came up.

Once more the Yankee general wigwagged. His outfield shifted as ordered, and Williams clouted. Once more Cree was right in front of the hit, a long, low liner that looked good for a double.

No premium on the coin.

In the last Boston inning Manager Donovan sent the reserves into action, Thoney and Wagner being rushed to the firing line to bat for the battery. Both succumbed easily. It was all over an inning or two before that.

Detroit Wins All the Way.

CLEVELAND, April 28.—Detroit won another game from Cleveland to-day, 5 to 3. Krapp held Detroit to six hits, but his wildness in the first two innings, when he gave six bases on balls, allowed Detroit to take a good lead. Score:

Columbia Grammar Wins.

The Columbia Grammar School baseball team defeated the Loyola nine in a fast and exciting game yesterday on the Columbia Oval by the score of 8 to 4. This was the opening game of the season for the Columbia Grammar School and they displayed remarkable form, outclassing their opponents at every stage of the playing. The feature was the good pitching of Feeley for the Columbia team. The score by innings:

BROOKLYN PLAYS DAZZLING BASEBALL

Bell's Fine Pitching, Perfect Fielding, and Long Hitting Defeat Phillies, 5 to 0.

Superb pitching, perfect fielding, which at times bordered on brilliancy, and a pair of long drives which were delivered at most opportune periods gave Brooklyn the final game of the series with Philadelphia at Washington Park yesterday afternoon, 5 to 0. The Dodgers packed the game in their grip in the getaway chapter, when Zach Wheat clouted one of Jack Rowan's offerings over the right-field fence, scoring two runners ahead of himself, and the defense of the home team was so airtight that the fans had no chance to feel nervous during the remainder of the game. The series resulted in an even break for the teams, and incidentally furnished as clean fielding as is likely to be uncovered in any one series of the year. Each team went through two games without a misplay, and the error column shows a total of only six misplays for the entire series.

George Bell was the principal stumbling block in the path of the League leaders. The big fellow was in mid-season form, and he mowed the Quakers down inning after inning so effectively that the Dooin boys took on the appearance of a team of bush leaguers. Only thirty-one Phillies faced Bell in the nine innings, and only four reached first base during the game, each by the safe-hit route. Nothing like a pass or any slip-up in perfect delivery marked Bell's performance, and he was never in a hole. Of the four Phillies to reach first, two were stranded there, one died at second, and one died at third. Titus, the first batsman to face Bell, was the only visitor who traveled to the final turn. During the next eight innings Luderus alone saw second base, and then only with two gone in the fifth inning.

Zach Wheat and Tooley shared the limelight with Bell in the doings of the afternoon. Zach qualified with a four-base smash over the right-field bulwarks in the first inning, with two on the paths and two out, and that one clout made further stickwork by the Superbas unnecessary. Tooley led his team in getting in the paths of prospective Quaker bingles, and ten grounders were prettily smothered and converted into putouts at first base. Two or three of the stops were of the hair-raising order, and the youngster was the recipient of considerable applause as he continued to pick 'em up and shoot 'em to Jake.

Tooley had the quantity honors all to himself, but, for quality he had companions on both teams. John Hummel turned in a pair of stellar stops which bore bingle earmarks, getting one drive with his bare hand just as the ball took an ugly bound to one side. Jake Daubert, besides doing some tall stretching on several pegs from his mates, made a great play on Lobert's slow roller in the ninth inning. He ran in and fielded the ball, turned, and slid for the bag just as Hans did the same. Jake's spikes touched the canvas with nothing to spare, but enough to put Hans out. For the visitors, Dooin led in the fireworks playing when he raced to the stands in the fourth and smothered a high foul from Zimmerman's bat.

Jack Rowan, the only member of the Cincinnati Discard Quartet who had not shown to advantage in the series, got his chance yesterday, and Jack failed to show. He got away to a flying start, and the way he mowed Myers and Tooley down on strikes in the first inning made the loyal rooters gasp. The step to the other extreme proved easy for Jack, however, and the next two Superbas only had to hold their bats on their shoulders and amble along to first. Enter Zach Wheat. Rowan grooved a fast one that looked good to Zach, and the ball took a ride into the roadway beyond the right-field fence, while three pairs of Brooklyn tootsies wended a joyful procession plateward.

The third was another troublesome inning for Big Jack. Myers opened with a hot bounder which grazed Mike Doolan's fingertips, and Tooley sacrificed. Daubert poled a long triple to left centre, which scored Meyers, and Jake counted on Hummel's single to right. Humphries pitched the last four innings and held his own. The score:

EASTERN LEAGUE.

Buffalo Defeats Newark in Eleven-Inning Battle—Louden's Playing Poor.

The Newark Indians made a savage onslaught on George Stallings's Buffalo nine at Newark yesterday in the first inning. By clean hitting after two were down they scored five runs and bewildered the Lake Erie herd. Three-baggers by Louden and Cady and singles by Dalton and Hall were included in the fusillade. Malarkey was taken out of the box and Pierce took his place for the visitors. He allowed one run to slip over in the second inning, and then held the braves in check.

As the Indians faded the Bisons took courage. Aided by Louden's errors and several timely hits they scored three runs in the third inning, and then came up even in the fifth inning. The Indians went one ahead in the seventh, but gave the game away in the ninth by helping Schirm around after he had replaced White at bat, with two punky errors. The visitors took the game in the eleventh session on a base on balls, two hits, and Louden's sixth error. The score:

Skeeters Win Their First Game.

Jersey City won its first game of the season yesterday, administering a shut-out to Montreal at Morningside Park. Kissinger pitched good ball for the Skeeters and received good support. The locals got their first run in the fifth inning, when Warner, who got a pass, scored on Tonneman's double to left field. In the eighth inning Kissinger singled, went to second on Deininger's sacrifice, and tallied on Abstein's single. The score:

Montclair Girls in Baseball.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., April 28.—Baseball as an athletic sport has been revived among the girls of the Montclair High School. Several teams have been organized under the management of Miss Elsie Matthews, and inter-class baseball games will be arranged as soon as the several teams have indulged in practice. Baseball was introduced among the girls of the high school several years ago, but the sport was sidered too strenuous at that time, and it was abandoned. Since then, however, the enthusiasm with which the girls have entered into basket ball and the proficiency which they developed in that game demonstrated their fitness for the National game, and they expect to make an excellent showing in the diamond.

The Car They All Admire!

Cole-30 cars compel admiration. They are admired for their long, low, rakish bodies.
—for their luxurious appointment and refined finish
—for their appearance of business-like efficiency and dauntless determination.

They are admired for their many victories in speed contests
—for their notable triumphs in endurance and economy runs
—for their splendid performances in three big Twenty-four Hour Races.

And all Motordom admires Cole-30 cars for their fine service to users
—for their unfamiliarity with the repair man
—for their stand-up qualities

The Cole-30 is a car you will be proud to own. The Cole-30 has everything you desire in a car.
—a 36-40 Horse Power motor that gives great speed and hill climbing capacity.
—a construction strong enough for a much heavier machine.
—perfect ease and comfort in riding qualities
—and a control so simple and responsive that a child can drive it.

The Cole-30 is made in 2, 4 and 5 passenger models, at $1,600 to $1,650.
—the car illustrated is the Cole-30 Special Speedster.

Before you pay more, see the Cole-30—compare it with the expensive fellows. That is all we ask. And that is the only way to get a true line on Cole-30 value.

To insure delivery when wanted, prompt ordering is advisable.

MAURETANIA IN LATE; DELAYED BY STORMS

Ex-Speaker Wadsworth, a Passenger, Sees Republican Hope in November.

HAS BEEN TOURING AFRICA

McAdoo, the Subway Builder, Returning, Says B. R. T. Offer Is Interesting, but Makes No Comparisons.

The Cunard liner Mauretania, which arrived early yesterday morning from Liverpool, via Queenstown, with 513 cabin and 967 steerage passengers, was several hours late. She encountered strong westerly gales and heavy head seas the whole way across. From noon on Tuesday to noon Wednesday the weather was so rough she made only 525 knots. The passage occupied 4 days 21 hours and 29 minutes at an average speed of 24.59 knots.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., ex-Speaker of the Assembly, who returned in her from his trip to Europe and North Africa accompanied by his wife, said he thought he was at Biskra, Algeria, on the border of the Sahara Desert, when the cables were sent to him to return for the session of the State Committee.

"Since we left New York in January," said Mr. Wadsworth, "we traveled through England, France, Italy, and Algiers, and enjoyed the trip very much."

The former Speaker said the coming campaign presented to the Republicans a great opportunity to make big gains in the Assembly.

"The Democrats have not been wonderfully successful so far," he said. "I am glad Mr. Barnes was elected Chairman of the State Committee. He is a great factor in the Republican Party. Democrats elected last year in districts usually Republican were elected because it was a landslide. These districts will be back in the Republican column next time. Factional differences last year were largely artificial to my mind."

"Do you mean that Col. Roosevelt was artificial?"

"Certainly not," he replied. "I am still opposed to direct nominations, but I shall bow to the will of my party. I am not in favor of the popular election of Senators, but it will come."

William G. McAdoo, builder of tunnels, also was a passenger. He said that he had been two months in Europe, but did not go to raise money for subways.

"I just went abroad for rest," said Mr. McAdoo. "I was tired out. All the money necessary to construct subways in New York can be raised right in the city without seeking foreign investors. We have never had difficulty in getting capital here, and I do not think we ever shall."

Mr. McAdoo said he had read the new B. R. T. subway offer, and that it looked interesting. Mr. McAdoo would not make any comparison between this and the Interborough offer, as he felt he was not sufficiently well informed. He did not ride in the underground railways in London or Paris on this journey, as he inspected them thoroughly two years ago.

Two passengers who attracted attention were Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Brenchley. This is Mr. Brenchley's first visit to the United States since he married Mrs. Dietrich, wife of the Standard Oil man. They would not talk about their plans. Mrs. Brenchley covered her face with her hands and he threw his coat over his head when newspaper photographers attempted to snapshot them.

Two professional gamblers were recognized after the ship left Queenstown, but as notices warning of their presence were posted in the smoking room, there was no card playing.

T. Crisp English, a well-known London surgeon, said he had come to visit the hospital run by the Mayo Brothers in Rochester, Minn., and watch some of the operations.

A Pomeranian dog, weighing only eight ounces, was brought over by Edna Geoghegan, daughter of a downtown broker. It attracted attention as "the smallest dog in the world on the largest ship."

WANT CROKER TO STAY.

Merchants Ask Mayor Not to Accept Fire Chief's Resignation.

Mayor Gaynor received a letter yesterday signed by fifty merchants asking him not to accept Fire Chief Croker's resignation. In part the letter read:

> It has come to our notice that Chief Croker has forwarded to you his resignation as Chief of the Fire Department of New York City, and we humbly trust you will give this your closest judicial consideration, as, in our opinion, it would greatly militate against the interests of realty owners were your acceptance of his resignation to be final.
>
> His long and faithful service, fitted as he is with such vast experience, would, in our opinion, prove him to be the most eligible person for the place. We consider it of vital importance that everything possible should be done to retain him in his present position.

Among the signers are Arnold, Constable & Co., Lord & Taylor, Stern Brothers, B. Altman & Co., R. H. Macy & Co., Saks & Co., Gimbel Brothers, James A. Hearn & Son, Greenhut-Seigel-Cooper Company, O'Neill-Adams Company, Cammeyer, Andrew Alexander, Cluett, Peabody & Co., Earl & Wilson, Mills & Gibb, Park & Tilford, J. R. Agnew, James McCreery & Co., John N. Golding, George Borgfeldt, Brooks Brothers, John Wanamaker, Brokaw Brothers, James H. Dunham & Co., the H. B. Claflin Company, Robert Rice & Co., Lax & Strauss, Ronsedorf & Co., N. & C. Mayer, Kahn & Frank, S. Mann & Co., A. W. Porter, Graff Brothers, J. & M. Wolf, S. J. Levy & Son, and I. A. Samuels & Co.

It is understood that those who circulated the petition to Mayor Gaynor were actuated by the belief that the going of Chief Croker may mean an increase of insurance rates, which would prove a heavy burden.

Mayor Gaynor sent the following letter of appreciation to Chief Croker of the Fire Department yesterday:

> Office of the Mayor.
> April 28, 1911.
>
> Dear Mr. Croker: Now that your long and faithful services to this city as Chief of the Fire Department are about to end on next Monday, I cannot forbear writing you these few lines. You have been twenty-seven years in the city's service. Your services have been of conspicuous fidelity and ability. The city and the people of the city are greatly your debtors. The pension of $6,000 a year which we have allowed to you does not discharge that debt by any means.
>
> I wish you every success in your new undertakings. My intercourse with you since I have been Mayor has been of the most agreeable character, and I have been greatly benefited by contact with you.
>
> May I also say to you that your influence on my oldest son has been so much to his good that I hope your acquaintance with him and your interest in him will be continued.
>
> I suppose your life will now be more peaceful. We in office have to take things as they come, and often be misunderstood when we are pursuing the best course and doing the most good. You are now free from all that. Come and see me whenever you can, especially in stormy weather and when you think you may help me some. Sincerely yours,
>
> W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.
> Edward F. Croker, Esq., Chief of the Fire Department, 159 East Sixty-seventh Street, New York City.

The Chief's intimacy with Rufus, the Mayor's elder son, is of over a year's standing. They first met when the Chief went to the Mayor's house soon after he was elected to advise him on the choice of his Fire Commissioner. At that time the Mayor was reported as having said:

"I wish my son could grow up to be a Fire Chief like you."

The Chief and the boy were seen together frequently after that, and the former seemed to foster the acquaintance. A few weeks ago Rufus and a party of friends had the first automobile fire truck in the city ordered out of its house for an exhibition run for them. It was supposed at the time that the Chief had sanctioned the matter. The Captain of the company was brought up on charges before Commissioner Waldo, however, and severely censured.

REGAN AN EXCISE DEPUTY.

Owen J. Murphy Wanted the Brooklyn Place—Politicians Surprised.

Brooklyn politicians were surprised yesterday when news came from Albany that State Excise Commissioner Farley had appointed James S. Regan as Deputy Excise Commissioner in Brooklyn.

County Leader McCooey had been backing ex-Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner Owen J. Murphy for the place. The impression prevails in Brooklyn that Mr. McCooey, finding which way the wind was blowing, threw Murphy over at the last and stood for Regan to save his prestige as county leader.

There was talk in the borough that Tammany influences had brought about the Regan appointment. He is very friendly with the powers in Fourteenth Street.

Mr. Regan is Democratic leader of the Fifth Assembly District in Brooklyn and Deputy County Register there.

Commissioner Farley also announced the appointment of Michael M. Murphy of Tompkinsville, as special deputy for the Borough of Richmond, to succeed George L. Nichol.

No Terminal Change, Mr. Besler Says.

William G. Besler, Vice President and General Manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, denied yesterday the renewed reports that the road is to abandon its terminal at Communipaw and run its tracks into the old Pennsylvania Station in Jersey City, thus getting closer to the McAdoo tunnel. Mr. Besler pointed out that $500,000 is now being expended on improvements to the present terminal.

A Fine, Powerful Novel of the North Woods

BARBARA OF THE SNOWS

By HARRY IRVING GREENE

Color Frontispiece and other Drawings by HARVEY DUNN

This is a fine outdoor novel, full to the brim of youth, spirit, struggle and unconquerable purpose. The scene is a city of the middle West and the forest of the Northwest. The hero strikes down a man at his club and, branded, the murderer escapes to lose himself in the woods. Here, unknown, and with every man's hand against him, he works out his life and forces success. Then, having won again his manhood, he renounces all in expiation, only to discover that his victim had recovered and that life and love were still his.

In consequence, "Barbara of the Snows" is to be recommended, not alone because it tells a story worth one's while, but for the manner of the telling, too.

A NEW BOOK ON "VOTES FOR WOMEN"

The Ladies' Battle

By MOLLY ELLIOT SEAWELL

You have been talking of Votes for Women all winter; you will be talking about Votes for Women all summer; it will be the chief topic discussed until the matter is settled.

You do not want to be caught tripping by using statements based on English conditions which do not exist here. Miss Seawell's is the only book, so far as we know, which treats the subject broadly and applies to conditions in America.

HARPERS BOOKS

The Principles of Scientific Management

By Frederick W. Taylor

This book—this wonderful, epoch-making book—does one apparently impossible thing.

It shows how the worker gets more money for the same hours of work, and how, at the same time, the owner gets more money, too! And the product costs less!

That is a thing the world has declared never could be done and never would.

But—here it is.

And the way of it all is told right out—for the small concern as well as for the big establishment, for skilled and unskilled operations.

If we are going to keep up with the House next door we have got to do it by Scientific Management. And if we are going to pass our competitors this book has got to be our business Creed.

It is a new invention or discovery like the typewriter or telephone—and it has come to stay. From now on it will always be part of our national life.

Memories and Impressions

By Ford Maddox Hueffer

Born and brought up in the innermost circle of Pre-Raphaelism, the author here tells—with all the freshness and zest of personal experience—the story of literary and artistic London a generation ago. Here we have Rossetti's Chinese curios, William Morris's brilliantly colored bandannas, and anecdotes of Ruskin, Morris, Brown, Meredith, Whistler, Henley, Wilde, and a score of lesser lights.

Keeping Up With Lizzie

By Irving Bacheller

A book for men largely about women, although we are inclined to think both sexes will delight in its queer motor race, its love duel, and its strange Ham War. Lizzies are everywhere, but there is only one Socrates Potter, and he is in this book—a keen, good-natured, witty, honest country lawyer and by far the most unique figure in recent fiction. Here are wit and satire and humanity of a high order. It has genuine humor, real characters, a foundation of truth and a gentle love story. You're in it. So is America, and at least one hundred and fifty laughs.

The King Over the Water

By Justin Huntly McCarthy

Here we have a "vision of all the gallant men and good women that had given life and love, goods and gear, for the Stuart cause." The story covers a portion of this period, and it is concerned with the romantic adventure of releasing from captivity the affianced bride of the King. The dash, the zest and the joy of life have not been caught in the pages of a book so completely since Mr. McCarthy wrote "If I Were King."

AMONG THE AUTHORS

MISS EDNA FERBER, who describes a girl reporter's life in her new novel, "Dawn O'Hara," is herself a newspaper woman. She commenced her journalistic career at seventeen on a paper in the town of Appleton, Wis., working as a reporter. She has since declared that "a year of foreign travel and a whole course in college couldn't have crammed half so much into my head as did the eighteen months of small-town journalism."

MR. ROBERT W. CHAMBERS is a competitor among the most popular writers in England this season, his "Ailsa Page" being third on the list of best-selling books in Great Britain.

MR. RICHARD TJADER has received the following letter from Dr. W. T. Hornaday, Director of the New York Zoölogical Park:

> Your book on "The Big Game of Africa" makes a fine appearance. I think you have done well in varying from the usual straight narrative style, and it is very acceptable to find the animal lore arranged in chapters, convenient for consultation and use. I think that all sportsmen who pursue big game owe you a debt of gratitude for the pains you have taken to smooth the way for them in Africa. * * * No such helps came my way when I took the field thirty-four years ago!"

MR. LEONARD MERRICK is about forty-seven years of age, and married. He gives his recreations as "music, reading other people's novels and seeing other people's plays." He spends most of his time in France. The following is told of his latest book: A man walked into one of the big bookstores in New York, and said to a clerk: "I want to look at a copy of that new book, 'Conrad's Inquest of His Youth.'" The clerk guessed what he wanted, and also that he was a member of the legal profession.

MISS WINIFRED GRAHAM, whose novel, "Mary," has just been published, divides the hours not spent in writing between social activities and river sports. Her home on the Upper Thames affords her ample opportunity for her favorite pastimes of swimming and motor-boating.

MR. WILL N. HARBEN, who pictures the life of his native Georgia in his novels, is thus characterized in a review of his "Dixie Hart," by a London journal: "Mr. Harben is a veteran novelist, and he writes of New England farm life as one who knows it well"!

MRS. MARY S. WATTS has been spending the last few weeks correcting the proofs of her forthcoming novel, "The Legacy." She has devoted so much of her time to this work that the proofs have all been returned to her publishers and it is expected that the book will appear early in May—perhaps this week.

MR. OWEN WISTER is staying with Dr. Horace Howard Furness at "Lindenshade," Wallingford, Pa., to whom he has dedicated "Members of the Family." In the dedication he refers to "Lindenshade" as his home of love, quoting "If I have ranged, like him that travels, I return again." It will be remembered that he began the book on a previous visit to his present host, with whom he has family ties.

LOUISE CLOSSER HALE sends the following jingle on a post card mailed somewhere on the outskirts of the Algerian desert:

And here I met a Matabou
I didn't know just what to do
And so I cried: "O who are you?"
He said, "I'm of a Holy Few."

MR. ZANE GREY writes from Flagstaff, Arizona:

> I leave here to-morrow for Navajo Mountain. There is only one man who knows the trail, and his name is Wetherall. He lives in the Painted Desert about two hundred miles out, and his place is the last trading post. I have an old-timer—in fact, a "forty-niner"—to take me out to Tuba, Oraibi, Red Lake, and then on to Wetherall's. From there the country is exceedingly barren and wild. In fact, my guide says it is the wildest country left in the United States.

ANNE WARNER has sailed for England again, where she says she will live in the future. To a reporter who interviewed her on the steamship Devonian, she said: "I simply must move to a country where I can afford to live. I can get three days of travel and sight-seeing for $50 in Europe, and that amount would scarcely pay for a new hat in the United States." For nearly two years previous to her visit to her old home in St. Paul, Anne Warner lived in Germany, where she was educating her daughter.

MR. VIRGIL M. HARRIS, a trust company official and a lecturer on wills in St. Louis University, has a collection of about five hundred wills, which he has used for the basis of a new book of unique interest, entitled "Ancient, Curious and Famous Wills." These wills cover a period of several centuries and among the worthies whose documents are included are the patriarch Jacob, Virgil, Caesar, Columbus, Izaak Walton, Voltaire, Washington, the Duke of Buckingham, King Charles I, etc.

MR. JEFFERY FARNOL wrote some of the best parts of "The Broad Highway" in the house at Englewood, N. J., where he lived during his several years' residence in the United States. Now it is from an upper chamber in a comfortable cottage along the actual "broad highway" of the County of Kent, England, that he burns the midnight gas; for he is hard at work on a new novel of the period of "The Broad Highway," but with its scenes laid principally in London.

DR. SVANTE ARRHENIUS, Director of the Nobel Institute in Stockholm, and author of "Worlds in the Making" and other scientific books for the general reader, arrived recently in this country and has joined in the controversy regarding the habitability of Mars. In a lecture before the Lowell Institute he upheld the view that the famous "canals" are merely earthquake lines. He is, however, one of the chief exponents of the theory that life may be communicated from one planet to another. He believes that the light-pressure—the force which has proved so useful in explaining the zodiacal light and the streaming of comets' tails away from the sun—carries the germs of life through space, and the possibilities thus opened up are as fascinating as the speculations about Mars.

MISS HILDEGARDE HAWTHORNE, with a party of friends, is taking a brief holiday in Bermuda.

BURTON HOLMES TRAVELOGUES

A Tour of the World!

What a fascinating prospect these magic words conjure up! A Tour of the World! The first enchanting glimpse into the lands that lie beyond our doors; the mingling with entirely new peoples, the viewing of strange scenes and customs;—the phenomenal mind-broadening it effects; the liberal education it conveys.

Perhaps you have longed many times to make this marvelous trip yourself, only to be obliged to dispel the idea because of business, health, family ties, or the question of finances. Is this so? Then—

Perhaps, too, you are not aware of the fact that all the pleasures, experiences and value of such a tour may be had for a tithe the cost of an actual tour, and without stirring from your own threshold?

We are prepared to demonstrate this to you.

If you will avail yourself of this opportunity to secure the Burton Holmes Travelogues, you will retain more vivid recollections of a trip through the strangest parts of the world, with the famous world-traveler, Burton Holmes, as companion and guide, than if you had made the actual tour alone.

In a series of splendid journeys Mr. Holmes unfolds before your eyes the beauties of travel in foreign lands, with such narrative skill, with so many strange experiences, incidents and humorous episodes, and so admirably illustrated by over 5,000 photographs taken on the spot by Mr. Holmes himself, as to carry you in spirit over 30,000 miles of travel, through forty of the most interesting countries and cities in the world.

It would cost you $50,000 and many years of your time to take these journeys; but don't take our word for it.

—WRITE US TODAY and we will send you a beautifully illustrated booklet containing sample pages and color plates—a full description of the work, and tell you how you may secure the TRAVELOGUES for a few cents a day.

The Broad Highway
For a number of years no novel has evoked such generous and unanimous praise from critics, book-trade and public. "The Broad Highway" is not only the year's biggest success, but it gives every indication of taking its place among those few novels that, by reason of their universal appeal, achieve permanence beyond their day and generation. No novel calculated to give so much delight has been issued in years.

If You Enjoy a Good Detective Story
NOTABLE DETECTIVE STORY.
"The Catspaw," by William Hamilton Osborne, Swift in Movement and Makes Strong Impression.
William Hamilton Osborne, who recently made a deep and lasting impression with the capital story he told in "The Red Mouse," has written, in "The Catspaw," a fiction as powerful in attention-holding as the grip of a third rail. It is a story of suspense and surprise, a detective story with startling ambushes of wholly unexpected interest throughout the text. One of the most intricate, baffling, ingenious mysteries that ever lent charm to a detective story is woven into the plot of "The Catspaw". It is swift in movement and magnetic, and it leaves an impression that if all the housebreakers and safe looters in the land could read it and conditions were the same, the author would have to scheme another novel for the higher education of the police.—The Boston Globe.

JACK BALLINGTON, Forester
By JOHN TROTWOOD MOORE
The author of "The Bishop of Cottontown" has now produced a new story which competent critics say will eclipse the great record made by the "Bishop."
THE STORY concerns the fortunes of Jack Ballington, who, on account of his gentle life and apparent lack of fighting qualities, seems to be in danger of losing both his material heritage and the girl he loves. But heredity will not be denied, and in the stirring crisis he measures up to the traditions of his forefathers. It is a love story with tender sentiment, in which Mr. Moore's writing excels, while at the same time there are plenty of dramatic and humorous situations.

MR. TAFT AND RECIPROCITY.

The continent, or rather the world, was reading yesterday the words which the President addressed to the American publishers and editors. Every reader, and still more every hearer, must be struck alike by the strength and good temper of the President's argument for reciprocity, and by the unanimity of its favorable reception. Americans may be puzzled most by the lack of dissent from an audience which surely was exceptionally well qualified to conceive and express intelligent dissent, if dissent were representative of the opinions entertained by the constituencies of the Nation's press, but Canadians will be puzzled more by the cheers which greeted the ridicule of annexation talk as "bosh." Ultra-imperialists on both sides the ocean, thinking more of the empire than of either Canada or the United States, have counseled both parties to the reciprocity agreement to think of other interests than their own, and have sought to frighten Canada by tales of our intention to digest it before breakfast some fine day. A Nation which is asserting itself against the world's greatest empire is not so easily digested against its will, and, as the President well said, we have something more than enough of other fish to fry. Our aspirations are limited to commercial annexation, and on even that the President reminds all that we are rather ahead of Canadian sentiment. In the President's words, the argument that the agreement does not go so far as we would like is the worst possible argument for not going as far as we can. It is still necessary to correct errors of protectionist teaching and sentiment among ourselves, and Canada may be pardoned for having been influenced by the bad example we set her, and which she elected to follow rather than the example of the motherland. Canada and ourselves must bear in mind that our continent, our coasts, our rivers, and our large population have not so reinforced protection as to enable us to rival her commerce under free trade, which stands four square to all the winds that blow, whether of politics or finance, while we have alternative chills and fever, and never at the height even of the fever enjoy that solidity of prosperity which is the rightful boast of British free trade. This is the skeleton at the protectionist feast. This is the reason why American protectionists dread to lose the first skirmish which is the forerunner of many defeats. This is the explanation alike of amendments meant to be deadly and of false issues like annexation. This is the reason why Canadian protectionists obstruct the agreement, averting the defeat certain to come with the vote. It is a guilty fear that withholds from consumers and producers alike the experiment of whether or not reciprocity is a boon.

When the President praises the Democrats for not playing politics with this issue he does his opponents on other issues no more than justice. And it is only fair to say that both the President and the supporters of larger and sounder commerce, while not playing politics in the objectionable sense, are playing the game of statesmanship in the manner which wins political struggles. No one who heard the President can doubt the sincerity of his views any more than he can doubt the strength of the arguments with which he supports them. The President and his supporters on this issue, by whatever name they call themselves politically, would rather be beaten supporting this issue than victorious in opposing it. They are playing politics for the country's gain rather than for personal profit. Their defeat would be the country's misfortune, if it shall occur, as seems most unlikely. The Canadian Premier and the American President are alike and equally agreed that on this issue they will not surrender, or dodge, or compromise in the miserable manner which has so long baffled political progress in so many nations. The world over peoples are sick of politics full of sound and fury and signifying nothing but disappointment. In no country is there a more eager desire than in the United States for the selection of some one issue and a settlement of it as the preliminary to attacking the next most important thing. There are at least as many campaigns in the freeing of trade as there were in the production of prosperity by taxation. The battles of the polls in the immediate future will be between the taxers and the untaxers. The issue has been ripe since the days of McKINLEY and GARFIELD. TAFT alone made it his own.

THE BRITISH PEACE MOVEMENT.

There can be nothing but the deepest satisfaction for the people of this country in the proceedings and utterances at the great peace meeting in London. Whatever may be the limitations to the extension of the principle of settlement of international differences by arbitration, it is a matter for profound gratification that between the United States and Great Britain those limitations do not apply. When we see the leaders of the two great British parties—the head of the actual Government and the statesman who must succeed him when a change comes—agreeing in support of the principle of unrestricted and lasting arbitration, all reasonable men must feel that here are two countries fortunate in the extreme.

It may be said, and with truth, that no such principle can apply between nations that are not essentially friendly and safe from quarrel. Granted, but it is no small advantage that such a condition is thus at once proclaimed and guaranteed. Nor must we forget that Great Britain is the only Power on the other side of the ocean with which we have ever been seriously at war, our war with Spain being, though its consequences were amazingly important, nothing more than a series of skirmishes by land and by sea, in which Spain was unable to offer substantial resistance. With Great Britain we have had not only the war of independence, but the war of 1812-15, and we have had during the past century many questions to solve of the gravest difficulty, at times very menacing. To work out of such a set of conditions and to see ourselves on the eve of a pact securing both nations from an appeal to arms, is almost staggering in its significance. It may well be the subject of one of the most interesting chapters in the history of the advance of true civilization.

WHO ARE THE "ENEMIES" OF LABOR?

Mr. JOHN J. McNAMARA of the Structural Iron Workers, in an address to the organized labor in California and the United States, speaks of his arrest as an evidence of "the desperation of the enemies of labor arrayed against us." Who are the enemies of labor? We do not think that "labor," and by that we mean organized labor, has many "enemies" among employers. Employers as a class are not hostile to the principle of organization. The many and great benefits that have come to wage-earners through the formation of their unions and federations are universally recognized. Organized labor, to be sure, does not win friends when by threats or duress, by strikes, boycotts, or violence, it tries to prevent unorganized labor from earning its wage. It does not win friends, either, when it makes altogether unreasonable demands of employers and seeks to enforce them by threats. But these are not of the essence of the principle of collective bargaining; they are abuses, excrescences, which, it is to be hoped, will sometime disappear. Nobody makes friends by murder and the destruction of property. Members of the Structural Iron Workers' organization have long been suspected of outrageous crimes committed in the attempt to enforce their demands. It is not for a moment to be supposed that all the members of that organization approve these lawless methods; the very great majority, probably, have had no knowledge of or complicity in such crimes. But if the guilt of certain members of that organization shall be proved, what will be the attitude of labor toward them? Will it look upon the convicted criminals, or upon those who have brought them to justice, as the "enemies" of labor?

Some labor unions have in fitting terms condemned the blowing up of bridges and buildings. On the other hand, some of the chief men of organized labor have denounced the arrests made in Indianapolis as an attempt to "crucify" labor. A great deal has been said about the "kidnapping" of the two McNAMARAS and McMANIGLE. Judge COLLINS explains that the proceedings before him were regular and in accordance with law. It has been said that the men put under arrest should have had notice and the opportunity to employ counsel. If Judge COLLINS rightly construes the law they were deprived of none of their rights. The denunciations of the detectives and others who have brought about these arrests quite overlook the fact that an arrest on suspicion is not a pre-judgment; is not an attempt to "crush" anybody. Arrests are made to the end that a trial may be had, and that justice may prevail.

Have the spokesmen of labor considered the evidence on which these men were arrested? Clocks, batteries, and detonating apparatus intended to set off explosives were found in Los Angeles where they had been placed to cause other explosions simultaneously with that which destroyed the building of The Los Angeles Times and killed twenty-one human beings. Clocks of precisely the same construction were found in the possession of the men arrested at Indianapolis. In various parts of the country where explosions have occurred these clocks have been found. A large quantity of dynamite was discovered in the basement of the building in which the Structural Iron Workers' organization had its headquarters. Other stores of dynamite have been found at various places. There is no single circumstance tending to show that these explosives and this apparatus were acquired or kept in possession for any lawful use. Who placed the dynamite in the basement of the building occupied as headquarters by Mr. McNAMARA's organization? Who caused the explosions, some seventy in all, which have destroyed buildings and other structures, most of them in process of erection, in so many places? It was probably not the W. C. T. U. Nobody will advance the hypothesis that it was the Freemasons, the Prohibitionists, or any Republican or Democratic committee. The finger of suspicion would never point to any of these organizations because there is no imaginable motive for such lawless proceedings which can be brought home to them. Is there any organization that has had a motive for these crimes?

It is to be observed, first, that in every case where an explosion has occurred it has been preceded by a labor trouble, by the raising of some question between contractors or owners and members of the Structural Iron Workers' organization. Officers of the law in their search for the guilty persons could not overlook a fact of this significance. Work in progress under the direction of members of a certain association of employers has been especially singled out for these destructive attempts. There has been notable similarity in the methods and in the mechanism employed. The explosives and the apparatus used for setting them off have been practically of the same character. They are similar to or identical with the stores found in the possession or under the control of these men of the central organization at Indianapolis, who are now under arrest.

This chain of evidence proves nobody's guilt, but no man not altogether gone in unreason would deny that it constitutes a prima facie case sufficient to warrant the committing Magistrate in holding the men for trial. That is the present stage of the affair. So far as we have observed, nobody has said that the two McNAMARAS and McMANIGLE are guilty. They are yet to be tried, and the public judgment must await the submission of the evidence and the verdict of the jury. If the guilt cannot be proved they will be acquitted. But meanwhile nothing is gained by talk about crucifying labor or about the arrest of these men being an evidence of the desperation of the enemies of labor. Men who think and reason in an American way will certainly be led to the conclusion that the worst enemies of labor are those men of the unions, whoever they may be, who go about with dynamite blowing up buildings and killing their fellow-beings. That inhuman business must be stopped. It is not exactly a service to the cause of labor to abuse those who are trying to stop it.

THE NEWEST SHOWPLACE.

The estimated cost of one evening's refreshment and entertainment for two persons, presumably of opposite sexes, in the newest place of amusement, licensed as a theatre, is $35.10. For this they may have dinner, with cocktails, burgundy, and liqueurs, not to mention pompano and duck, and supper, (with "highballs,") smoke, tip the waiter, and see musical plays, ballet, burlesque, and variety performances, from 6 o'clock P. M. until far into the night. In view of the mischief afoot all over this big town, and the temptations to spend large sums of money which continually beset the blasé and the weak-minded, the new institution may be regarded in a way as a public benefaction. One who is there at least knows where he is, and he stays a long while. He may or may not be edified and nourished, but it seems, that the result must depend largely on the state of his mind and the state of his digestion.

This new house of mirth is called Parisian. It is named after a Parisian variety hall, but we know of nothing in Paris just like it, though there are, of course, many things in Paris we do not pretend to know anything about. Our impression is that the showplace on Forty-sixth Street is peculiarly New Yorkish, an outgrowth of the American development of the English music-hall idea. The idea of combining music and acting with the consumption of food and drink is, of course, not new. It has been carried out after a fashion in many music halls here and abroad. The Casino had, in the beginning, a dining room in an upper balcony in which diners could see and hear the operetta. There were few diners.

The theatre, and its many branches, are supported, by and large, by people of very moderate means. Indulgence in one luxury must be offset by economies. The modest price of two theatre tickets must be obtained at the sacrifice of some other luxury or comfort. Truly the "plain people" support the theatre, and the combination of eating, drinking, smoking, tips, revue, dancing, operetta, and vaudeville is not for them. It is interesting, however, as an indication of the development of the gay and expensive side of metropolitan life, and it shows how we have grown since the era when our great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers walked from their modest homes to the Park Theatre, near the City Hall, bought box seats for half a dollar each, sat for four hours through wholesome farce, witty comedy, and moving tragedy performed by the finest actors New York has ever known, and then walked home again.

THE LAW OF THE MERIT SYSTEM.

The spoilsmen have had a setback. It has been decided by Justice RUDD of the Supreme Court, Albany district, that appointments must be made for merit and fitness, ascertained by competitive examinations where practicable; that the Civil Service Commission has discretion only to determine whether these examinations are practicable and that its determination is a question for the court to pass upon.

Here is how the case came before the court. When Controller SOHMER came into office he found a number of stock transfer tax examiners, whose places were subject to competitive examination. That meant that, while he could dismiss any of these men by simply stating his grounds for doing so, and listening to an explanation on their part, he could not fill their places except from an eligible list, produced by competition. He asked the Civil Service Commission to put the places in the exempt class, where competitive examination would not be required. The Commission granted his request by a party vote, the two Democrats against the one Republican. Then one of the incumbents, Mr. FRED L. MERRITT, applied to Justice RUDD for an injunction restraining the Commission from making the change in the rules. After due hearing, in which the Attorney General appeared for the Commission, the court has granted a peremptory writ based on the principle to which we have referred. We note with satisfaction that it is precisely the principle on which THE TIMES based its criticism of the Commission.

It has been the favorite contention of the opponents of the merit system that the Commission had full discretion to decide when competition is practicable and that, when approved by the Governor, the exercise of that discretion was final. Justice RUDD lays down the sensible rule that the discretion of the Commission is not arbitrary, that it must be used in accordance with facts, and that, in any given case, properly presented, the courts must review the action of the Commission. It is a little absurd that any other view should have been held; but one was held for a long time, and it is a substantial gain for sound administration and clean politics that the matter has been passed on by the bench. The case will doubtless be appealed, but we do not look for any reversal.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Complaints, Not Prices, Are Absurd.

According to the opinion, publicly and emphatically expressed, of several dealers in rare books, and of several agents serving or desiring to serve collectors of those treasures, the prices paid at the Hoe sale have in many instances been "absurdly" high.

If this criticism came from people who look on a book as something to be read, and who, judging the merits of books by other standards than those of age, scarcity and width of margin, consider the last edition of a given work preferable to any that went before, including the first, it would be comprehensible enough, and it would have a certain justification. Books are made to be read, and last editions are usually, though not always, better, as well as cheaper, than their remotest predecessors—from the reader's point of view. But readers, as it happens, are not the ones who are making the fuss over the Hoe prices. They wonder, but they are not shocked or angry, and they feel no sense of grievance. They realize that theirs is not the only legitimate point of view, and that anybody who sees in a book, or rather in a particular copy of a book, something besides so many pages of printed matter, has the best of rights to pay for the something besides just as much as may be required—if he feel that he must have it—to keep some like-minded rival for its possession from getting it.

The charge of "absurdity," however, is itself absurd—and also highly amusing—when it comes from persons who are collectors, or the exploiters of the collecting instinct in others, for then it merely voices resentment of the fact that at the Hoe sale they couldn't get what they wanted for what they were willing or able to pay for it. Most of us are in that position as regards thousands and thousands of things, but, whatever else we may say or think about the people with larger purses or stronger desires than ourselves, we do not call them "absurd." In the book market, as in every other, value, and it is real value for the time being, is determined by the highest bidder, and as that bidder in this instance is not depriving the other bidders of a necessity, or even a near-necessity, of life, he need have no compunctions of conscience when they go away empty-handed and growling. He knows who is absurd, and that it isn't he.

Domestic Service Problems.

One of our readers, as revealed in a letter we printed yesterday, wanted to know why a woman who "does her own work" is honored by everybody, while she who performs the same labor for hire forfeits recognition as a social equal, even from the woman who cannot afford to employ her. The difficulty of this question, as doubtless the reader who asked it was aware, is theoretical rather than practical, and a really sufficient answer to it would be, "Because she does." The inevitable rejoinder to that, however, is, "Well, she shouldn't," and thereupon an interminable controversy is started.

As for the accuracy of that "shouldn't," to impugn it requires a good deal of courage, perhaps of recklessness, for anybody who denies or doubts the dignity of honest labor, no matter how humble, invites instant and indignant attack of a kind that is hard to meet. Still, the bold one can take at least temporary refuge behind the fact that everywhere and always the social inferiority of the domestic servant has been treated as a matter of course by the occupants of every other rung on the social ladder, and this would hardly have been the case if there had not been something more than a poor excuse for it.

Nor is it quite true that nobody "looks down" on the woman who "does her own work." Some do, a fact which remains a fact in spite of the other fact that to entertain such a feeling is a generally, though not a universally, admitted mark of inability to understand what real merit, and dignity are. The woman who does the work of her own home, however, is in a wholly different position from that of one who does the same work for another—the difference of position being closely related to the difference of motive and of reward for the similar toil. It is useless to say that domestic service for hire ought to be attractive to intelligent and ambitious women. Possibly in a thoroughly reconstructed society it could be made so, but it never has been yet, and there are no present indications that it ever will be. Those who assert its dignity know perfectly well that it would be a last, or almost last, resort for themselves or their own daughters. The domestic servants might perhaps raise the status of their occupation if they would, but in most cases—in all cases where any chance of success exists—their one desire is to get out of it, by marriage or otherwise.

A Question Asked Too Soon.

In asking us what we have done to remedy the tramp evil the Russian Government has come for information to the wrong shop. Probably the best answer to the inquiry that the officials in Washington and elsewhere to whom it has been referred can give is "Nothing."

While that reply would not be quite true, its departure from accuracy would not be great enough to constitute a sin, since it could be counted to us for modesty, a near neighbor of shame. We might, indeed, tell the Russians that we have done not a little to the tramp in the way of sending him to jails and workhouses, where his vagrant tendencies were confirmed and emphasized, and such vicious traits as he had were brought to the full flower of habitual criminality. We would have to admit, however, that even now only a few of us have come to know, and a few more to suspect, that the tramp is less apt to be a tramp because he is bad, and wants to be one, than because his muscles and nerves are in such a state that he could not work if he would with any approach to the continuity required for industrial success.

Humorists have imagined a happy tramp, hating work and joying in the beauties of nature and the pleasures of the Road to Nowhere. But the tramp's life is difficult in the best of weather, and at other times it is so full of hardship and suffering that no one would enter upon it from preference if another career were open. Some day, instead of punishing the tramp, we shall cure the milder cases and treat the rest as the victims of neurasthenia and asthenia. Still later, perhaps we shall prevent the tramp. Only then shall we be prepared to give some useful information to inquiring nations.

DICKENS CENTENARY STAMPS.

English Committee Urges Their Sale Here in Behalf of Dickens's Family.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the belief that the heritage which Charles Dickens bequeathed to the English-speaking world is as dear to Americans as to Englishmen, may we crave a portion of your space in order to call attention to a project for celebrating the great novelist's centenary?

Charles Dickens wrote his books before the era of international copyright as it exists today. He himself strove unceasingly to bring about this boon for the benefit of his fellow authors; and if he received the equivalent of a single penny per copy on his works published in America, the number of which is said to exceed thirty millions of copies, he would have been richer by at least half a million dollars. Even in England to-day half a million volumes of Dickens are published annually upon which no copyright is paid. Under these circumstances it has seemed to the committee that it would be a graceful tribute on the part of a public grateful for the entertainment those works have afforded and continue to afford to mankind if the novelist's centenary could be marked by a voluntary offering on the part of his readers to be presented to his descendants, many of whom are in straitened circumstances.

It is proposed to collect this fund through the sale of a centenary bookplate known as the Dickens Stamp, which is to be obtained at the price of two cents from all booksellers and stationers who are interested in this scheme. These stamps are to be affixed to every copy of Dickens.

This movement has already received the support, in this country, of all classes, from His Majesty the King to those in lowly walks of life.

"Everybody, it is hoped," said Lord Rosebery recently, "will feel it a duty to buy as many Dickens Stamps, at any rate, as they possess volumes of Dickens, and to paste a stamp in each volume to show his debt is acquitted. The cause I am pleading is an old debt long overdue which constitutes a stain on the English and American races and which I cannot doubt that in this centenary year they will be both willing and anxious to discharge."

If there are many owning copies of Dickens who cannot afford the stamp, small as the price is, surely there are hundreds of wealthy Americans to whom the name of Dickens is dear, who will assist them by the purchase of large numbers of these stamps and their distribution in order that all may possess what his Majesty King George has called "an interesting and well-designed record of the great novelist."

Episcopalians and Women.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In view of the fact that the Episcopal Church Congress has had a discussion of equal suffrage upon its programme for the first time, it may be of interest to remember that the Episcopal clergy who have seen the practical working of woman suffrage generally approve of it.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe not long before her death sent a circular letter to all the Episcopal clergymen in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, and Idaho, asking whether the results of woman's ballot were good or bad. The answers received were favorable, more than two to one.

She sent a similar letter to the Baptist, Methodist, Congregational, and Presbyterian ministers in the enfranchised States, and also to the editors. The replies of the Baptist ministers were in favor, seven to one; of the Congregationalists, about eight to one; of the Methodists, more than ten to one, and of the Presbyterians, more than eleven to one. The editors were in favor, more than eight to one.

In all, 624 answers were received. Of these 62 were opposed, 46 in doubt, and 516 in favor.

Tuberculosis and Unsprinkled Streets.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Of what relative value are all the steps which have been taken by the Health Board and the society specially formed for the prevention of tuberculosis, when probably the prime factor or one of the prime factors in the spreading of the disease is allowed to continue in its destructive path throughout every Spring, Summer, and Fall? By this I mean the unsprinkled streets.

In the downtown district, this part is in a measure very well taken care of, but further north, and continuing almost uninterruptedly throughout the entire northern section, there is very little effort made to wet the streets, and the greatest portion by far practically never receives a drop of water. It is here where the streets are the widest, the automobiles and trolley cars make the fastest time, and the wind has the uninterrupted sweep, and all of which raise clouds of the dirt and germ-laden air and literally force it not only down the throats and lungs of pedestrians, but also passengers in cars and vehicles.

THIS JOHN J. BOYLE ALIVE.

Municipal Art Commissioner Personally Denies Report of His Death.

John J. Boyle, sculptor and member of the Municipal Art Commission, spent yesterday telling his fellow members of the National Academy of Design that he isn't dead and in receiving congratulations.

The National Academy of Design sent out to its members on Wednesday cards announcing that Mr. Boyle was dead, and the officers were about to appoint a committee to recognize Mr. Boyle's death in other ways when they learned that they had made a mistake. The Academy is now sending out cards saying that it was quite another John J. Boyle, sculptor, who died in Atlantic City on Tuesday.

The Academy officers learned on Wednesday that a sculptor named John J. Boyle had died in Atlantic City. Municipal Art Commissioner Boyle has done considerable work in Philadelphia and has lived there in the past. The officers of the Academy took it for granted that the sculptor Boyle who had died in Atlantic City was the Municipal Art Commissioner. So they sent out the cards, in accordance with the custom of the Academy, announcing Mr. Boyle's death.

It was only when they communicated with the Municipal Art Commissioner's family to offer condolences and to ask if a committee of the Academy could attend the funeral, that they learned that it was not the Municipal Art Commissioner who was dead.

CHURCH IS 100 YEARS OLD.

Spring Street Presbyterians to Celebrate Their Centenary Next Week.

The centenary of the formation of the Spring Street Presbyterian Church will be celebrated next week. It was founded May 5, 1811, by John Morris and John Mills on the present site, then in the country, surrounded by pasture. It is the only Presbyterian church in the city 100 years old which has remained on its original site.

This is the programme of the celebration:

Anniversary sermon Sunday morning by the Rev. H. Roswell Bates, pastor; 7:45 P. M., sermon by Dr. A. Woodruff Halsey, former pastor; special music at both services.

Tuesday, 7:45 P. M., historical entertainment, addresses by former members, including the Rev. Dr. Phraner, Mr. Shurts, and Dr. George Alexander, Moderator of Presbytery.

Wednesday, Trustees' service; speakers, William Sloane Coffin, G. Beekman Hoppin; Charles J. Barker, Treasurer; Ralph Harlow, J. Fred Goehren, Miss Jennie T. Hagan, and Miss Lena Carter.

Friday evening, Ivy Mission Band in choral; Howland D. Perrine will speak and present a picture of the first pastor, Matthew La Rue Perrine; neighboring pastors will speak.

Sunday, May 7, closing service 10:45 A. M.; Sunday school exercises.

THE GRIEVANCE OF QUEENS.

Says Increases of Assessment Are Based on Transit Facilities Not Given.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to your editorial article on the subject of realty and rapid transit and especially to the paragraph beginning, "Facts are lacking by which to test the grievance of Queens," I would say that the present assessment has increased the taxable values in Queens about $118,000,000. The increases on various property have ranged from 25 per cent. to 125 per cent. and over in some cases. These large increases have been based on transit facilities which have not yet materialized. I refer to the elevated extension over the Queensboro Bridge and the subway extension through the Belmont tunnel.

There is the northern section of Queens, a territory within five miles of Herald Square, large enough to take care of the normal increase in population of New York for the next ten years. This whole section is nearer than the Bronx or that part of Washington Heights now building up with five and ten story buildings. This entire section is served by trolley lines and partially by the Long Island Railroad, and has grown despite the adverse transit facilities.

All that Queens asks is a square deal—an extension of the Belmont tunnel by elevated far enough to the east to be of the greatest use to the greatest number.

In the Bronx there are at present six and one-half miles of subway and elevated which cost approximately $4,250,000. The Interborough now proposes to add fourteen and one-half miles additional to cost $16,500,000, making in all twenty-one miles of subway and elevated at a total cost of about $20,600,000.

With taxable values increased over $100,000,000, enabling the city to borrow $10,000,000 for transportation uses, is not Queens entitled to some consideration?

EDWARD MACDOUGALL.

New York, April 22, 1911.

Congressman Korbly's Course.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It appears that in the minds of many editors and other individuals the people of this country have no concern with the use made of the funds supplied by them to maintain the Naval Academy at Annapolis. It seems to be quite the fashion to brand Representative Korbly with demagogy for insisting on pressing the investigation of the Beers case. Why not allow the incident to be closed now that an apology, however inadequate, has been made? it is asked. The reason ought to be sufficiently obvious to those who retain a certain affection for the democratic principles on which this Government was avowedly founded. The personality of Miss Beers is of slight importance, and the satisfaction of her family is a mere private affair. It does, however, concern the public to know whether in an institution supported by the taxation of all classes of citizens snobbery is to be officially sanctioned, and labor at any honest occupation is to be branded as a social disqualification.

The Pilgrims' Bible.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reply to "History" in your issue of this morning, where he corrects President Taft's assertion: "It [the King James version of the English Bible] became at once the Bible of our American forefathers," affirming: "Their Bible was the Genevan Bible," permit me to call attention to two passages in "Our Grand Old Bible," by William Muir, just issued: "When men like the Pilgrim Fathers went out to claim new territories for Christ and freedom, they carried it [the authorized version] with them to be their rallying centre and standard, alike in Church and State," and again: "It went with the Pilgrim Fathers to New England."

Complains of a Beggar.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Can THE TIMES explain to a perplexed citizen why the menacing beggar who simulates a cripple is permitted to ply his trade every evening between the hours of 5 and 6:30 in the pathway in Battery Park leading from State Street to the Staten Island Ferry?

The park officials and policemen take particular pains not to interfere with the person's trade. It would, no doubt, be an impertinence to inquire of the responsible public official. Perhaps an appeal through your columns would throw a ray of light on the situation.

GAYNOR APPOINTS SIX MAGISTRATES

Dodd, Harris, Naumer, and Dooley Continue in Office in Brooklyn.

TIGHE AND O'REILLY GO

Their Places Taken by Police Deputy Reynolds and President McGuire of the Civil Service Commission.

Mayor Gaynor announced yesterday the appointment of six Police Magistrates in Brooklyn. Four are reappointments, the two new men being Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner Reynolds, in charge in Brooklyn, and President McGuire of the Municipal Civil Service Commission. James Creelman has been appointed to succeed President McGuire, and it is generally understood that Assistant Corporation Counsel Booraem will take Mr. Reynolds's place.

The two men whom the Mayor failed to reappoint are Magistrates Tighe and O'Reilly. The former has been on the police bench for over twenty years, having been a Magistrate in the old City of Brooklyn. Magistrate O'Reilly was appointed by Mayor Van Wyck in June, 1901. Those reappointed are Magistrates Dodd, Harris, Naumer, and Dooley. The last two named were appointed by Mayor Van Wyck with Magistrate O'Reilly. Magistrate Dodd was appointed by Mayor Gaynor in November, 1910, to succeed Magistrate Higginbotham, and Magistrate Harris was appointed by him in March last year to succeed Furlong.

Just before swearing in the new Magistrates yesterday the Mayor called them before him and gave them some advice about their duties. He directed them to use their efforts to reduce the number of needless arrests, but to co-operate with and advise the police instead of abusing them. The Mayor said:

"Two of you have served your full terms as Magistrates, and I reappoint you because it would not be right to leave you off. Your records have been excellent. We all make mistakes, but your records have been uniformly good. Two of you I appointed a year ago to fill vacancies. In you two I have not been disappointed. I have heard the best reports from all sources. I am appointing as a new member of the Magistracy Mr. Reynolds. I am certain I shall not be disappointed in him either.

"In appointing you six I feel entirely confident that I am insuring the proper administration of the lower courts in the Brooklyn district for the next ten years. That I feel entirely confident of, and I am sure my confidence will be made good.

"There is one thing I wanted to particularly say to you. Since I have been here as Mayor I have been trying through the Police Department to do away with arbitrary and unnecessary and frivolous arrests for petty things—for such things as may well be passed without much notice by the police. I attended a session of the Night Court and found, as I knew to be the case in most of the Magistrates' Courts, that the great majority of the cases brought in had to be discharged by the Magistrate because the arrest itself never should have been made. It was frivolous or, in many cases, entirely needless.

"So I am going to ask you to do what you can to help me in that respect and to help the police. Last year these unnecessary arrests were reduced by, I think, about 50,000. The returns now in show that they belong to the pettiest kind of things, such as the violation of corporation ordinances, petty batteries, and little disputes in neighborhoods, which as a rule would be better prosecuted by a warrant if at all than by an arrest without a warrant. Arrests without warrants in this city are about 276,000 a year—or were, rather—as against only 112,000 in all metropolitan London, which has a population something approaching to 2,000,000 more than we have.

"I am striving to do away with unnecessary arrests. Heretofore people have been brought in with these unnecessary arrests and to save themselves from being locked up have had to hire bailmen. That created the industry of professional bailman or bondsman. They would have no existence except for these unnecessary arrests.

"So, when policemen make these unnecessary arrests and bring the prisoners before you I would like to give you this caution, which I think is proper enough, coming from the Mayor, that you do not, as a few Magistrates do, upbraid the policeman or abuse him, but that you rather point out to him that it would have been better if he had not done this thing and not to do it again. In other words, kindly instruct him and help him in place of abusing him.

"I do not think really that I need say this to you because you are all gentlemen and above anything of that kind. But unfortunately we have some Magistrates who upbraid and abuse the police in place of entering into the work of the police and counseling with them and helping them. I ask you to do what you can in this respect during the ten years of your term. If you do, you will, in that respect alone, have done a great work. That is the principal thing that I wanted to say to you.

"In conclusion, I am very sure that the Chief Magistrate, Mr. Kempner, will have a working force of you gentlemen which will enable him to put things in shape over there and have consistent rulings all the time. It is not a good thing to see one Magistrate ruling one way and another one laughing at his ruling and ruling another way. So the present way of getting together and agreeing upon the law and then enforcing it is a good thing. This used to be particularly so in excise cases, and I understand you have one or two Magistrates over in Brooklyn now who are pursuing their own course in that respect. But I hope you will stand with the Chief Magistrate and bring harmony in that matter and all others."

Magistrate Reynolds was appointed to the Police Department by Mayor Gaynor early in 1910 to succeed Mr. Booraem, who had been made Fourth Deputy by Mayor McClellan, to succeed Arthur H. Woods at the time Gen. Bingham was removed. Mr. Booraem returned to the Law Department at his own request.

Magistrate McGuire was placed at the head of the Municipal Civil Service Commission soon after the Mayor came into office.

Mr. Creelman has been on friendly terms with the Mayor for some time. It was he who carried the Mayor's message to the Democratic State Convention in Rochester last Fall, announcing he would not accept the nomination for Governor, and he has recently written several magazine and newspaper stories praising the Mayor.

MADISON SQ. GARDEN PLANS.

Syndicate Gets a Sixty-Day Option While Details Are Working Out.

Formal acknowledgment has been made by Alwyn Ball, Jr., that he has an option of sixty days for the purchase of Madison Square Garden for $3,500,000. It is believed that Mr. Ball represents the syndicate of operators who have been in negotiations for the last few weeks with the Directors of the Garden Company.

Beyond admitting that the option has actually been taken, Mr. Ball was unable to give any definite details. The general plan is to get as long-term tenants for the big mercantile buildings to be erected on the site several of the large merchants in the downtown wholesale dry goods district.

The buildings that the syndicate propose to erect on the Garden site will be high-class lofts adapted to the wholesale woolen, linen, silk, ribbon, and kindred trades, now so well represented in the new commercial buildings recently finished along Fourth Avenue. The intervening time until the expiration of the option will be employed in enlarging the syndicate and perfecting a definite plan for the proposed improvements.

MISS PAINE TO WED A PRUSSIAN BARON

Daughter of Late Gen. C. P. Paine of Baltimore to Become Bride of H. E. von Schlotheim.

IN BERLIN CHURCH MAY 27

Bridegroom-to-Be, a Lieutenant in First Grenadier Guards, Met Fiancee at Winter's Sports at St. Moritz.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, April 28, (by telegraph to Clifden, Ireland; thence by wireless.)—Another American society girl is about to become the bride of a European nobleman. The engagement has just been announced of Miss Mabel Clinton Paine, daughter of the late Gen. Clinton Paxton Paine of Baltimore, to Baron Hartmann Ernst von Schlotheim, a Lieutenant in the crack First Grenadier Guards, stationed at Berlin.

The marriage will be solemnized at the old garrison church in Berlin on May 27 at 4 P. M. in the presence of a select company of German and American guests, including, probably, members of the American Embassy and Consulate General staffs. A reception will follow at the Hotel Esplanade.

Miss Paine made the acquaintance of her fiancé last Winter, while both were participating in the Winter sports at St. Moritz. The Baron is a member of one of the oldest families of the Prussian nobility, and is said to be a young officer of unusual talent and promise.

Miss Paine has lived and studied abroad for several years, and speaks French and German fluently. Her brother, Gordon Paxton Paine, will come over for the wedding. In the meantime Mrs. Paine and her two daughters, who are now in Berlin, will go to Paris to purchase the bride's trousseau.

JAY GOULD WEDS TO-DAY.

Will Marry Miss Annie D. Graham—Princess Kawananakoa a Guest.

The wedding of Jay Gould, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jay Gould, and Miss Annie Douglass Graham, daughter of Mrs. Hubert Vos, will be solemnized this afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Thomas's Church. Owing to Mrs. Vos being in mourning for her sister, the wedding will be a small one. Only relatives and a few intimate friends have been asked to the reception, which will follow the church ceremony at the studio of Hubert Vos, the bride's stepfather, 15 West Sixty-seventh Street.

The programme of music to be played at the wedding by Christian Kriens, one of the first violinists of the Philharmonic Society, will include a serenade by Pierne, Schumann's "Traumerei," the "Meditation" from Thaïs," and an aria by Bach for the G string. There will be other selections played by Mr. Kriens with Mr. Macfarlane, the organist at St. Thomas's.

At the reception Mr. Kriens will have his small orchestra of two violins, a 'cello, and bass, augmented by the piano. The decorations at the church will be elaborate, and pink roses and dogwood blossoms will predominate.

The bride-elect has been presented with many handsome gifts, some of them coming from the members of the royal house of Hawaii. Princess Kawananakoa of Hawaii is here to attend the wedding, and will sail next week for London to take part in the coronation festivities.

The wedding attendants will consist of Mrs. Snowden A. Fahnestock, and the Misses Marjorie Whitlock and Anita Van Dyke. Kingdon Gould will be his brother's best man, and the ushers include Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., Harvey Graham, Rush Estee, J. Henry Alexandre, Jr., Julius Noyes, and T. Chesley Richardson, Jr. Miss Graham will walk down the nave with her stepfather, Hubert Vos, who will give her in marriage.

DOVES COO AT DINNER.

White Rabbits Also in Aviary on Table for Bridal Couple.

Miss Marguerite Watson gave a dinner of thirty-six covers last night at Sherry's for Mr. and Mrs. Wright Barclay, who have just returned to New York after a wedding trip to the Virginia Hot Springs. In the centre of the table was a large brass aviary in which were canaries, cooing doves, and white rabbits. On the table in front of the bride and bridegroom was a miniature Pullman car made in candy, with a bridal couple conspicuous on the roof of the car.

After the dinner the guests enjoyed a Maypole dance in the tapestry room, which was followed by general dancing.

MISS FANNIE GRANT TO WED.

Daughter of U. S. Grant, Jr., to Marry Hart Purdy of Westchester.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 28.—The engagement of Miss Fannie Grant, daughter of U. S. Grant, Jr., and granddaughter of Gen. Grant, to Hart Purdy, a wealthy man of Westchester County, N. Y., was announced at a dinner party here to-day.

Dick-Tuckerman Wedding Postponed.

The wedding of Miss Joan Tuckerman and Evans R. Dick, Jr., both of this city, which was fixed for June 10 at Sunswick, Ipswich, Mass., where the Tuckermans have their country home, has been postponed on account of the illness of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, who are now abroad. Miss Tuckerman accompanied her parents to Europe.

Matinee of Old Music at Waldorf.

A matinée of old music was given yesterday afternoon at the Waldorf-Astoria by Miss Frances Pelton-Jones before a large assembly. Miss Jones played the music of Haydn, Bach and Scarlatti upon the harpsichord. She was assisted by Paul Fufault, tenor; Mrs. Alma Webster-Powell, and Mrs. Schömberg-Howlett, the latter appearing in classic dances. The artists, including Miss Pelton-Jones, were costumed after the style of 150 years ago.

Wm. Gillette's Farewell Performance.

William Gillette made his farewell bow at the Empire Theatre last night—for this season and his old series of plays at least—after a performance that afforded the large audience an opportunity of seeing him in most of the rôles that he made popular in past years. The programme consisted of the first act of "The Private Secretary," the third act of "Secret Service," the first act of "Held by the Enemy," the second act of "Too Much Johnson," and the second act of "Sherlock Holmes." Mr. Gillette will sail for Europe to-day, to return to New York in the Fall.

Robert Mantell Acts Othello.

"Othello" was presented by Robert Mantell at Daly's Theatre last night, Mr. Mantell playing the title rôle and Fritz Leiber appearing as Iago. Desdemona was acted by Marie Booth Russell, Cassio by Guy Lindsay, Roderigo by Casson Ferguson, and Emelia by Agnes Elliot Scott. This afternoon Mr. Mantell will appear in "Hamlet," and to-night he will give his first performance this season of "Richard III."

SOCIAL NOTES.

The marriage of Miss Ellen Emmet, daughter of Mrs. Christopher T. Emmet of 925 Park Avenue, and William Blanchard Rand, son of the late George C. Rand of this city, will take place on Saturday, May 6, at 12:30, at the country place of the bride's mother at Salisbury, Conn. Only members of the immediate families will be present.

Dr. and Mrs. Albert H. Ely of 47 West Fifty-sixth Street have sailed for Europe and will return on June 21, when they will occupy their cottage at Southampton, L. I.

The ladies' auxiliary of the New York Zoological Society will give a garden party on Thursday, May 4, from 3 to 6, at the Zoological Park. Tea will be served in the Administration Building.

The wedding of Miss Ethel N. Smith, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Smith, and Richard Henry Dana, Jr., will take place this afternoon at 3:30 in Grace Church. Dr. Smith will officiate and will be assisted by his brother, the Right Rev. Alexander Mackay-Smith, Bishop of Pennsylvania.

Sir Graham Graeme and Lady Graeme arrived here from Montreal yesterday, and are staying at the Plaza.

Miss Helena M. Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolpho H. Fischer, will be married this afternoon at 4:30 to John Franklin Shafroth, Jr., son of Governor and Mrs. Shafroth of Colorado, in St. James's Church, Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street.

Mrs. J. Warren Goddard's reception for the American Ambassador and Mrs. Hill will be given at her residence, 52 East Fifty-seventh Street, this afternoon.

Mrs. Walter Rutherfurd will entertain at bridge next Wednesday at her residence.

Mrs. Franklin Osgood has invitations out for a bridge on Monday at the Hotel Manhattan.

Mrs. Carl Neuhoff gave on Thursday a luncheon followed by bridge for twelve friends. The guests received handsome parasols.

A vaudeville entertainment, under the auspices of St. Mary's Guild for the benefit of St. Mary's Free Hospital, will be given at the Berkeley Lyceum this afternoon and evening. Miss Ruth Draper will appear in monologues.

REGINALD VANDERBILT HERE.

Says He Is Not Interested in Love Affairs of His Brother Alfred G.

Reginald Vanderbilt, who has been abroad for two months, arrived yesterday on the Mauretania. His health has improved considerably since he left here, and he expects to go shortly to his farm at Newport for the Summer.

When he was asked about the rumors that his brother, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, would marry Mrs. Margaret Emerson McKim, both of whom are now in Europe, he replied:

"I am not interested in my brother's love affairs, but when I saw him last in London he looked well and happy."

Miss Baker's Recital at Sherry's.

Miss Baker's recital yesterday at Sherry's brought out an appreciative audience. She gave a varied programme, assisted by Randall Hargreaves, baritone, and Bruno Huhn, pianist.

Miss Baker recited Herford's "The Bachelor Girl," Mary Wilkins Freeman's "Her Bonnet," Mark Twain's "How Tom Sawyer Whitewashed the Fence," and Louis Untermyer's "Spring on Broadway," which received much applause. Two amusing selections were a hit at those in opera boxes, entitled "In the Ballinger's Box," and the other, a slap at rest cures, "The Rest Cure."

Mr. Hargreaves sang old French and English songs and others.

Among those in the audience were Mrs. John C. Wilmerding, Mrs. August Heckscher, Mrs. E. Francis Hyde, Miss Leontine Marie, Miss Julia Van Duzer, Mrs. E. Marcy Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. William Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Northrop, Mrs. H. Victor Newcomb, Miss Muriel Kelley, Miss Katherine Force, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newton, Mrs. Henry W. Warner, Mrs. Taber Sears, Mrs. John Stewart, Miss Clara Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gerken, Miss Florence Gerken, Mrs. Louis Livingston Seaman, Mrs. Georges A. Glaenzer, Miss Mary Cunningham, Mme. Torpadie, Miss Greta Torpadie, Dr. Emanuel De Marnay Baruch, Joseph Phillips, Mrs. Ethelbert Nevin, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Shepherd, Miss Clara Frith, Mrs. George Stow, and Mrs. Wilson Shannon Dunn.

Aphie James Rehearses "Judy O'Hara."

Mrs. Francis Hodgson Burnett's new play, "Judy O'Hara," has been put into rehearsal on the stage of the Astor Theatre by Aphie James (Mrs. Louis James) and her company. The play, with Mrs. James as the star, will open in Boston on May 15. The supporting company includes Paul McAllister, Lynn Pratt, Ann Warrington, Frank Currier, Alfred Moore, Frank Kilday, Julia Hanchette, Frank Dekum, Isabelle Lee, Gerome Edwards, Helen Langford, Marcus Moriarty, Henry Douglas, and Caroline Oden. Frederick Paulding is directing the rehearsals and S. T. King is the manager.

METROPOLITAN OPERA PROFIT IS $32,000

Company Closes Season To-night in Atlanta, Only City on Tour Where There Has Been Gain.

CARUSO'S ABSENCE A LOSS

But Result Satisfactory to Directors When Compared with Heavy Losses with Hammerstein in the Field.

The Metropolitan Opera Company will close its season to-night in Atlanta, with about $32,000 more in the treasury than the company has expended during the season. This gain is merely nominal, of course, in face of the large amounts which it is necessary to spend every year, and leaves nothing at all to be divided between the Board of Directors. In fact, it has been announced that the policy of the company is to spend whatever money is made during the season on future productions.

The road tour of the company has been very brief this season—only two weeks—and has included performances in Montreal, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Atlanta. In Atlanta, where the company sings "Otello" to-night, the houses have been evenly large, but in the other cities, in most instances, the audiences have been small and have not in the least balanced the expenses.

In Montreal the theatre was small, and the seats ranged from $6 down—a very large amount for this Canadian city. None of the evening performances was sold out, and the matinée drew a very small house. The theatre has a limited capacity, and it was felt that it would be impossible to pay expenses unless all the seats were sold at an advanced rate. It had been originally intended to sing "Cavalleria Rusticana," and "Hänsel und Gretel" at the matinée, but the French citizens wanted a French work, and so "Faust" was sung, still to a very small house.

At one time during the season it was expected that the company would be at least $100,000 ahead at this time in the Spring, but when Otto Kahn sailed several weeks ago he announced that the amount was fabulously large. In the meantime, however, Enrico Caruso had been indisposed and the last ten weeks of the twenty-two weeks' season suffered from the lack of his presence in the répertoire.

As a matter of fact, the répertoire at the Metropolitan Opera House is largely planned with this tenor as its basis. A certain number of works are produced every season for his special benefit, and it is arranged that he shall sing at least twice a week in these operas. Under the circumstances his non-appearance means a serious loss from several points of view. In the first place, it totally disarranges the répertoire, in spite of the fact that other tenors know some of the rôles, because often it is Mr. Caruso rather than the opera which draws, and because these other tenors are not able to sing their usual rôles as a consequence of their appearance in the Caruso operas.

Mr. Caruso is said to be out of pocket about $100,000 as the result of this season. To the thrifty tenor this means nothing, as he has saved a great deal from his previous seasons at this house. As a matter of fact, he could be supported in munificence from the income of his phonograph records if he had no other income at all.

The result of this season, on the whole, in spite of its failure to achieve the brilliant financial result which at one time it was hoped would be achieved, has been very satisfactory to the Directors when they have compared the year with last year, when Oscar Hammerstein was in the field and opera was being given at The New Theatre, with frequent out-of-town performances. The losses during that season extended into six figures. It can well be imagined, therefore, that the Directors feel that they put through a good business deal when they bought out Oscar Hammerstein for $1,200,000. Not only did they get rid of their rival, but they also secured his plant, his costumes and scenery, and most of his singers.

It is probable that next season the gains will be still greater than they have been this year. No other Hammerstein is as yet in the field, and the indications are that there will be no one else with the daring to compete with the financial strength of the Metropolitan Opera Company, whose Board of Directors includes the names of many of the richest men in New York.

It has already been announced that the price of seats for the orchestra floor will be raised to $6. And it is not likely that this announcement will have any effect on the subscription sale. Those who buy seats in this portion of the house can as well pay the extra dollar as not, and a great many of them, in fact, it is said by Controller John Brown, have already signified their willingness to do so.

Next year, too, it is likely that Enrico Caruso will sing during the entire season. The company is now arranged on as economical a basis as possible. No singers are engaged for whom a need is not felt, and in most instances there is a desire on the part of the management to secure the best available material.

It is a foregone conclusion that the invasion of a complete wing of the Russian ballet next season will result in a number of completely sold out houses. Pavlowa and Mordkin, unaided, have succeeded in placing their names among the best drawing cards that the house has ever known, and it stands to reason that thirty dancers from the realm of the Czar, with their own costumes, scenery, and ballets, will share some of this success.

Among the dancers who are to appear here with the Russians are Vaslav Nijinsky, Thamara Karsavina, Sophie Feodorova, Ida Rubinstein, Elsa Will, Ludmilla, Schollar, Vera Fokina, Enrico Cacchetti, and Adolf Bolm. This company is to appear in Paris at the Chatelet and in London at Covent Garden this Spring and Summer. It is likewise probable that Pavlowa and Mordkin will be engaged for some performances.

Mr. Gatti-Casazza has seen the advantage, doubtless, of producing works new to the stage. Both "La Fanciulla del West" and "Königskinder" have had an enormous financial success in New York, and the director will doubtless attempt to obtain other new works for this stage.

Frieda Hempel, the coloratura soprano of the Berlin Opera, is a probable engagement, and there is much talk of the engagement of Mme. Tetrazzini for a few performances.

Actors for Lambs Club Ladies' Gambol

In addition to the actors already announced for the Lambs Club Ladies' Public Gambol, to be held at The New Theatre on the afternoon of May 12, are Earle Browne, William Burress, David Bispham, Herbert Corthell, Frank Craven, Eugene Cowles, Lawrance D'Orsay, Jack Devereaux, Henry E. Dixey, Edward Ellis, Lew Fields, Eddie Foy, Samuel Forrest, Joseph E. Grismer, Raymond Hubbell, George V. Hobart, Otis Harlan, Joseph W. Herbert, Sam H. Harris, Raymond Hitchcock, William Harrigan, Herbert L. Jones, Alfred Kappeler, Percival Knight, William J. Kelly, Frank McGinn, George Marion, Julian Mitchell, and about thirty more. The performance will begin at 1 o'clock and last five hours.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"The Confession" will end its run at the Bijou Theatre to-night.

William Collier has decided to keep "The Dictator" on at the Comedy Theatre until the end of his season, and defer the other revivals he had in mind until next year.

Added to the list of volunteers for the Stage Children's Fund benefit to be given at the Broadway Theatre to-morrow night are H. Cooper Cliffe of the "Everywoman" company, Maud Raymond, and Mazie King and Frank Whitman.

Werba & Leuscher announced last night that the engagement of Christie MacDonald in "The Spring Maid" at the Liberty Theatre would end on June 10, so that the star may have a six weeks' rest before beginning her next season in the piece. The engagement will be resumed at the Liberty Theatre early in August.

MUSIC NOTES.

Miss Kitty Cheatham will appear at the White House to-day, when President and Mrs. Taft will entertain a number of young girls.

Elizabeth Morrison will give a song recital to-night in Carnegie Chamber Music Hall. Edward Rechlin will be at the piano.

McGRATH AND SHERRY OUT.

One Policeman Shot a Man and the Other Defied the Commissioner.

Matthew J. McGrath, attached to the Hamilton Avenue Station in Brooklyn as a patrolman, was yesterday dismissed from the Police Department by Commissioner Cropsey. McGrath, who was champion hammer thrower of the world and champion athlete of the department, was tried on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer.

The charges grew out of the shooting of a man whom the policeman found in his house last Christmas and for which he was acquitted by the Criminal Court. The dismissal of McGrath was a surprise to his friends and others about Police Headquarters.

William A. Sherry, a patrolman of the Rockaway Beach Station, was also dismissed. He was tried for insubordination, having sent a letter to a Brooklyn newspaper criticising the head of the Police Department.

STATE BUYS MORE SPRINGS.

Saratoga Reservation Increased by the Geyser and Victoria and a Gorge.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., April 28.—Two more spring properties were bought to-day by the New York State Reservation Commission, of which George Foster Peabody is Chairman, and the new purchases, the Geyser and Victoria Springs, will be added to the State mineral springs reservation. The Geyser Spring was the first "Spouter" drilled at Saratoga, and is one of the oldest in this vicinity. With it the Reservation Commission purchased twenty acres near-by, comprising a stream of water and natural gorge. A force of twenty-five men will begin work Monday on the new State tree nursery on an adjoining five acres.

BEQUEST FOR ASYLUM VALID.

Application of Granddaughter of John Laden to Appellate Division Denied.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court denied yesterday the application of Mary G. Campion, granddaughter of the late John Laden, for an order declaring void a bequest by the latter to the late Archbishop Corrigan of the Roman Catholic Diocese of New York of property valued at more than $1,000,000, which was devoted by him to the benefit of the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum. Mr. Laden, who was a dry goods merchant, left other bequests amounting to more than $100,000 for philanthropic purposes.

Miss Campion asserted that the bequest to the Archbishop was made for the purpose of defeating the statute which forbids the willing of more than one-half of the estate of a man leaving a widow or children to benevolent objects. A letter written by the testator to Archbishop Corrigan was put in evidence. It is as follows:

> In consequence of the very unjust New York State law made in the year 1860, which debars me and deprives me from devising and bequeathing a large portion of my estate that would have gone and vested unto the Blessed Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum of the City of New York, I have under my last will and testament bequeathed the aforesaid large portion of my estate in such a manner that it will in all probability eventually vest in and belong to you, as named and expressed in my will.
>
> And I now by this private letter to you, my dear Bishop, most earnestly and sacredly beg and beseech you not to fail to immediately and most thoroughly execute an assignment, transferring all your right, title and interest and every part thereof that would in any manner eventually vest and belong to you under my will over and unto the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum of the City of New York for their own use and benefit forever.
> Have this aforesaid assignment instrument drawn up and executed by you and held in readiness to be put into the records and by and under the advice of your careful counsellor at law, so that no suspicion of unfavorable construction could be put upon it as an evasion of the aforesaid 1860 law, so soon or soon after my last will and testament shall have been peaceably allowed to go to probate.

The petition recited that although the transfer had been executed it had never been filed in the Hall of Records. The property consists of thirteen parcels of realty, one of which was taken for the Twenty-second Regiment Armory, at Broadway, Sixty-sixth Street, Columbus Avenue, and Sixty-seventh Street.

Obituary Notes.

Ex-Assemblyman W. E. WHEELER died at Portville, N. Y., yesterday, from an affection of the heart. He was a pioneer lumberman, and for a number of years was connected with the First National Bank of Olean, being a director and vice president, at the time of his death. Mr. Wheeler was 67 years old.

HENRY S. STAFFORD, first Mayor of Marquette, Mich., and an office holder under Lincoln, died at the age of 78 years on Thursday at the home of his son, Walter K. Stafford, at Newton, Mass. Mr. Stafford was born in Boston and started in business as a druggist. He was appointed receiver and registrar of the United States land in the upper peninsula of Michigan at the time of the civil war.

FRANK WORK, elsewhere reported.

RACE WITH DEATH ENDS.

Mrs. H. C. Brown Now at New York Home of Her Mother.

Mrs. Margaret Daly Brown, wife of the Wall Street banker, Henry Carroll Brown, and eldest daughter of the late Marcus Daly, the Montana "Copper King," reached the Grand Central station aboard a special car at 6 o'clock last night after a race across the continent, in the care of two physicians and several nurses. She is said to have heart trouble, having suffered a severe attack at Anaconda, Mont., where she was visiting. The altitude there, which is 7,000 feet above the sea level, proved too much for her, and it became imperative to bring her in great haste nearer to the sea level.

Her special car left Anaconda on Tuesday, and has been racing all the way here, being transferred at Chicago from the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad to the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad. All during the journey the utmost secrecy as to her condition was maintained. Upon her arrival here last night she was placed in her automobile and taken to the home of her mother, Mrs. Marcus Daly, at 725 Fifth Avenue. She was accompanied on the journey by her mother and a brother, Marcus Daly, Jr., besides the physicians and nurses.

All attempts to see any of the family last night proved futile. A butler said that Mrs. Brown was resting easily, but he would not say whether an operation was to be performed. Thursday night, when dispatches reached here of the coming of the special car carrying Mrs. Brown, Supreme Court Justice James W. Gerard, whose wife was Mary Daly, a sister of the former, said that Mr. Brown had hurried west to meet his wife as soon as he had received word of her condition, and that he had met the party at St. Paul and there boarded the special car on Thursday afternoon. Justice Gerard said that he did not know of any plan for an operation.

The city home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown is at 18 East Seventy-sixth Street.

Vernon H. Brown Seriously Ill.

Vernon H. Brown, former American manager of the Cunard Line, who retired two years ago from business, has been seriously ill for the last three weeks at his home, 145 West Fifty-eighth Street, as the result of a severe operation he had to undergo. Mrs. Brown said last night that there had been a little improvement yesterday in Mr. Brown's condition, which gave the family hope that he would recover.

Ex-Senator Kittredge Very Ill.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 28.—Reports to-day from the bedside of ex-United States Senator A. B. Kittredge of South Dakota, who is critically ill in this city, are that his condition is precarious. Little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Ray Copper Makes Interim Report.

The Ray Consolidated Copper Company, in accordance with its promise made at the annual meeting last September, has made an interim report covering the change of its fiscal year to correspond with the calendar. The report states that all but 3,000 of the 605,000 shares of the Gila Copper Company were acquired in February under the terms of exchange. Total underground workings on April 1 were about sixteen and three-quarter miles, an increase of about 100 per cent.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

GEORGE HALLE MORGAN DEAD

Retired Banker and Owner of a Fine Estate in Lenox.

Special to The New York Times.

LENOX, Mass., April 28.—George Halle Morgan, owner of a fine villa and estate in Lenox, who seventeen years ago built Ventfort Hall, a villa of English manor type, died at his country place this afternoon at 4 o'clock. He had been ill for four years, and had spent the last two years at Ventfort Hall.

Mr. Morgan was of the Hartford (Conn.) branch of the Morgan family of financiers. He was born there Feb. 17, 1840, the son of George Denison Morgan and Cornelia Hale Morgan. He was educated at Trinity College, and was at one time a member of a banking firm in New York. He married a cousin, Miss Sarah Spencer Morgan, sister of J. Pierpont Morgan, who died in 1896 at Ventfort Hall. She left a large fortune. Mr. Morgan erected in 1899 chimes in Trinity Church, Lenox, to her memory. On Feb. 14, 1899, his fifty-eighth birthday, Mr. Morgan married in Trinity Church, Lenox, Miss Sarah E. Mifflin of Pittsfield.

Mr. Morgan is survived by two sons, Junius Spencer Morgan and George Dennison Morgan; a daughter, Miss Caroline L. Morgan, and a brother, the Rev. John B. Morgan of Paris. Mr. Morgan was a member of the Union, Downtown, Church, Metropolitan, Century, and Ardsley Clubs of New York and the Lenox Club, and was a Vestryman of Trinity Church in Lenox.

Henry W. Carey.

Henry W. Carey, former Regent of the University of Michigan, died of heart disease at the Herkimer Hotel, Grand Rapids, Mich., yesterday. He was 69 years old. Mr. Carey was born in this city, and was graduated from the College of the City of New York. He went to the Middle West in 1881, and became Secretary of the R. G. Peters Salt and Lumber Company, and later President of the Michigan Maple Company. He was also President of the Hemlock Bark Company, the Lakewood Lumber Company of Grand Rapids, Secretary of the Batchelor Cypress Lumber Company, and of the Manistee & Luther Railroad Company, and President of the Wolverine Oil Company. Mr. Carey was a member of the Twenty-second Regiment National Guard of New York, from which he retired with the rank of Captain of the Veteran Corps. For fourteen years he was a member of the Republican State Executive Committee. He was once Vice President of the National League of Republican Clubs.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Parts of Fountain Pens Pay Duty as Rubber—Other Decisions.

It was decided yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers that parts of fountain pens made of hard rubber are dutiable under the rubber schedule at the rate of 35 per cent. ad valorem. Schrader & Ehlers, the importers of the article, maintained that the Collector's assessment at 35 per cent. was erroneous. The contention was raised that the merchandise should be accorded duty at 5 cents per gross and 25 per cent. on the value.

The local customs authorities justified their classification on the ground that Paragraph 187 of the act of 1909 provides for complete fountain pens, but not for parts. Consequently these articles were returned for duty as manufactures of hard rubber at 35 per cent. under Paragraph 464. No evidence was offered in behalf of the protestants in support of the claim made, the cases having been submitted on the record. Under the claim filed by the importers, it is claimed that parts of fountain pens are comprehended in Paragraph 187, which specifies "penholder tips, penholders and parts thereof." The claim is regarded by the board as without merit.

Claims filed by J. M. Tate and Frank H. Shallus regarding the classification of box tops of paper were decided adversely to the importers. Some of the articles are in the form of paper in sheets lithographically printed, and are to be used for box tops, while others are ready-made box tops with printed decorations attached. Duty was assessed on the former at the rate of 20 cents a pound as "lithographic prints," and on the latter at 35 per cent. as "manufactures of paper." Various claims are made for lower duty, but they are all overruled.

Failure to make the correct claim resulted yesterday in the board overruling a protest filed by Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne. The merchandise in controversy was imitation rubber tubing, which was returned for duty at the rate of 45 per cent. ad valorem as a manufacture of cotton. The protestants claimed that the goods are dutiable properly as a manufacture of rubber, or as a manufacture of gutta percha, or as an unenumerated maufactured article. All of these claims call for lower duty than that assessed.

At the hearing a sample of the merchandise was introduced in evidence with the request that it be analyzed to ascertain the component material of chief value. The analysis was made under the direction of the board, and from the report of the analyst it is found that gelatin is the component material of chief value in the tubing. General Appraiser Cooper holds that the goods are properly dutiable at 35 per cent. under Paragraph 23 of the present tariff as a manufacture of gelatin. As this claim is not made in the protest, the protests are overruled without affirming the assessment made by the Collector.

Bartley Brothers & Hall were unsuccessful before the board in an attempt to lower the Collector's assessment of duty on merchandise invoiced as "straining web," duty being assessed at 60 per cent. under the provision in the act of 1909 for "webbings." The contention of the importers was that the merchandise is dutiable at 35 per cent. as "harness, saddles, saddlery." The testimony shows that the merchandise is material used for straining pieces of saddles. It is cut to the length required for straining over the tree of a saddle. In overruling the importers's claims, the board holds that the testimony is not convincing.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Barometric conditions over the Northern Hemisphere have changed but little during the last twenty-four hours. Marked low pressure continues over Europe, northwestern Alaska, and the Asiatic Coast. Pressure is still high over the middle latitudes of the Atlantic Ocean and the eastern portion of the United States, but with a falling tendency over the latter section.

Weather conditions continue unsettled over the interior of the country, with low pressure, and falling pressure to the eastward. There were light rains east of the Rocky Mountains.

Temperatures are generally above seasonal average, with the most marked excess in New England, New York, and the Missouri Valley.

There will be showers Saturday from the lake region to the South Atlantic States, followed by generally fair weather Sunday. In the East and South temperatures will change but little during Saturday and Sunday.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast will be moderate south; South Atlantic Coast, light to moderate and south, except east on the Florida Coast.

Steamships departing Saturday for European ports will have moderate south winds, with generally fair weather, to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND SUNDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Generally fair Saturday and Sunday; light to moderate south winds.

New England—Fair Saturday and Sunday; moderate south winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1910.	1911.		1910.	1911.
3 A. M.	51	53	4 P. M.	59	74
6 A. M.	48	52	6 P. M.	57	73
9 A. M.	50	60	9 P. M.	53	67
12 M.	54	68	12 P. M.	50	64

This thermometer is 108 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 64; for the corresponding date last year it was 54; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 53.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 56; at 8 P. M. it was 69. Maximum temperature, 75 degrees at 4 P. M.; minimum, 52 degrees at 6 A. M. Humidity 55 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 52 per cent. at 8 P. M.

TO READERS OUT OF TOWN

Owing to the largely increased circulation of The Times and the temporary embarrassment due to its having reached the limit of press facilities in its present building, newsdealers outside the City of New York are compelled to limit their supplies of The New York Times to the actual daily sale, as the privilege has been discontinued of returning a limited number of unsold copies. Readers who are served by newsdealers should at once place their order for regular delivery if they wish to be assured of not missing a copy.

LADY SEATON BEATS HARRIMAN'S NALA

Judge Moore's Bay Mare Champion of Harness Class in Brooklyn Horse Show.

The judging of champion classes brought the Brooklyn Horse Show at the Riding and Driving Club, Prospect Park Plaza, to a successful close last night after four nights of judging, which was participated in by some of the leading exhibitors of the country.

The exhibition on the whole was a good one, but the harness classes throughout the programme was the best ever witnessed in the history of the organization and occupied the premier position.

Four championship classes were decided last night in addition to the other classes which included the cup for gig horses, known as the Brooklyn Eagle Cup, and an event for four-in-hands.

Much interest centred in the championship classes, and as usual reversal of form was evident in some events when entries that had won their respective classes in the other evenings were placed in the reserve in the final decisions for the championships. Most notable of these was the defeat of Joseph W. Harriman's celebrated gig horse Nala, by William H. Moore's bay mare Lady Seaton, in the championship class for harness horses over 15.1½ hands.

When the pair entered the ring, being the only two to qualify for the honors, it was plainly seen that Nala was not in his best form, and as he was driven around the inclosure he had his driver worried by the way in which he took the turns and refused to extend himself.

The Moore entry performed exceedingly well and answered all the calls of his handler, and before the judges passed upon the pair it was apparent by the attitude of the spectators that the blue would rest on Lady Seaton, and when their anticipation was fulfilled and Mr. Moore displayed his ribbon a round of applause was bestowed upon him.

In an earlier class Nala won the Brooklyn Eagle Cup in easy fashion and showed to advantage throughout the early part of the show, and his defeat for the final honors came as a great surprise to the followers that had looked to him to sweep the boards.

Speculation was also rife in the championship class for saddle horses over 15½ hands. Four horses were nominated for the judges' attention, but after they had entered the tanbark the entry for the Woften Farms, the chestnut gelding which was also looked upon as a possible contender for the rosette, was promptly given the gate by the judges, who claimed that he was lame. This left the competition up to Mrs. James B. McKay's chestnut mare, Lady Debonair, and the black gelding Silhouette, owned by Mrs. Charles F. Hubbs.

Both horses were a perfect type for saddle purposes, and the judges held out on their decision, but finally made their award in favor of the McKay entry, with James Schweier up, who handled his mount perfectly.

The Harriman stable again came in for a decided win in the championship class for harness horses for horses 14.2 and under 15 hands, and by the work of Jack Donnelly, who was on the box with Master Alan Harriman at his side, took the spectators by storm in the way in which he put Lady Dilham through her paces. The actions of the Lady were perfect in every detail, and try as he would Judge Moore, who was seen with the reins over White Wall Ariel, he could not endanger his rival, and when the award was made the crowd again showed their appreciation by the way in which the decision was received.

Queenlight, a chestnut mare in the saddle class and a comparatively newcomer to this country, having been first shown at the last National show by Walter Winans of England, but now the property of J. Parker Kerwin, with Miss Beaver Webb in the saddle, captured the championship award for saddle horses 14.2 and under 15 hands.

Only two entries were seen in the class for four-in-hands, those of William H. Moore and Emil Seelig. The teams were complete in every detail, and both performed well in their various stunts around the ring, but the Seelig four were somewhat small, as compared to the Moore four, and after some close scrutinizing the award was made in favor of the Moore entry. The leaders of this team showed some bad manners toward the close of the exhibition, but this was not sufficient to mar their otherwise faultless work.

Summary of the awards:

Jumpers, best performance over jumps at four feet [illegible] inches; open only to horses that have not won a first or second prize at this show.—Won by Woften Farm's ch. g. Prince; J. Burling Cocks's blk. m. Blackbird, second; P. A. Clark's ch. m. Flying Machine, third.

Century Road Club's Bicycle Run.

The Century Road Club Association will hold a century run to-morrow in which more than 100 cyclists will take part. The start will be made from Columbus Circle at 7 A. M. The run will be on Long Island. From Columbus Circle the riders will go through Floral Park, Hicksville, Rockaway Beach, Jamaica, back to the starting point. The squad will be divided into two divisions. The slow division will be paced by George Beiregel and will average about twelve miles an hour. The first division will start an hour and a half after the first division and will be paced by Al Cooley. This division will average about sixteen miles an hour.

SNEERS AT OUR GOLFERS.

London Times Sees No Dreadnoughts Among America's Leading Players.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, April 28, (by telegraph to Clifden, Ireland; thence by wireless.)—Keen regrets are being expressed among golfers that Fownes, Herreshoff, and Anderson, three of America's leading players, who had announced their intention of competing in the British amateur championship this year, now find themselves unable to come. The London Times, with a veiled sneer, says: "These golfing invaders, whether from lack of dreadnoughts or other causes, have thought better about coming." Opinion is expressed that "Chick" Evans, who, "although he never won an American championship, would make the most interesting and formidable invader England ever had" were he able to come.

QUEBEC PROTECTS AUTOISTS.

Americans Not Required to Pay $10 as Registration Fee.

The Province of Quebec has recently passed a bill providing for reciprocity to citizens of the United States in the same degree that the laws of the several States exempt Canadians traveling in this country. This protects autoists of New York State, and as a result the $10 registration fee for the car, formerly necessary to travel even the short distances from Rouse's Point to St. Johns and Montreal, will no longer be required. This will greatly facilitate travel between New York and Montreal, especially through the Adirondacks.

"Those who have followed the trend of legislation at Albany during the past few months," said Robert Bruce of the A. A. U. Touring Bureau yesterday, "have heard a great deal about the prospect of completing the through route between Lake George and the Canadian line. This is generally admitted to be one of the most important through routes in the United States, and meanwhile the Canadian Government has undertaken an equally welcome improvement from Rouse's Point to Montreal. The chances are that the work on the upper line will be complete by the time New York State has brought its good roads system to the border.

"For this reason the route from Elizabethtown to Montreal comes into larger importance than it would under ordinary circumstances, and tourists throughout the country are watching the proposed legislation with an unusually close interest. Generally speaking, the vital stretches are from Lake George to Schroon Lake, north of Schroon Lake Village to Plattsburg, and from Chazy to Rouse's Point. What is considered by many as the most important part of all, considering its length and the ease with which it can be built, is the stretch from Chazy to Rouse's Point, the completion of which would provide a good route from Plattsburg to the Canadian border, not only for the benefit of travel north from the Adirondacks, but also for travel coming across Lake Champlain from Burlington.

"The interests of tourists have been almost universally in favor of the completion of this stretch, even if it should mean the partial sacrifice of or even a temporary delay to less important pieces. It might be worth while for motorists and clubs located on or near this main route to make their sentiments on this matter known to their representatives at Albany; and even those who are not on the line, but have an interest in so important a route, might find it to their interests to take a part in the discussion."

MAY RACE AT BROOKLANDS.

Blitzen Benz and Other Cars May Compete on English Auto Track.

An invasion of England is threatened by American autoists. E. A. Morose, who purchased the Blitzen Benz from Barney Oldfield, arrived in New York yesterday from Florida, and will hold a conference with Representative Dunham of the Brooklands track in England, regarding a race meet for Brooklands May 30. Morose has ten racing cars under his management or control, and plans to take nearly all of them abroad early next month if he can make satisfactory arrangements with the Brooklands track authorities. Bob Burman, the leading driver of the outfit, and who recently broke several world's records, is waiting at Daytona for instructions regarding the English trip.

It was announced yesterday that the Florida East Coast Company intends to promote a beach race meet at Daytona next year, when $15,000 will be hung up as prize money.

CLOSE GOLF MATCHES AT ATLANTIC CITY

Phillips, Tillinghast, Seckel, and Shackelford Reach the Semi-Finals.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 28.—Four different localities are still represented in the fight for chief honors in the open golf tournament at the Country Club of Atlantic City. To-day's survivors are C. N. Phillips of Allegheny, A. W. Tillinghast of Philadelphia, Albert Seckel of Princeton, and W. E. Shackelford of the home club.

There were several hard-fought matches. For a starter Seckel barely managed to beat Richard Mott of Huntingdon Valley in a contest carried to the home green, while Charles Van Vleck of Montclair also disposed of W. E. Wilson of Frankford by 1 up. The last named tied with Mott for the medal in the qualifying round, and their scores counted in a play-off to-day. Mott won, getting 88 to the other's 89. Then to make his success the more decisive, Mott defeated Wilson in the beaten eight division.

Seckel won quite easily from Van Vleck in the afternoon, and so did Phillips at the expense of H. B. Green of Spring Haven. Shackelford, however, had to get a 77 in order to beat George Crump of Philadelphia, and Tillinghast only beat M. Risley, a local boy, by a 2 and 1 margin. The summary:

First Sixteen.—First Round—H. B. Green, Spring Haven, defeated C. B. Buxton, Huntingdon Valley; C. N. Phillips, Allegheny, defeated H. C. Holton, Princeton, 2 and 1; M. Risley, Atlantic City, defeated B. O. Race, Belfield, 1 up, at 19 holes; A. W. Tillinghast, Philadelphia, defeated F. S. Sherman, Atlantic City, 7 and 6; G. Crump, Philadelphia, defeated E. H. Fitler, Philadelphia, 5 and 3; W. E. Shackelford, Atlantic City, defeated C. Dixon, Philadelphia, 7 and 6; Albert Seckel, Princeton, defeated Richard Mott, Huntingdon Valley, 1 up; C. E. Van Vleck, Montclair, defeated W. E. Wilson, Frankford, 1 up.

Second Round—Phillips beat Green, 7 and 6; Tillinghast beat Risley, 2 and 1; Shackelford beat Crump, 2 up; Seckel beat Van Vleck, 5 and 4.

Second Sixteen.—First Round—Horace Cook, Trenton, defeated H. B. Newton, Frankford, 3 and 2; J. H. Denny, Atlantic City, defeated McLeod Thompson, Atlantic City, 4 and 2; A. C. Jackson, Columbia, defeated F. H. McCall, Atlantic City, 1 up; C. L. Tappin, West Brook, defeated C. M. Sheward, Wilmington, 7 and 6; C. M. Tyson, Princeton, defeated T. P. Endicott, Atlantic City, 4 and 3; J. M. Thompson, Spring Haven, defeated H. McSweney, Oil City, 4 and 3; B. C. Longley, Wannamoisett, defeated A. F. Smith, Berkshire, 3 and 2; Colin Thomson, Lancaster, defeated F. V. Sullivan, Ridgewood, 7 and 6.

Second Round—McLeod Thompson beat Cook, 2 and 1; Tappin beat Jackson, 5 and 4; J. M. Thompson beat Tyson, 5 and 4; Colin Thomson beat Longley, 5 and 4.

Eleven Athletes Suspended.

The Registration Committee of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union has suspended the following athletes for competing at the unsanctioned athletic games of the Smart Set Athletic Club, which were held in the Fourteenth Regiment Armory on April 26: W. Stohley, St. Christopher Club; W. Goode, Alpha Club; A. King, Laetitia A. C.; H. B. Desmond, Howard University; C. V. Norman, Alpha Club; H. Gray, and G. R. Ralston, Smart Set A. C.; L. Jackson, Sterling Club; L. De Bert, H. Anderson, and R. Overton, Crescent A. C.

Gobert British Tennis Champion.

LONDON, April 28.—The covered courts tennis championship of England was won to-day by a Frenchman, A. H. Gobert, who defeated the veteran Englishman, M. J. G. Ritchie 3—0 in the final singles at Queen's Club. Gobert is still in his teens, and was little known outside of France until he beat the New Zealander, A. F. Wilding recently in the French championships. Ritchie defeated Wilding in the semi-finals of the present series.

Tie in Shooting Tournament.

DETROIT, Mich., April 28.—The annual international shoot for the Gilman and Barnes trophy here to-day resulted in a tie between John Schmidtuz of West Toledo and R. D. Bates of Ridgetown, Ontario. Each broke nineteen out of twenty blue rocks. The shoot-off will take place to-morrow morning. Yesterday Schmidtuz captured the Jack Parker Memorial Trophy with a perfect score—twenty-five breaks.

TRACK AND OTHER SPORTS.

Hamilton College will have a good track team for the coming season if any line can be drawn through the work of the candidates to date. Wenigan, a former Morris High School athlete, is said to have developed into a 0:10 1-5 man in the hundred, also being a good performer in the broad jump. Colson is better than ever in the hurdles and jumps, and with Eggleston, who won the two-mile run in the New York Intercollegiates last year, this trio form the nucleus of a high-class team.

The fourth annual indoor championships of the Catholic Athletic League will be held next Monday night in the Armory of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, and from a competitive point of view should eclipse any ever held by the league. Sixty-five clubs, representing the five boroughs, will have men in the various events, and as some of the intending competitors are boys of good athletic ability, capital performances should be the outcome. The races will include contests from 60 yards to 1 mile. The point banner promises to be a bone of contention and will be keenly fought for.

Entry blanks are out for the Decoration Day games of the Irish-American Athletic Club, which will be held at Celtic Park. The list of events includes 100-yard novice, 125-yard scratch, invitation; 250 low hurdle scratch, handicaps at 220 yards, two-thirds of a mile, two miles, one mile relay, high jump, hop, step and jump, discus throw, hammer throw, five-mile bicycle race, and a novelty in the shape of a 16-pound shot put, both left and right hands, total distance to count, and a two-mile steeplechase, scratch.

CORN PRODUCTS' REPORT.

Profits and Surplus About the Same as the Previous Year.

The annual report of the Corn Products Refining Company shows profit from operation in the year ended Feb. 28 of $3,300,859, against $3,437,318 in the previous year. Interest, dividends, &c., totaling $88,563 brought total income up to $3,389,422.

Charges for interest, taxes, depreciation, &c., totaled $1,286,811, leaving a surplus of $2,102,611, against a surplus last year of $2,071,936. The surplus before deducting $303,517 sinking fund requirements was equal to 7.05 per cent. on the $29,818,533 preferred stock, and compares with 6.91 earned last year.

Dividends on the preferred were paid totaling $1,500,000, which left a surplus of $602,611, against $571,936 in the previous year. The total surplus on Feb. 28 was $6,065,017.

STEEL TRUST PROMOTES REIS

Makes Him Second Vice President, and He Was "a Carnegie Boy."

John Reis, for a number of years the supervisor of new construction for the United States Steel Corporation, was named a Vice President yesterday, bringing the number of Vice Presidents back to two as before the retirement of First Vice President Dickson, although Mr. Reis was not specifically named as Mr. Dickson's successor.

The new Vice President was formerly connected with the National Steel Company at New Castle, absorbed by the Carnegie Steel Company before the merger, so that he may be said to be another "Carnegie boy."

Ward B. Perley, assistant to Vice President Dickson, has been made assistant to President Farrell.

CONTROL A DENVER BANK.

Hayden, Stone & Co. Buy Moffat Stock in First National There.

Hayden, Stone & Co. have purchased 53 per cent. of the stock of the First National Bank of Denver from the estate of the late David H. Moffat, and are thus in control of the largest bank in that section of the West. Last year the same banking and Stock Exchange house purchased a 40 per cent. interest in the bank of McCormick & Co. of Salt Lake City. They have large mining interests.

The First National Bank of Denver, which is capitalized at $1,000,000, has deposits of $19,000,000. It controls the International Trust Company of Denver and has a large interest in the Denver Water Company and the Denver Street Railway.

TO RETIRE WOOL SHARES.

Stockholders Vote Unanimously to Dispose of 100,000 Shares of Common.

Stockholders of the American Woolen Company, who protested recently against the action of President Wood in purchasing nearly 100,000 shares of the common stock in the open market for the purpose of retiring it, were surprised at the special meeting in Jersey City yesterday at his statement that such action was authorized seven years ago. The opposition to retiring the stock, which cost the company about $3,000,000, was chiefly from the preferred stockholders, who felt that their priority was affected by the use of the company's funds for a reduction of the common capital. The opposition died down on the assurance given by President Wood a few weeks ago that he had no intention of paying dividends on the common stock until the surplus had been built up.

The meeting voted to retire the 95,011 shares purchased, together with 4,989 shares of common stock unissued. President Wood's explanation that the common shares had been purchased under an authorization given at the annual meeting in March, 1904, was news to most of the 100 stockholders present at the meeting. The 95,011 shares were acquired, he said, at an average price of $31.35, and none of the Directors was personally interested in the transactions. The vote to retire the shares was unanimous.

Weekly Failure Report.

Bradstreet's reports 240 business failures in the United States during the week, against 233 for the previous week and 189, 268, 282, and 163 for the corresponding weeks of 1910 to 1907. The Middle States had 68, New England 21, Southern 38, Western 51, Northwestern 18, Far West 23, and Territories 1. Canada had 26 against 24 for the previous week.

About 86 per cent. of the total number of concerns failing had capital of $5,000 or less and 10 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

WHEAT.—With domestic news of very favorable character as to crops and weather the wheat market slowly worked up with very limited offerings and closed at near the best of the day. The improvement seemed to be partly due to shorts. There was at no time any volume of wheat on the market. Prices seemed to gain on absence of selling orders rather than on any activity of demand. The May delivery West was not so strong as it has been relatively. Western receipts are gaining. Compared with last year the increase this week has been about 50 per cent., while the distribution from the interior has fallen off nearly 50 per cent. Crop experts continue extremely optimistic in their Winter wheat reports, and the idea of a record crop seems to be prevalent. In the Northwest the early sown wheat is developing in good shape, while seeding is being completed, even in the Canadian Northwest. The Canadian wheat area this year in the Northwest is placed at about 9,750,000 acres. Bradstreet's exports were 1,886,000 bushels against 1,770,000 bushels the previous week. World's exports were estimated at 10,886,000 against 12,016,000 bushels last week, and 12,080,000 last year. Indian exports for the week were 616,000 bushels against 800,000 bushels the previous week. Australian, 960,000 bushels, against 1,736,000 bushels last week, and Argentine, 2,120,000 bushels, against 2,824,000 bushels last week. There was some export business in No 2 red from New York, about 45,000 bushels. At the outports, sales were reported of 40,000 bushels of wheat; No. 2 red, was quoted at 95¼c, free on board; No. 1 Northern, $1.06½; No. 2 hard Winter, 99¼c; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.02¼.

CORN.—The corn market showed an under current of strength, with prices slowly improving. Offerings were light, while the demand for futures was of good volume all day. The receipts West are increasing and in five days have gained 800,000 bushels, but there seemed to be no pressure on the near deliveries. A good deal of corn has been absorbed for export. The volume of business for some time past has been excellent. The export sales for the day, however, were reported at only about 10 loads. Bradstreet's exports for the week were 734,000 bushels, against 829,000 bushels the previous week. Argentine exports were nil. Cash corn was firm, with No. 2 quoted at 58½c, free on board; No. 3, 59½c; steamer, 59c; No. 4, 57½c all in elevator export rate.

OATS.—There was a firm market in oats all the session, with final prices at about the best. Offerings were light, and were well taken. Receipts West showed in five days a gain of 1,000,000 bushels, over the previous week. Weather conditions are excellent and early seeded oats are reported looking well, while seeding in the Northwest is being rapidly advanced. Exporters reported 150,000 bushels of Canadian. Standard oats were quoted, 38¾c; No. 2 white, 39c; No. 3 white, 38½c.

PROVISIONS.—There was a dull, firm market in hog products. Prices slowly improved with limited offerings on more moderate receipts of hogs, closing a little under the best.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The slow, upward movement of cottonseed oil values continued unabated during yesterday's session, with evidence of further nervousness among shorts and some buying which was thought to be for foreign account. The close was at the best figures for several weeks, with some evidence of support from refining interests. Advices pertaining to compound lard situations are extremely contradictory, but conservative authorities expressed the opinion that a fair business is transpiring, stimulated by the better undertone in the pure lard market, although on the other hand it is believed that the bulk of the business passing is at levels only slightly above the low prices of the season. Yesterday was first notice day for May delivery, but there were no tenders in circulation, and the opinion was expressed that the total for the month would probably not exceed 10,000 barrels. Crude was strong at the South, quoted at $5.27 to $5.33. Future quotations follow:

COTTON.

It was another erratic session in the cotton market, with some of the old crop options attaining new high levels for the movement, while distant months ruled generally at small declines. The important feature of the day was the tendering of approximately 40,000 bales of cotton with the notices issued by scattered concerns, but mostly absorbed by McFadden and Thompson interests. The notices were readily stopped, and the opinion was expressed that the absorption of these by bull interests, together with their aggressive buying of May early, was indicative of a continuation of the bull campaign in July and possibly August.

Sharp movements were witnessed at various times, with considerable evening up in progress, while there appeared to be more or less nervousness over weather conditions. The early appearance of the map was construed as rather bearish, as clearing conditions were shown in sections of the belt, but official forecasts were for unsettled weather in many districts, while temperatures are expected to be unseasonably low. Private crop accounts were conflicting in tenor, and while the majority are inclined to take an optimistic view of the situation, owing to the increased acreage and greater use of fertilizers, nearly all dispatches referred to the lateness of the plant. Norden & Co. issued their first report of the season, placing the acreage at 4 per cent. over that of last year, their reports being about in line with those issued by The Journal of Commerce and Miss Giles.

The new crop options displayed an undertone of steadiness despite the heavy pressure brought to bear upon them at times, and it was evident that the buying by straddlers, who purchased locally and sold in Liverpool on the theory that differences were favorable for such operations, in conjunction with quiet buying by spinners who are hedging future requirements, was having effect. The demand from the latter source, however, seems to subside as values advance, as even on the basis of 13¼c cotton trade conditions in this country are not entirely satisfactory.

Liverpool cables were not of a character to offer stimulus one way or the other during the early trading, although the business in the spot department there was again smaller than for several days. Private cables, however, explained this as being due to a desire on the part of spinners to avoid month-end premiums. On the whole Liverpool correspondence is bullish, although some advices are that yarns were accumulating.

Week-end statistics were bullish, but these had been discounted, and realizing developed in the late trading upon their issuance. The into-sight figures as given by the Cotton Exchange, of 61,000 bales against 70,000 last week, and 80,000 last year, were smaller than looked for. On the other hand, spinners' takings were only 12,000 above last year, amounting to 180,000 bales. A decrease in the visible supply of American cotton of 119,000 bales occurred, against 188,000 decrease last year and 88,000 the previous year. Into-sight for the season is 1,434,000 bales in excess of last year, and exports 1,600,000 above a year ago. Southern spots were unchanged to ⅛c advance; local spots quiet, 10c advance; middling uplands, 15.35c; certificated stock, 161,000 bales, against 203,000 last year. Future quotations follow:

COFFEE.

Coffee was steady early, but late in the day there was renewed foreign selling in the late position, and the close was firm for near months and easy for the distant position, ranging from 10 points advance to 3 points decline, with sales of 47,000 bags. Havre closed ½f and ¾f net higher, and Hamburg showed an advance of ½ to 1 pfennig. Rio and Santos were both unchanged. Rio exchange on London advanced 1-32d, and was quoted at 16¼d. FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The Consular and Trade Report will note the following foreign trade opportunities abroad. Further information regarding these may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of item referred to.

6,612. AMERICAN MANUFACTURES FOR RUSSIA.—A business man in Russia writes to the bureau that he would like to enter into communication with business houses in the United States producing colophony, cotton fibre, and different articles made of that material, such as furniture, cloak bags, machine sheaves, &c. He also desires to hear from American manufacturers of gas and naphtha motors and would like to obtain catalogues, price lists, discounts, and full particulars.

6,613. AUTOMOBILES AND ACCESSORIES.—The owner of a mechanical repair shop in Bavaria has written to an American consular officer that he desires to correspond with American manufacturers of a serviceable and reliable automobile that is offered cheap enough to compete with German cars, the object being to establish a general agency for Germany and Austria. As a side line he also desires to represent an American pneumatic tire factory. A four-cylinder automobile delivered in twenty, twenty-five, and thirty horse power sizes is desired.

6,614. AMERICAN GOODS FOR LATIN AMERICA.—The bureau is in receipt of a communication from a firm doing business in Bolivia and Southern Peru stating that it would like to get in touch with American firms producing lines suitable for those markets. The firm states that it has been established only since January and it has already placed on the market about $75,000 worth of goods manufactured in the United States, including flour, shoes, steel products, hardware, &c.

6,615. VENEER BOARDS AND VENEER SEATS.—An American consular officer in the United Kingdom reports that he has received a request from a Continental firm to be put in communication with American manufacturers of veneer boards and veneer seats who export their products to England. The apparent desire of the inquirer is to buy the American product through English importers.

6,616. MACHINERY AND SPECIALTIES FOR EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.—A communication has been received by the Bureau of Manufactures from a business man who states that he has been connected with an American shoe house for the past six years, but is about to return to Austria, his home country, and is anxious to acquire the agency of firms in the United States desiring to be represented in Austria, Germany, and Italy. He is especially interested in textile machinery, novelties, and specialties of various kinds.

6,617. APPLES, DRIED FRUITS, AND FISH OILS.—A business firm in a large German city informs an American consulate that it desires to establish relations with firms in the United States exporting apples, dried and evaporated fruits, and fish oils.

6,618. HARDWARE, SMALL MACHINERY, PAINTS, AND NOVELTIES.—An American Consul in Germany reports that a business man in his district is desirous of representing American firms which export hardware, tools, small machines, paints, and various novelties.

6,619. TOILET ARTICLES.—An American Consul in Africa reports that a merchant in his district desires to become the representative of American firms for the sale of toilet soaps, dentifrices, and other toilet articles.

6,620. HARDWOOD VENEERED DOORS.—A report from an American consulate in England contains the names of three firms in his district that are interested in the sale of hardwood veneered doors.

6,621. PRINTING PRESSES, TYPE, AND SUPPLIES.—A business man in Italy informs an American consular officer that he desires to secure the representation in that country of American manufacturers of printing presses, type, printers' ink, and other sundries.

6,622. STEEL OFFICE FURNITURE.—An American consular officer in a European country reports that a business house in his district wishes to secure the agency for American manufacturers of steel office furniture. Although not in this line of business, this firm has extensive connections throughout the country and is confident, if proper terms can be arranged, of being able to introduce such furniture in considerable quantities.

6,623. MEN'S HATS.—An American Consul in Europe has forwarded a request of a firm to be placed in communication with manufacturers of men's hats, including silk, felt, and straw. The inquirer desires that a sample line be sent them free of charge, they agreeing to pay the import duty and forwarding charges.

Crank Shaft—Two bearing type, 2¼ inches in diameter. Single piece die forging, specially heat treated. All bearing surfaces ground to size. Shaft and fly-wheel carefully balanced.
Engine Bearings—Main journals, solid bushings of special white metal alloy, die cast under pressure. Connecting rod bearings die cast composition, made in halves and carefully scraped to a true bearing surface.
Connecting Rod—Drop forged steel I beam section.
Lubrication—Splash system supplied by gear oil pump. Oil is pumped from reservoir to the bottom of the crank case by gear pump.
Ignition—Dual system, high tension magneto with distributer and single non-vibrating coil on inside dash board. A set of dry batteries is provided for starting. Magneto is not an extra, but is furnished as standard equipment, gear driven direct from time gear, all gears being enclosed. Double-throw kick-switch on dash.
Time Gears—Are of liberal size spiral teeth, affording absolute quietness in operation.
Cooling—Our own patent thermal system, eliminating all pumps and attendant troubles.
Radiator—Our radiator is of unusually large size. Belt-driven fan insures proper circulation of air through radiator and around engine.
Clutch—Latest improved cone type; leather faced with spring insert, positive in action. Engages without jerk or slip.
Transmission—Selective sliding gear. Transmission is combined with rear axle housing, making complete unit construction and assuring correct relative position of gears under all conditions. The entire transmission runs on high duty roller bearings.
Speeds—Three forward and reverse.
Shaft Drive—Direct, with one universal joint, through bevel gear on axle. Driving shaft enclosed in propeller tube.
Rear Axle—Semi-floating type, with truss rod.
Bearings—Hyatt roller throughout transmission and axle. Axle and transmission gears run in a bath of oil, insuring perfect lubrication at all times.
Front Axle—I beam type, wheels running on ball bearings.
Steering Gear—Irreversible. Worm gear type.
Wheels — Artillery type. Twelve spokes 1¼ inches in diameter.
Tires—32x3½ inches.
Brakes—Four in number, acting directly on hub drums.
Springs—Semi-elliptic front and rear.
Frame—Pressed steel, channel section, full underslung. Power plant including control, mounted on tubular sub-frame.
Tread—56 and 60 inches.
Wheel Base—100 inches.
Gasoline Capacity—15 gallons.
Price—$900 with standard equipment, including magneto, gas and oil lamp equipment, generator, horn, jack, tools and tire repair kit.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Close at Sharp Advance—Call Money Rates, 2@2½ Per Cent.

FAVORABLE BANK FORECAST

Currency Movement and Loan Estimates Suggest Substantial Addition to Surplus Reserve.

Trading on the Stock Exchange in the final hour yesterday expanded considerably, after earlier hours of dullness, to the accompaniment of a sharp rise in prices. The forward movement continued up to the very close of the market, and in ten or a dozen of the more prominent active issues the net gains for the day exceeded 1 point. Despite the activity in the final hour the total for the day fell short of the previous day's trading, but throughout the session the tone was firm and some substantial progress in prices had been made even before activity increased toward the close of the session. The final record included such gains as 1¼ in Amalgamated, 1⅛ in American Smelters, St. Paul, Union Pacific, and United States Steel, 1½ in Consolidated Gas and Reading, with exceptional advances of 2¾ in General Electric and 2⅞ in Canadian Pacific. The latter sold at a new high price for the year.

The volume of the trading in bonds was somewhat smaller than on the earlier days of the week, but was distributed over an equally large number of issues and was accompanied by further improvement in some instances. Though the improved demand for investment issues has not extended much beyond the higher grade issues, interest among investors has been increasing, while financial institutions, including some insurance companies, continue to purchase bonds to a very considerable amount. Foreign participation in some of this week's new offerings of bonds has increased the sums to the credit of our bankers in the European markets. Incidentally foreign exchange rates have receded as a result of the sale of bills drawn against these credits. The amount being left on the other side, however, is very large, and at the moment the chances are against the transfer of any large proportion of these credits to this side. Meanwhile the piling up of cash at this centre, which accounts for the extreme ease in interest rates, continues. The indications yesterday were that to-day's average bank figures would show a gain in cash variously estimated at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000, accompanied, it was suggested in some quarters, by a contraction rather than by an expansion in loans. The conjunction of these two factors should make for a further large increase in the surplus reserve of the associated banks.

None of the hesitancy which has usually been shown upon the approach of a "decision day" was displayed in yesterday's stock market. Although its expectations regarding the date of the handing down of the two important decisions, which have long been awaited, have repeatedly failed of realization, the financial community is still in a mood to set a time for the rendering of these decisions. With no more assurances of accuracy than on former occasions the belief was being accepted yesterday that the decisions would not be forthcoming until the Supreme Court reconvenes after the two weeks' adjournment which it is expected to take next Monday.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

MANY COPPERS UNCHANGED

Narrow Market Leaves Some Issues at Close Even with Opening Levels—Porcupine Flurry.

There was little interest in the established issues on the Curb yesterday, and prices moved narrowly. Braden sold 1,000 at 4. British Columbia sold 700 between 5¼ and 5, closing at 5⅛, ⅛ below the opening. Giroux and Greene-Cananea each closed unchanged from the opening levels after light trading. In the bond list Chesapeake & Ohio notes reported transactions of $175,000 between 99 13-16 and 99⅝. Ann Arbor notes rose from 99 to 99⅛. There was a spurt of activity in one of the Porcupine stocks, which reported transactions of over 20,000, on which the price rose from 59 to 70.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Friday.

More than one-half of the business on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was done in the last two hours. Commission house orders were again very diversified, with the trading list for the day including forty-four different stocks, equaling the record of the day before in this respect, although the total of sales—36,570 shares—was less than on Thursday. An early incident was some lively trading in St. Paul, long before that stock opened on the New York Stock Exchange.

Pig tin, futures	190	5	0	188	10	0

The market ended steady. Spanish pig lead was steady and up 1s 3d to £12 17s 6d. Cleveland warrants were quoted at 46s 4½d. Spelter was steady at £24 2s 6d.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 28.—Trading in the local market was on a broader scale to-day, and the undertone was strong throughout. Stocks were in good demand, and some good advances were recorded. New Arcadian was a feature, selling up to 4¼; Hancock advanced a point, and Lake sold at 31. The close was strong.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Cash Still Flowing In.

The net gain in cash by the banks as a result of the week's currency movements, after allowing for the loss of more than $4,000,000 to the Sub-Treasury, was estimated yesterday at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000. In banking circles, where the latter figure was mentioned as the probable gain which the banks have made this week, it was said that the average figures would probably show a reduction in loans. Preliminary figures put this reduction at about $5,000,000, although estimates of this item are necessarily incomplete and may be materially modified by institutions whose operations are not taken into account in these estimates. Should the gain in cash prove as large as yesterday's expectations, the chances favor a large addition to the surplus reserve of the Clearing House banks. It was being figured, in fact, that the average statement might show a gain in this item of as much as $8,000,000. Gold to the amount of $500,000 was withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury yesterday for shipment to Canada in continuance of the movement begun earlier in the week.

Railway Bond Issues Sold.

Announcement was made yesterday of the sale to investors of all of the $7,500,000 Chicago & Northwestern general mortgage 4s, which were bought by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. on Wednesday, and of all the $10,000,000 two-year 4½ per cent. notes of the National Railways of Mexico, which were taken up by a syndicate made up of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Speyer & Co., Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and Hallgarten & Co., as announced Thursday. The success of these issues following the successful flotation earlier in the week of $16,000,000 Chesapeake & Ohio notes and $23,000,000 of Seaboard Air Line 4s, among other issues, was being pointed to yesterday as an indication of the extent of the present demand for bonds. This demand, bankers said, is coming from many individuals as well as from a variety of financial institutions.

New Haven-New York Central Compact.

The case with which public authorities these days obtain information regarding contracts into which the railroads of the country enter was suggested yesterday in the announcement from Boston that the text of the traffic agreement between the New York Central and the New York, New Haven & Hartford, a copy of which had been demanded by the Railway Commission of Massachusetts two days ago, has already been filed with that body. In days gone by public knowledge of a contract entered into between important railway systems could hardly have been had so easily or so expeditiously. This same agreement was the subject of a resolution presented to the Massachusetts Senate on Thursday requesting the opinion of the Attorney General of the State regarding the validity of this arrangement between the New York Central and the New Haven regarding the Boston & Albany.

German View of Trade Here.

A German view of the revival of 1909 in the United States and its results is presented in the annual report of the Deutsche Bank, written in Berlin and reproduced in the American edition just issued. "After the severe commercial crisis of 1907," the report says, "the business world stood in need of a period of repose. While in Europe the conditions prevailing were all that could be desired in that respect, the United States witnessed an outburst of premature optimism as early as 1909, from which a reaction of considerable magnitude became the inevitable consequence. During the first six months of 1910 New York stock quotations showed a decrease of more than $2,000,000,000 in share values. Extensive retrenchments followed, and these, combined with a considerable improvement in the balance of trade, have now placed economic life in the United States—which is exercising an increasing influence on that of Europe—also on a sounder basis."

Bank Clearings Better.

The bank exchanges at the principal centres throughout the country, although less so at New York, made a better showing in comparison with the previous year than those of a week ago. The aggregate clearing of $2,340,541,582 are 7.9 per cent. less than in the corresponding week last year, when business had already begun to let down to some extent, and 11.9 per cent. less than in the corresponding week of 1909. A week ago the bank clearings showed a falling off of 12.4 per cent., as compared with 10 and of 16.3 per cent., as compared with 1909. As has generally been the case recently, the loss is greater at New York than in the rest of the country. In fact, the outside cities show a gain of 0.4 per cent., as compared with 1910, and of 5.8 per cent., as compared with 1909. The New York losses of 12 per cent., as compared with 1910, and of 19.1 per cent., as compared with 1909, pull the averages for the country down.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—There was a marked falling off in the volume of transactions on the local Stock Exchange as compared to yesterday's largely increased total, and the general list seemed to slip back into the rut of inactivity, which has been its most prominent characteristic for so long. Aside from a moderate amount of trading in United States Steel, Pennsylvania, and Reading, there was little action on the local Exchange.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, April 28.—Treasury bills amounting to £2,500,000 were taken up to-day, and the release of this sum made money and discount rates easier.

Trading was quiet on the Stock Exchange. The tendency of prices was uncertain during the forenoon owing to realizing, but repurchases were made when money rates declined, and the market closed better, with the exception of Grand Trunk shares.

American securities were quiet and featureless during the early trading. In the afternoon Canadian Pacific advanced sharply on New York buying, and the rest of the list hardened in sympathy. The closing was firm.

Bar silver quiet, 24 11-16d per ounce.

Money, 2@2¼ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2¼@2 9-16 per cent.; for three months' bills 2 7-16@2 9-16 per cent.

Gold premium at Madrid, 8.40; at Lisbon, 10.

Bullion amounting to £145,000 was taken into the Bank of England on balance to-day.

PARIS, April 28.—Prices were generally heavy on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 95f 72½c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 30½c for checks.

BERLIN, April 28.—Prices were irregular on the Boerse to-day.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 44½ pfennigs for checks.

Money, 4¼ per cent.

Private discount rate, 2⅞ per cent.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—At the beginning of business to-day the condition of the United States Treasury was:

Working balance in Treasury offices, $24,274,079; in banks and Philippine Treasury, $30,971,566.

The total balance in general fund was $81,417,358.

Ordinary receipts yesterday were $2,367,119, with ordinary disbursements of $1,829,482.

The deficit to date this fiscal year is $1,502,486, as against $19,652,574 at this time last year.

These figures exclude Panama Canal and public debt transactions.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

On and after to-day the uptown offices of the Windsor Trust Company will be located in its new building, 580 Fifth Avenue.

The Directors of the Queens County Trust Company elected Robert R. Austin President to succeed the late John E. Backus. Edward L. Frost, a Jamaica Lawyer, was elected Vice President.

Thomas W. Stephens has been elected President of the Bank of Montclair to succeed the late Benjamin Graham. Mr. Stephens has been connected with the institution since its organization twenty-two years ago.

The Stock Exchange House of W. E. Hutton & Co. issue weekly for distribution a detailed quotation record in booklet form, showing high and low, number of shares dealt in, and prices of listed bonds and stocks.

The Financial World has issued as a supplement the second annual number of the Public Service Corporation Review. Included is a detailed description of approximately 900 public utility corporations, including holdng companies, with all their underlying securities.

The Executive Council of the American Bankers Association who will meet at Nashville from May 1 to 3, have arranged with the New York Central lines for a special train to Nashville and return via Cincinnati. The deluxe train will leave Grand Central Terminal Saturday morning, April 29, at 8:35 A. M., as a section of the Empire State Express, arriving 10 A. M. Sunday morning, April 30, at Nashville. The meeting at Nashville is to discuss the Aldrich Money Plan and transact business of the Association. Returning, the special train will arrive at the Grand Central Terminal, 2 P. M., May 5, in time for the Trust Company dinner at the Waldorf that evening.

OLD HOUSE IN TROUBLE.

White, Van Glahn & Co., Nearly a Century Old, Appeals to Creditors.

White, Van Glahn & Co., (corporation,) wholesale dealer in hardware, 37 Barclay Street, 15 and 16 Chatham Square, which has been nearly a century in business, being one of the oldest concerns in the hardware trade, has placed its affairs before its principal creditors to arrange a settlement of their financial matters. A committee of creditors was at work yesterday making an examination of the books and stock.

The liabilities are said to be $320,000, of which $213,000 is for borrowed money, mainly to banks and trust companies, and $107,000 for merchandise. The assets are not definitely known, the stock is estimated at $100,000, accounts $61,000, in addition to which there are fixtures, machinery, and catalogue plant, on which a large amount of money has been invested, and a valuable good will.

Phelps & East, attorneys of 30 Broad Street, who are interested in the matter, said yesterday the trouble was due to inability to realize upon the assets in time to meet obligations.

The committee hoped to be able to continue the business. The attorneys confirmed the report that the liabilities are $320,000, but preferred to have the creditors' committee place a valuation upon the assets.

The business was started in 1816 by L. & N. Seymour, who continued under that style until 1833, when the name was changed to W. N. Seymour & Co., who were succeeded in 1887 by the firm of White, Van Glahn & Co., which was incorporated in December, 1908, with capital stock $400,000, which was increased to $500,000 in August last.

It was said then that part of the money received from the sale of this new stock was used to pay off borrowed money.

In September last the financial statement of the corporation showed assets $588,730 and liabilities $174,018. Included in the assets were accounts and cash about $175,000, fixtures $23,000, stock of merchandise $250,000, and catalogue plant $100,000.

During the last few years the nature of the business changed, as it was done largely by catalogue, and a considerable portion of the working capital was spent in the catalogue and for advertising. The store at Chatham Square and Catharine Street was an east side landmark.

CHICAGO ELEVATED BONDS.

$30,000,000 Issue Said to be Taken Here by National City Bank.

According to advices from Chicago yesterday, the Northwestern Elevated road, one of the Chicago systems concerned in the long-talked-of elevated merger, is negotiating for the sale of $30,000,000 three-year notes. The proceeds will be used to take up $18,000,000 bonds, which mature on Sept. 1, and to retire the $5,000,000 preferred stock of the company.

The National City Bank was named as the probable purchaser of the notes. Its officials declined either to affirm or deny that negotiations were in progress.

CONDITIONS OF TRADE.

Commenting on general business conditions Dun's Review says:

While domestic trade moves sluggishly, export trade continues to expand, and the increase in the amount of manufactured articles sold abroad is very gratifying. The foreign commerce statistics for the nine months of the present fiscal year are in sharp contrast to the recession in domestic business. During the latest week exports from New York were $20,044,484, an increase of $6,502,755 over 1910 and of $5,475,473 over 1909. The imports were $16,908,701, an amount slightly in excess of 1909, but $1,461,058 less than in 1910. The excess of exports of $3,135,783 contrasted with a large excess of imports in the corresponding week of 1910.

Commercial activity abroad is most noticeable and is a promise of improvement on this side of the Atlantic as soon as present uncertainties, which serve to retard enterprise, pass. Another contrast is to be seen in the essentially sound fundamental conditions, such as abundance of money and comparative bareness of stocks on the shelves, on the one hand, and the curtailment of production, the inactivity in distribution, and the virtual stagnation in speculation on the other.

Railroad earnings during the three weeks of April showed a decrease of 0.3 per cent.; and most of the statistics by which volume of business is measured reveal the prevailing lethargy of trade.

Bradstreet's says:

The features of the week have been a slight stimulation of retail trade by warm, bright weather north, west, and east, good progress in the planting of and growth of leading cereal crops, and satisfactory developments as regards the outlook for leading fruit crops. The greater activity in retail trade in turn is reflected in a little better business by jobbers, but, on the other hand, unseasonably wet and cool weather has checked farming operations at the South and also made for quiet in trade. The net result the country over has probably been a total of trade little different from that of the preceding week, and bank clearings are not materially different from those of last week, while still well below those of a year ago in the country as a whole. In speculative markets there is little new to note.

Morgan Takes Interborough Notes.

J. P. Morgan & Co. have bought $10,000,000 one-year 4½ per cent. notes of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, the proceeds of which will be used primarily to take up $4,584,000 three-year 6 per cent. notes maturing on May 1. The remaining $5,516,000 will be used to recoup the treasury on account of extraordinary expenditures for equipment and construction paid out of current earnings.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 28.—North Western Elevated 4s were the feature of the trading on the Chicago Exchange to-day, the price advancing to 99¼. Less than a year ago these bonds were selling at a fraction above 94; they mature in September. The advices from the East with reference to the elevated railroad merger continued to be favorable, although time will be required to work out the details. Henry I. Blair is still in the East negotiating this deal. It is stated that his financial plan may involve a short term note issue which will carry the deal along until the consolidation can be worked out and a permanent issue of bonds can be arranged for. The general list displayed moderate activity, and there were few important price changes.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF LIQUIDATION OF THE CITY DEBT.

Room 206, City Hall Annex.
New Orleans, La., April 4th, 1911.

The Board of Liquidation of City Debt, acting under authority of Act No. 19 of the General Assembly of the State of Louisiana for the Session of 1906, and Act No. 116 of said General Assembly for the Session of 1908, and Act No. 23 of said General Assembly for the Session of 1910, as amended by Act No. 5 of said General Assembly for the Second Extra Session of 1910, which said Acts No. 19 of 1906 and No. 116 of 1908 have been adopted and ratified by Constitutional Amendment, and have become part of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana, will receive sealed proposals at its office in the City of New Orleans, State of Louisiana, up to twelve o'clock noon on the eighth day of May, 1911, for the purchase of $7,000,000.00 in face value of New Public Improvement Bonds of the City of New Orleans, authorized by and to be issued under and subject to the provisions of the acts aforementioned, and the Constitutional Amendments ratifying same.

Said bonds are of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars each and bear interest at the rate of four per cent. (4%) per annum, evidenced by interest coupons attached, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July of each year respectively. Said bonds are by law exempt from taxation, State, Parish, and Municipal.

Said bonds are payable January 1, 1942, and are subject to call at the option of the City of New Orleans after January 1, 1928, and are and will be issued under and subject to the statutes aforementioned, all of which are hereby referred to and made part of this advertisement for greater certainty and particularity.

Said proposals shall be received under and subject to the following conditions to wit:

1. That no sale shall be made of any of the said bonds unless the aggregate of bids received shall be for the full amount of said bonds, to wit, $7,000,000.00 in face value.

2. Said bonds shall be adjudicated to the highest bidder or bidders, provided that said bonds, or any part thereof, shall not be adjudicated for less than par and accrued interest, less a commission or deduction not to exceed six per centum (6%) on the principal thereof.

3. All matured interest coupons on said bonds shall be cut from said bonds and canceled, and the successful bidder or bidders shall pay the interest which may have accrued on said bonds up to the date of delivery.

4. Said bonds shall be paid for by the successful bidder or bidders in cash as fast as they can be signed and delivered, and all of said bonds shall be delivered in not more than sixty days from the date of the opening of said bids.

5. No bid will be received or considered unless accompanied by a certified check on some chartered bank in the City of New Orleans for an amount equal to three per cent. of the amount of the said bid; said check shall be made to the order of the Board of Liquidation of the City Debt, and the check or checks of the successful bidder or bidders shall be cashed and the proceeds retained by the Board of Liquidation of the City Debt as a guarantee that the successful bidder or bidders, respectively, will comply with its or their bids, and the said proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the bonds last delivered to the said bidder or bidders respectively. In case of the neglect or refusal to comply with any bid the proceeds of said check shall be forfeited to the Sewerage & Water Board.

6. Any local bank or banks that may bid for said bonds may stipulate in its or their bids that it or they desire to be awarded the custody of the Public Improvement Fund, as provided by Act. No. 23 of the General Assembly for the Session of 1910, amended by Act No. 5 of said General Assembly for the Second Extra Session of 1910.

7. If any local bank or banks should, pursuant to the statutes aforesaid, be awarded the custody and deposit of the Public Improvement Fund, as established by law, the said local bank or banks shall be required to pay the rate of interest on daily balances as may be fixed by the Board of Liquidation of the City Debt, pursuant to the statutes aforementioned, and shall comply with all the provisions of said statutes as to security and other matters.

8. The Board of Liquidation of the City Debt reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Mark all bids "Proposals for the purchase of New Public Improvement Bonds."

Further particulars and information will be furnished upon application to T. Wolfe, Jr., Secretary Board of Liquidation, City Debt, Room 206, City Hall Annex, New Orleans, La.

(Signed.) T. WOLFE, JR.,
Secretary Board of Liquidation, City Debt.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Apartment House Property the Feature of the Market—Sales in the Business Section—Thousands of Visitors at Real Estate Show—Big 56th Street Deal.

The attractions of the real estate show are drawing an increasingly large number of persons to Madison Square Garden every day. There was no lack of activity yesterday and all of the booths were crowded with interested inquirers, the majority of whom showed a personal knowledge of suburban conditions and were quick to appreciate many of the little improvements that the development companies were able to show on their properties. So many excellent residential tracts are presented for permanent homes in the country, whether in Westchester County, Long Island, or New Jersey, that it is simply a matter of taste for the prospective buyer, as he is likely to find the same type of improvements in any one of a scoreof suburban communities.

Originality and painstaking efforts are evidenced in the methods adopted by the exhibitors to display as completely as possible their suburban real estate developments. Model maps showing the contour of the land and its artistic planning are used extensively, as are bird's-eye views, or balloon pictures as some term them. Models of houses and bungalows are also to be seen, and even such parts of houses as porches, balconies, and living rooms in their actual sizes.

Investors Buy Apartments.

Apartment house property on the upper west side was the feature of yesterday's market. The Billmone, a six-story elevator structure at 518 to 524 West 139th Street, on a plot 100 by 100, was sold by the William M. Moore Company to Oscar B. Thomas for investment. In part payment the buyer gave the large parcel at the northeast corner of Aqueduct Avenue and 190th Street, consisting of a three-story frame dwelling and stable, on plot fronting 150.2 feet on Aqueduct Avenue and 124.5 feet on 190th Street. The northerly line measures 124.9 feet, and on the east it is 162.6 feet. William A. Darling & San were the brokers.

In the same neighborhood, the Floretta Construction Company, of which John J. Hearn is President, sold the six-story elevator apartment house known as the Florence, at 611 West 143d Street, on plot 75 by 100. It adjoins the Greyloch apartments at the northwest corner of Broadway and 143d Street. Slawson & Hobbs negotiated the sale.

Further north, on Washington Heights, the Egan & Hallecy Construction Company has sold to an investor the six-story apartment house, known as the Rock Forest, at the southwest corner of Fort Washington Avenue and 171st Street. The house occupies a plot fronting 94.1 feet on Fort Washington Avenue and 104 feet on the street.

The Middletown Realty Company has sold the six-story apartment house with stores at 1,973-1,975 Amsterdam Avenue, southeast corner of 158th Street.

James K. Holly sold for the United States Trust Company, executors of the estate of Ezekiah J. Donnell, 414, 416, and 418 West Fifty-seventh Street, three five-story apartment houses on plot 75 by 100.10, 175 feet west of Ninth Avenue. The buyer is Nathan L. Ottinger.

Two Sales in Business District.

Two important sales in the old business section of the city were announced yesterday. The Clark estate sold through Parish, Fisher & Co. 191 Chambers Street, running through to 183 Reade Street, to George F. Fish, the present tenant of the buildings, who will improve them for his own use. The plot is now covered by three-story brick buildings and has a frontage of 22 feet on Chambers Street and 22.6 feet on Reade Street, measuring 100 feet in depth from street to street.

Stuart Duncan sold through the Edward McVickar Company the two seven-story buildings at 392 Canal Street, running through to 11 and 13 York Street, just west of West Broadway. The York Street end of the property measures 43 by 80 and the Canal Street parcel is 20.11 by 82. The structures are occupied by the Lea & Perrins Sauce Company, which is represented in this country by Mr. Duncan.

Charles Lane, the purchaser, gives in part payment the seven-story structure with basement and sub-basement at 29 to 33 Lafayette Street, running through the block to 63 Centre Street. The property is located between Pearl and Worth Streets, and has a frontage of 80.10 feet on Lafayette Street and 24.7 feet on Centre Street. The southerly and northerly lines measure 125 and 140 feet, respectively. The Centre Street building is leased to the paper house of Charles Hubbs & Co. for a long term. Mr. Duncan has just completed the ten-story building at West and Hubert Streets, into which he will move his business.

Operators Buy Grand Street Corner.

A. L. Mordecai & Son, Inc., have purchased from Samuel Eiseman the property at the southeast corner of Grand and Wooster Streets, known as 71, 73, 75, and 77 Grand Street and 22, 24, and 26 Wooster Street; 75 and 77 Grand Street being a six-story limestone building, erected by Samuel Eiseman about four years ago, and the balance of the property being covered with five-story buildings, occupying together 145 feet 6 inches on Wooster Street and 84 feet on Grand Street. The buildings are under lease to S. Eiseman & Co., silk merchants; Auffmordt & Co., and Merz & Co.

Joseph Price has purchased from M. Rosenthal the southwest corner of Norfolk and Broome Street, known as 63 and 65 Broome, a plot 25 by 75, covered by six-story tenements.

Resale of Lexington Avenue Corner.

A Philadelphia investor has purchased from Maurice Mandelbaum the southwest corner of Lexington Avenue and Fifty-first Street, a five-story flat on lot 24 by 65. The parcel was acquired for cash last week from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, and was resold for cash, through James Kyle & Son.

East 56th Street Houses Sold.

The Huston & Spraker Company, in conjunction with Mark Rafalsky & Co., have sold for Seth R. Johnson, as attorney for Sara Esterbrook, 61 East Fifty-sixth Street, a four-story brownstone private dwelling on plot 16.8 by 100.5. The property has been in the seller's family for thirty-six years. The same brokers have also sold for the Georgia Realty Company, a client of Henry D. Winans & May, 59 East Fifty-sixth Street, a four-story brownstone private dwelling on plot 16.8 by 100.5.

Buyer for 90th Street Dwelling.

J. E. Nicholson has sold through Pease & Elliman 305 West Ninetieth Street, a five-story American basement dwelling on a lot 18 by 59 by 83.5. The buyer will occupy it.

Gibbs & Kirby have sold for Henry W. Boettger a plot of about ten lots on Fort Washington Avenue, running through to Northern Avenue, in the vicinity of 192d Street. The property is just north of the C. K. G. Billings estate.

Bronx.

Anthony Coyle has purchased through Theodore H. Nickisch the three-story brick dwelling on the west side of Harrison Avenue, north of Tremont Avenue.

Kurz & Uren, Inc., have sold for Schmeidler & Bachrach a lot 25 by 100 on the north side of 171st Street, 100 feet west of Amsterdam Avenue. Also for Schmeidler & Bachrach a plot 75 by 112 on the north side of 141st Street, between Beekman and Crimmins Avenues, to a builder for immediate improvement.

Clement H. Smith has resold the two-family house 4,053 Park Avenue, on a lot 16.8 by 120. Also 1,726 Washington Avenue, a two-family house on a lot 25 by 90.

Hugo Wabst has sold the vacant plot 50 by 114 on the south side of 218th Street, 450 feet west of White Plains Avenue.

The L. & M. Holding Company has purchased from John P. Nolan the plot 150 by 117 by irregular, on the east side of Sedgwick Avenue, 50 feet south of Fordham Road. The property was given in part payment for the apartment houses 705 and 709 West 170th Street.

Hyman Shatzkin has sold a plot 50 by 100 on the south side of Bartholdi Street, 75 feet west of Pine Avenue, to the G. & S. Realty Company for John Miller, and immediately resold the parcel to Rosario Lobel.

Brooklyn.

H. W. Rozell & Son have sold 233 Ryerson Street, opposite Pratt Park, a three-story and basement brick, for G. F. Beyer to a client; 98 Washington Avenue, near Park Avenue, a two and a half story and basement brick, for the Kuhn-Lawson Company of New York to a client for occupancy; 13 Willoughby Avenue, adjacent to Fort Green Park, a three-story and basement brick, for P. Young to a client for occupancy; 135 Gates Avenue, near Classon Avenue, a three-story and basement brick, for Mrs. Boyd to a client for occupancy; 289 Clermont Avenue, near the new Masonic Temple, a three-story and basement brownstone, for J. Beecham to a client for occupancy, and 86 and 88 Adelphi Street, near Myrtle Avenue, two two-story and basement frame houses, for R. Jill to a client.

Fox Hill Villa Sold.

Negotiations between the Rev. Father J. T. Shealy, representing the Laymen's League for Retreats and Social Studies, and Cornelius G. Kolff, representing the Anna C. Meyer estate, in co-operation with Messrs. Frank S. Whalen and F. M. Meehan of New York, have resulted in the sale of the Fox Hills Villa, Fingerboard Road, Fort Wadsworth, S. I., to the corporation mentioned.

This property, comprising about 19 acres, with the large manor house and extensive outbuildings surrounded by a beautiful park and gardens, was for many years the home of Louis H. Meyer, and during his occupancy was one of the "show places" of Staten Island, on which Mr. Meyer is reported to have spent over $800,000.

The new owners will take possession of their purchase about Aug. 1, and will name it Mount Manresa, in honor of the little town of that name in Spain, where St. Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the Jesuits, wrote his famous book of the "Spiritual Exercises." The property, besides being restored to its former state of perfection, will be improved by the erection of an imposing structure on the elevation in the rear of the grounds.

Suburban.

The Stewart Realty Company has sold in Cedarhurst Park, L. I., to G. Frank Sweeny a twelve-room stucco house on a plot 75 by 150.

The Lewis H. May Company has resold for the S. & L. Construction Company the Ansbacher homestead on the east side of Sea View Avenue, Arverne, L. I., to John Weiner. Extensive improvements will be installed and it will be held by the owner as an investment.

Francis L. Leland, President of the New York County National Bank, has purchased Boulder Grange, the estate of Mrs. George A. Armstrong, at Great Barrington, Mass. The property consists of about 614 acres, residence and outbuildings, and is said to have cost Mr. Armstrong $100,000. The sale was negotiated by the D. B. Cornell Company.

Smith & McNeil's Changes Owners Monday.

The John J. Fleming Company has sold for Thomas R. McNeil the Smith & McNeil's, Incorporated, hotel and restaurant to Henry Zahn, Bernard Zahn, and Louis Lukes, who take possession on May 1 under a long lease. The hotel and restaurant includes the buildings 196, 198, and 200 Greenwich, 73 and 75 Vesey, and 195, 197, 199, and 201 Washington Streets.

Recent Buyers.

L. E. Roach is the buyer of the property 408 West 154th Street, sold by the Lilienthal estate through L. J. Phillips & Co.

A. L. Mordecai & Son, Incorporated, are the buyers of the dwellings 138 to 144 West Seventy-first Street.

Mrs. M. A. Robinson is the buyer of 102 East Sixty-fourth Street, sold recently by Nicholas Biddle.

Samuel Eisman is the purchaser of the Allendale apartment house, at the northeast corner of West End Avenue and Ninety-ninth Street.

Spuyten Duyvil Estate Leased.

A. N. Gitterman has leased Yale Manor, a four-acre country estate at Spuyten Duyvil to Mrs. G. M. Lawrence of Yonkers. This is one of the show places of the section, and is well situated, overlooking the Hudson and Harlem Rivers for many miles. The lease is for a term of years, and the tenant contemplates improving the property. H. R. Thomas of Yonkers represented Mrs. Lawrence, while Messrs. de Selding Brothers represented William H. Yale.

Opdyke Estate at Auction.

Joseph P. Day will sell to-day at 2 P. M. in the Council Chambers of the City Hall of Englewood, N. J., the Opdyke estate, located in the Borough of Tenafly, Bergen County, N. J., more particularly known as Clinton Point, which consists of about 100 acres of shady cliff land which has a frontage of about 2,000 feet at a height of 400 feet, overlooking the Hudson River. The sale is by order of the Hon. William M. Johnson, Special Master, to settle the estate of the late Mayor George Opdyke of New York City. The property is directly opposite Riverdale, New York City.

$75,000 Private Residence.

Plans have been filed for a five-story private dwelling for Mrs. Ethel M. Goodridge on the south side of Seventy-eighth Street, 242 feet from Park Avenue, and known as 122 and 124. The building will be of brick in the Gothic style, equipped with an elevator. The first floor will contain the entrance vestibule and a massive entrance hall, with a dining room in the rear. Foster, Gade & Graham, the architects, estimate the cost at $75,000.

Notes.

Thomas Shiels has been appointed receiver of the rents of 518 West 111th Street, a six-story apartment house, known as Trinity Court, west of Amsterdam Avenue, by Justice Blanchard of the Supreme Court, pending a suit brought by Pincus Lowenfeld and William Prager to foreclose a second mortgage of $30,000. The prior mortgage is $170,000.

A. N. Gitterman has leased the McShane house, on Van Corlear Place, Marble Hill, for the Orange Savings Bank to G. G. Godwin for a term of years. It is a two-story dwelling.

MANHATTAN—FOR SALE.

Organization

To give the PROPER attention to details means a thorough organization—a thorough organization means a trained force of men capable of mastering details—

We have all heard of "Little Grains of Sand" and the "Little Drops of Water" and the POWER they bring through their co-ordination—if it is so in dealing with natural forces, why not so in dealing in a big business.

The smallest parcel or the largest estate will receive the careful attention of my entire organization personally supervised by me.

A Suburban Community in the Heart of the City

Come to the Real Estate and Ideal Homes Show in Madison Square Garden. It breathes the air of the country in its spring time splendor and portrays realistically the familiar scenes of suburban life and the pleasures and conveniences which go with it. Come and live, for an hour or two at least, the real life of the open country.

Here are represented all the leading suburban real estate developments, vividly portrayed in maps, models and photographs—and you can see in an hour or two what it would take weeks to see if you actually visited each property.

See the latest methods of house building and all that is new in house equipment and house-furnishing.

Enjoy the excellent concerts given each afternoon and evening by the Royal Venetian Band, which here makes its first American appearance.

Open from 11 A. M. to 11 P. M.

DeWitt, and Mortimer Bishop, executors named in the last will and testament of ELLEN CUSHING, deceased, the heirs and next of kin of Ellen Cushing, late of the County of New York, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Catherine L. Steward of Irving, Marshall County, Kansas, and William G. DeWitt and Mortimer Bishop of the City of New York, have lately applied to the Surrogates' Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing, consisting of a will and one codicil thereto, both bearing date the eighth day of June, 1905, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Ellen Cushing, late of the County of New York, deceased; therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office, in the County of New York, on the 26th day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, at half past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the Seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York, to be hereunto affixed.

[L.S.] Witness, Hon. Robert Ludlow Fowler, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said County, the 24th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven.
DANIEL J. DOWDNEY,
Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, SOUTHERN District of New York.—In the matter of ALFRED M. JUDSON, CHARLES Y. JUDSON, and PERCY W. SHERMAN, individually and as members of the firm of Judson & Judson, Bankrupts.

To Whom It May Concern:

Please take notice that an order was made by this Court on April 11th, 1911, and duly filed in the office of the Clerk of this Court on said day, directing all persons, firms, and corporations who have or assert any claims of any nature whatsoever to any stocks, bonds, or securities which are in the possession of A. Leo Everett, Esq., as Trustee in bankruptcy herein, or who have or assert any claims of any nature whatsoever to any sums of money, the proceeds of stocks, bonds, or other securities claimed as their property which may have come into the possession of the said A. Leo Everett as Trustee in bankruptcy herein, to file a verified claim thereto in the office of Hon. Seaman Miller, one of the referees in bankruptcy of this Court, at No. 2 Rector Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County, and State of New York, on or before the 9th day of May, 1911, and appointing the said Seaman Miller Special Master for the purpose of considering the said claims.

And you are further notified that the first hearing upon all claims which may be filed pursuant to the said order with the Hon. Seaman Miller as Special Master, will be held at the office of the said Special Master at No. 2 Rector Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County, and State of New York, on the tenth day of May, 1911, at three o'clock in the afternoon of the said day or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, and at that time and place the Trustee will move to dismiss the said claims.

Dated New York, April 19, 1911.
A. LEO EVERETT, Trustee.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York.—No. 14,402.—AUGUSTA HIRSH, Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Augusta Hirsh, bankrupt, has filed her petition, dated April 24th, 1911, praying for a discharge from all her debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before United States District Judges in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Monday, May 29th, 1911, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.
SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
New York, April 24th, 1911.

The One Best Man.

¶ For every task there is some one specially qualified by aptitude, experience, and general fitness.

¶ Every employer spends hours each week trying to fit his work to the employes at hand or within his knowledge as available.

¶ How much more profitable to have search made in the great city of New York for the one person who can do the work and who is looking for an opportunity to do it?

¶ The "Effective" Want advertisement in The Times performs this service. It is a universal public notice of the exact requirement sure to reach the efficient worker.

¶ Any advertising agency accepts "Effective" Want advertisements of fifty words for one dollar for prompt insertion in The Times or telephone 1000 Bryant.

BOOK BRINGS $21,000 AT HOE LIBRARY SALE

TRANSLATED FROM FRENCH

Sales Aggregate $462,130 and the Auction Not Half Over—Illuminated Manuscripts Expected to Bring $250,000.

The highest price at the Robert Hoe library sale yesterday, and the second highest price of the sale so far, was realized at the afternoon session, when Walter M. Hill of Chicago paid $21,000—a new record—for the only known copy, printed on vellum, of "Helyas, Knight of the Swanne," small quarto, London, 1512. It is said to be the only book printed on vellum by Wynkyn de Worde, who, upon William Caxton's death, became owner of his printing materials and establishment.

That this great rarity would bring one of the highest prices of the sale was anticipated, owing to the reappearence in the auction room of Miss Greene, J. P. Morgan's librarian, and Bernard Quaritch of London, both of whom for several days have been absent, their places being filled by representatives. It was between Mr. Hill, George D. Smith, apparently bidding for Henry E. Huntington; Dr. Rosenbach of Philadelphia, and Miss Greene that the contest for this literary prize chiefly lay. Dr. Rosenbach stopped at $10,000, Miss Greene bid up to $12,500, then, with a deprecating shrug of her shoulders, retired from the competition. Hill and Smith kept at it until $20,000 was reached. Hill said $21,000, and Smith said "No more." There followed a hearty burst of applause for the Chicago man.

It was one of the most extraordinary prices of this extraordinary sale. The Anderson people say that their most generous estimate of what the book would bring was far exceeded. It was sold at Christie's in London in 1889 for $2,060 to Bernard Quaritch in the dispersal of Lord Revelstoke's library. Quaritch turned it over to Robert Hoe at a fair andvance, the exact amount being, so it was said yesterday, $3,000. "Helyas" is a translation from the French, and consists of seventy-four leaves with forty-three wood cuts. It has been traced back to the library of Edward Gwynne, book collector of the seventeenth century. It was printed by Wynkyn de Worde after he had moved from Westminster to London and opened a shop in Fleet Street, "at the Sygne of the Sonne." It is the first English version of the legend of Lohengrin, with romantic additions.

Mr. Hill was successful also in getting for $3,800 an "editio princeps" of "Homer," which the brothers Nerli published in Florence in 1488, and a large fine copy of Richard Hakluyt's "Principal Navigations, Voyages, Traffiques and Discoveries," London, 1599-1600, for $3,400.

The two sessions realized a total of $111,854, of which $69,867 was for the afternoon and $41,987 for the evening. The grand total to date is $462,130, which is in excess of what the auctioneers expected for the entire first part, of which eleven sessions yet remain. Monday's sale of the illuminated manuscripts, it is thought, will bring $250,000.

A record price, $4,250, was paid by G. S. Hellman for the original manuscript of Washington Irving's "Life of Oliver Goldsmith." It is said to be the longest-known manuscript of Irving in existence, with the possible exception of the one in J. Pierpont Morgan's library.

Hellman bought it for a gentleman who is credited with owning the finest collection of Irvingiana in America. Irving's biography of Oliver Goldsmith, with manuscript corrections in his autograph, and Irving's manuscript memorandum book, 90 leaves of notes for his "Life of George Washington," went to the same bidder, respectively, for $430 and $575.

George D. Smith by a bid of $2,800 obtained ninety-three pages in Irving's autograph of that part of the "Life of George Washington" covering the treason of Benedict Arnold. He also paid $3,000 for the manuscript copy used by Irving for the revised edition of his history of New York. Ernest Dressel Mott gave $1,550 for "The Sketch Book of Goeffrey Crayon," New York, 1854, with the author's manuscript revisions.

A first edition of John Keats's "Endymion," formerly owned by Haydon, the eminent English painter, accompanied by an interesting letter to Fanny Browne, went to Walter M. Hill for $1,000.—An editio princeps of Thomas à Kempis's "Imitation of Christ" brought $1,975, (Smith.)

One of the features of the day was a collection of twenty-five "Horae," or "Hours of the Virgin Mary," printed in Paris. Among them were:

French edition, 1525, by Geoffrey Tory, on vellum, $4,500, (Quaritch.)

Latin edition, 1541, by Oliver Mallard, $1,500, (Smith.)

French edition, 1512, by Simon Vostre, $900, (Smith.)

Latin edition, 1510, by Egidius Hardouyn, $525. (A. Hoe.)

French edition, 1513, by Gille Couteau, $725. (James F. Drake.)

Latin edition, 1543, by Simon Colinaeus, $700. (Smith.)

Latin edition, 1549, by Reginald Calderius and his son Claude, $700. (Smith.)

Ben Jonson's "Every Man Out of Humor," London, 1600, went for $1,750, (Smith,) his work about the entertainment of King James, London, 1604, $1,310, (same bidder;) his "Chloridia," London, 1630, $1,550, (same bidder,) and his "Workes," two volumes, London, 1616-1640, $3,750, (same bidder.)

Other works that sold for more than $500 were:

Nineteen original drawings by C. Delort, illustrating Anthony Hamilton's "Memoires de la Vie du Comte de Grammont," $775, (A. Hoe.)

Ralph Hamor's "True Discourse of the Present Estate of Virginia," London, 1615, $710, (Smith.)

Patrick Hannay's "The Nightingale," &c., London, 1622, binding by Cobden-Sanderson, $625, (Smith.)

The Grolier Club publication of Robert Copland's literal reprint of Wynkyn de Worde's "Helyas," $500 (Smith.)

"The Temple," by George Herbert, Cambridge, (1631,) only other undated copy recorded is in the Huth Library, $2,000, (Smith.) This same copy brought $1,050 in the Charles Foote sale in 1895.

Editio princeps of "Herodotus," Venice, 1502, $500, (Dodd & Livingston.)

Robert Herrick's "Hesperides," first edition, London, 1647, $755, (Smith.)

"The Spider and the Flie," by John Heywood, London, 1556, first edition, leaves unwashed and in fine condition, $950, (Smith.)

The second part of "If You Know Not Me You Know No Bodie," by Thomas Heywood, London, 1606, $500, (Yale University.)

Thomas Heywood's "Love's Maistresse, or the Queen's Masque," first edition, uncut, $790. (Smith.)

"Epistolae et Tractatus," large folio, printed on vellum by Peter Schoeffer at Mentz in 1470, $1,275.

Robert Hoe's "Lecture on Bookbinding as a Fine Art," delivered before the Grolier Club, Feb. 26, 1885, with sixty-three illustrations, $850, (A. Hoe.)

"The Library of Robert Hoe," by O. A. Bierstadt, printed on Japan paper, New York, 1895, $500, (Slade.)

Ralph Holinshed's "Chronicles of England, Scotlande, and Irelande," London, 1577, $560, (Smith.)

"Amanda, a Sacrifice to an Unknown Goddesse," by Nathaniel Hookes, first edition, London, 1653, $510, (Smith.)

"Horatius Opera," editio princeps, Venice, 1470, $675, (Smith.)

William Hubbard's "Narrative of the Troubles with the Indians in New England," Boston, 1677, $565, (Dodd & Livingston.)

"Mirages," by Sliman Ben Ibraham, Paris, 1906, $810, and "Rabia el Kouloub," edited by the same, $650, (Smith.)

First edition of "The Essays of a Prentise," by James I. of Great Britain, Edinburgh, 1584, $1,035, (Smith.)

Robert Johnson's "Nora Britannia," London, 1609, $500, (Smith,) and the same author's "New Life of Virginia," London, 1612, $875, (Dodd & Livingston.)

George D. Smith said last night that his purchases so far amount to $276,220. He was not certain whether this included the Gutenberg Bible. Daniel R. Kennedy was the auctioneer.

NEGROES ATTACK POLICEMAN

Almost a Race Riot in Seventh Avenue When Reserves Arrive.

What threatened to be a repetition of former race riots started in the colored neighborhood around Thirty-seventh Street and Seventh Avenue last night. A threatening crowd followed a policeman, who had arrested a negro. There were frequent clashes between the whites and the blacks and an attempt was made to rescue the prisoner. When the police reserves arrived the crowd was driven back with difficulty, but for some time afterwards there were intermittent fighting.

The trouble started over a small squabble. Patrolman John Persico saw a negro and a white man having a wordy duel at Forty-first Street and Seventh Avenue. He ordered them away. The negro started down Seventh Avenue, a crowd of men, mostly white, following. Going up to the negro to protect him, Persico said he found the negro carrying a revolver and made him a prisoner.

Other negroes rushed up and engaged in fistic encounters with white men. Loose stones and concrete were picked up and hurled.

Persico blew his whistle for assistance, and this brought a large crowd toward him. As more negroes ran to the scene the whites were outnumbered, and the negroes turned on the policeman, who drew his revolver and threatened to shoot if he were attacked again.

All the available reserves from the West Thirty-seventh Street Station came up with clubs drawn and dispersed the crowd.

CROSS-EXAMINES HIS JUDGE.

Lawyer Stoddard Calls McAvoy in His Own Habeas Corpus Case.

Charles H. Stoddard, a lawyer, who was sentenced to five days in the Tombs and fined $250 for criminal contempt by City Court Judge McAvoy, argued for his release on a writ of habeas corpus for more than three hours yesterday afternoon before Supreme Court Justice Blanchard.

Stoddard denied Judge McAvoy's statement in the commitment that he had refused to be sworn, and denied that he might be committed for criminal contempt for contumacious conduct in a supplementary proceedings.

Judge McAvoy was called to testify and Stoddard submitted him to a severe cross-examination. The he shouted:

"What you say is true, is it? And everything you say is true, is it? And you are willing to have all your testimony stand or fall by any one statement of it, are you?"

Judge McAvoy said that he was. Then Stoddard insisted that Under Sheriff Cartwright be brought to court. He declared that Judge McAvoy had erred in stating that he believed he had ordered the writ for Stoddard's commitment transmitted through the Under Sheriff.

HONORS FOR GEN. WILSON.

Washington Irving Pupils Transcribe, Decorate, and Bind His Speech.

Gen. James Grant Wilson held a seventy-ninth birthday celebration at the Washington Irving High School, West Twelfth Street, yesterday afternoon, and the girls had a birthday cake which they themselves had baked for him. The girls had one, instead, of seventy-nine candles on the cake, for they said that was for the most important year, the one in which the General was born.

Gen. Wilson, who is an old friend of the school, had come to talk to the girls of his personal reminiscenes of Washington Irving.

The Washington Irving girls took down Gen. Wilson's speech in shorthand, and it was written out on the typewriter. In the meantime the girls of the art class had decorated a cover for it, and finally the girls of the bookbinding class took and bound it. It was presented to the General before he left.

VASSAR IS 50 YEARS OLD.

Students Observe the Anniversary with a Pageant.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 28.—The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Vassar College was uniquely celebrated to-day. The thousand girls of the college assembled on the steps of Rockefeller Hall this morning and sang the college song of fifty years ago, after which President Taylor made an address of welcome.

The principal event of to-day's programme was a grand pageant on "Sunset Hill." It represented "Women of Culture in Five Ages." Scenes enacted at the founding of the college were reproduced. The procession of participants, headed by "Sappho and her Greek maidens" marched from the campus to the hill, where fancy dances in costume were given by the students. An immense crowd witnessed the novel exercises.

The evening addresses by members of the Alumnae Association and President Taylor were made in the chapel. Tomorrow there will be athletic games in the morning, a reception for the Alumnae, Faculty, and Trustees in the afternoon, and a concert in the evening.

$150,000 ROCKEFELLER GIFT.

American Baptist Missionary Union Gets Annual Check from Him.

BOSTON, April 28.—Charles W. Perkins of this city, Treasurer of the American Baptist Missionary Union, has received a check for $150,000 from John D. Rockefeller as his annual gift to the organization.

Mr. Rockefeller bases the amount of his yearly check on the needs of the union, as shown by a report especially prepared for him.

GRISCOM RESIGNS AS COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Ill-Health Sole Cause, He and His Friends Say—Barnes Knows of No Other.

FOLLOWS TAFT'S VISIT HERE

Parsons, Hammond, and Bannard Refuse the Place, Which May Go to Ex-Secretary of State Koenig.

Lloyd C. Griscom, who has been President of the Republican County Committee for a little more than a year, resigned yesterday. He gave as the reason for his retirement the fact that his health is such that he has found he cannot attend to both his political duties and his law practice. His friends declared unanimously last night that this was the sole reason for Mr. Griscom's resignation.

Although Old Guard members of the local organization were declaring last night that it was a victory for them and their leader, William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, who was recently elected Chairman of the State Committee, Mr. Barnes himself gave out at Albany last night this statement:

"Mr. Griscom's given reason for retirement is the only one of which I have any knowledge. The matter was not discussed by me with President Taft. I do not consider that the question of who should or who should not be the Chairman of a local committee is his function or mine, but one entirely in the hands of the men who have been chosen by the enrolled electors to make the selection."

When Ezra P. Prentice was forced out of the Chairmanship of the State Committee after the Stimson defeat the progressive leaders declared openly that they wished to see the party come together and were ready to fall in line behind Barnes. Mr. Griscom remained President of the County Committee. At about this time, the middle of January, a delegation from both factions of the local organization journeyed to Washington to talk the matter over with President Taft. When they returned THE TIMES was informed by one of the leading Old Guard members that Mr. Griscom's resignation would be soon forthcoming.

When President Taft was in town on Wednesday Mr. Barnes and Mr. Griscom waited upon him and were with him for some time. Mr. Griscom was made President of the County Committee largely on the President's recommendation, and it was felt that his suggestion would have the greatest weight with Mr. Griscom.

Whether or not the President advised Mr. Griscom to retire could not be learned. Every one in the local organization, both Old Guard members and progressives, conceded, however, that the move was in the interests of harmony.

Mr. Griscom's letter of resignation was sent to Collin H. Woodward, Vice President of the County Committee. It read:

> My Dear Collin: After an illness lasting between five and six weeks I have been informed by my doctor that I must give up the exhaustive duties of the President of the County Committee. Under the circumstances I am obliged to present you herewith my resignation as President of the County Committee.
>
> I desire hereby to express to the members of the committee my highest appreciation of their unbroken loyalty and support during my incumbency of the office. I accepted the office when it was originally tendered me in the belief that a share of the public service is due the State from every citizen, and that the most effective work can be done through the regular party organization. Now that I have held high public office I am more than ever confirmed in my belief, although deeply regretting that my own service has been so slight that I am forced by physical disability to leave my task unfinished. Very sincerely yours,
> LLOYD C. GRISCOM.

Immediately on receipt of the letter late yesterday afternoon Mr. Woodward hastily called a meeting of the Executive Committee of the County Committee. Twelve of the thirty-six members responded. They immediately took up the matter of Mr. Griscom's successor. It was at first decided to ask Mr. Parsons to come back to the leadership of the County Committee. He was communicated with and refused absolutely even to consider the proposition. John Henry Hammond and Otto T. Bannard were then got on the telephone, but they likewise declined. The name of Ogden L. Mills, who was recently made Treasurer of the County Committee, was considered, as was that of Samuel S. Koenig.

When the meeting adjourned it was conceded by the majority of the members that Mr. Koenig would probably be named. The whole Executive Committee will meet a week from Monday to decide the matter.

Mr. Koenig is a lawyer and the leader of the Sixth Assembly District. He was Secretary of State under the last Republican administration. He would be acceptable to both factions in the organization. While he stood with the Roosevelt men at Saratoga, he is a strict organization man and was at that time considered the most "regular" of any of the insurgent forces.

The election of Mr. Griscom to the Presidency of the County Committee was much of a surprise even to many of its members. It astonished a large wing of the rank and file of the party. Many of them truly did not know who he was. He had not been in New York for years and only recently returned to the country from long diplomatic service abroad. He was absolutely unfamiliar with local political conditions and was an absolute stranger to all but a few of the leaders. Mr. Parsons has been constantly on hand as his adviser.

Mr. Griscom is a native of Philadelphia. He began his diplomatic career as Chargé d'Affaires at Constantinople and was afterward Minister to Persia, Brazil, Japan, and Italy. Soon after coming to New York he joined the law firm of Philbin, Beekman & Menken.

TO READERS LEAVING THE CITY

Owing to the largely increased circulation of The New York Times and the fact that it has reached the limit of press facilities in its present building, newsdealers outside the City of New York are compelled to limit their supplies of The New York Times to the actual daily sale, as the privilege has been discontinued of returning a limited number of unsold copies.

Readers leaving the City should place order with newsdealer or telephone 1000 Bryant if they wish to be assured of not missing a copy. Daily and Sunday editions 75 cents per month.
